Tribe Takes 2-Run Lead in First Inning When Morgan Slams Homer.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.
Staff Correspondent of The Post.

Cleveland, July 17.—Roger Peckinpaugh's Indians made it two out of three over the Nationals this afternoon, taking the decision, 4 to 3, after the Johnsons had come from behind and forged into a momentary lead in the sixth round. At this stage of the game, however, the usually reliable Sam Rice made an error and the run which resulted proved to be the one which decided the contest.

Combined with the Athletics' victory over the White Sox, today's defeat of the Nats widened the margin separating them from first place to three and a half games.

"Sad Sam" Jones and Willis Hudlin were the flingers and they staged a fairly even battle, although the Indians had an edge in extra-base blows. Two of these, one a homer over the center-field fence by Ed Morgan, gave the Tribe its two markers in the first, while it was on a second double by Dick Porter that Rice made his error—a return throw to nobody, which landed in the middle of the diamond and which let one man score and another go from second to third. But for this the two teams might have been battling yet.

Shires Leads Nats at Bat.

Only seven hits were made from Hudlin's slants, with Roy Spencer and Art Shires, the "great one" having replaced Capt. Joe Judge due to the latter's slump, getting two each. A two-bagger by Shires was the Nats' only extra base hit of the game. Jones granted eight hits, with Porter and Morgan getting two apiece.

While two errors were charged to the Nationals, they also contributed some good plays, three twin-murders coming in most handy and helping Jones out of occasional holes.

Jones started poorly and Porter's double and Morgan's homer over the wall in center gave the Tribe a two-run lead in the first inning. The Nationals kept plugging away, however, getting one run back in the second, when Bluege walked and Spencer and Jones singled, all with two out, and finally taking the lead temporarily in the sixth.

Previous to this latter round, the Nats had blown one opportunity, when a walk and Shires' double had netted nothing in the third. One was dead when Shires singled in round six. West's one-baser and Bluege's tap on which West was forced midway enabled the Nats to tie the score and then Bluege stole second and Spencer singled him home to make the Johnsons 1 up.

This lead stood up no longer than it took for the Indians to come in from the field, however, for Jamieson led off the lower half with a single and scored on Rice's weird return

Calvin Coolidge

Says: It is human nature to blame some one else for our misfortunes. When the people are prosperous we hear little criticism of the President. Support for him comes from all sides when the country has little need of it. But if prosperity diminishes thoughtless voices will be raised against him and his support will diminish when the country has most need of it. This is not only usually an unfair but always a short sighted and thoroughly suicidal policy. Under a parliamentary system the Government could be changed. Ours is in for four years. Confidence in the President is almost identical with confidence in the country and in ourselves. With public support he can do a great deal to save any situation. Moreover, if he can not save it probably no one else can. It may be proper for the opposition party in the press and the Congress generally to oppose, but in the country at large all responsible people should seek to cooperate with the President in the discharge of his duties. He is the Chief Executive of all the Nation. In time of conflict people are urged to support the President to win the war; at other times the same principle may require that he be supported to win the peace.

EARL CARROLL HELD FOR NEW YORK TRIAL

Savo, Fan Dancer and Show Girl Meet Same Fate in "Vanities" Case.

SIX FROM CHORUS FREED

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—Earl Carroll and a comedian and two chorus girls in his latest "Vanities" were held today for trial on police charges that two scenes in the musical show were indecent and obscene. Six chorus girls who had been co-defendants of those held at the hearing in magistrate's court were discharged.

The only witness to testify before Magistrate Maurice Gotleib was Acting Police Capt. James Coy, a former circus supernumerary who acts as treatrical critic for the police department. He told of one scene in which Faith Bacon danced with no covering but two ostrich feather fans and another in which Jimmy Savo changed some of the clothing on Miss Kay Carroll, who is not a relative of the producer. Miss Carroll, Savo and Miss Bacon are the other three held with Carroll.

Bail of $500 each was immediately furnished and the defendants were freed pending trial, date for which has not yet been set.

Carroll is no stranger to courts and trials. Several years ago he spent four days in Tombs Prison waiting disposition of a charge of displaying lewd pictures of actresses in his theater lobby. The charge was dismissed. Later he was tried in connection with the "bathtub party" in his theater at which a chorus girl was alleged to have sat undraped in a bathtub of wine. He was acquitted at that trial, but was sent to Atlanta for perjury committed before the grand jury that questioned him prior to trial.

Woman Freed From Jail Remanded to Baltimore

Miss Irene Wiley, 30 years old, who has been detained in the District Jail since last January as a Government witness, yesterday was turned over to Baltimore authorities, who want her on a bad check charge.

The woman was arrested with William A. Lodge, 52 years old, who was recently sentenced to two years in the penitentiary in a check case. She was a witness for the Government in the Lodge case. It is said she is wanted in Baltimore for passing worthless checks on two hotels there.

PACT FOES CONTINUE FREE DEBATE FIGHT

Watson Threatens Cloture Rule to Hasten Vote on Naval Treaty.

NIGHT SESSIONS LOOM

(Associated Press.)

Exasperated by the refusal of the London treaty opponents to agree to limit debate beginning next week, Senate leaders decided yesterday to try to exhaust discussions by night sessions and as a final resort to employ the cloture rule shutting off talk.

Senator Johnson (Republican), California, leader of the opposition, rejected a proposal to limit debate beginning next Tuesday and called for a fight "without quarter."

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, who sought the agreement, answered by drawing from his pocket a petition to invoke the cloture rule. It was quickly signed by twice as many as the necessary 16 names.

It was withheld last night, however, as leaders sought either to exhaust debate or to reach an agreement. Another attempt will be made today looking to limitation of debate.

Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, gave notice at adjournment that he would move to keep the Senate in session tonight if the agreement was not forthcoming. An earlier plan to hold a session last night was abandoned after a series of conferences.

Meanwhile, Senator Johnson and Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, carried on the opposition debate yesterday, consuming the six hours. It was the second successive day Senator McKellar has spoken for three hours at a stretch.

The treaty foes also stacked up a total of seven reservations to be voted upon before balloting on the resolution on ratification.

Sure of a wide margin of votes for the treaty, the advocates plainly showed their irritation at the steady flow of words from the small but spirited band of foes. However, there was some doubt whether there were enough votes to adopt the cloture rule, which requires a two-thirds majority.

Many of the treaty proponents are opposed in principle to the cloture rule which restricts debate to one hour for each member.

IMMUNITY PLEA BLOCKS SENATE REALTY INQUIRY

Shapiro, as Witness, Will Not Sign Waiver of Legal Rights.

Hidden Mortgages on Property, Is Story They Tell.

NO DATE APPOINTED AS QUIZ RECESSES

B. F. Saul Official Asserts Firm Was Imposed On by Liens.

The real estate investigation by the Blaine subcommittee of the Senate District committee took a dramatic turn yesterday when Jacob B. Shapiro, president of the Joseph Shapiro Co., Inc., refused to waive immunity from prosecution in the courts.

A short time before this, eight witnesses had testified that houses which they purchased from the Shapiro firm were laden with hidden mortgages, of which they knew nothing.

Howard M. Carter, of 420 Marietta place northwest, told the senators that, as a result of the discovery of a third mortgage, his house had been sold at auction through the B. F. Saul Co., a mortgage firm, and that he had been ordered to vacate. But now, he said, it seems that a settlement is about to be made.

Cites Hidden Mortgages.

Oscar H. Brinkman, local attorney, who is the special investigator of the subcommittee, declared that between 1,000 and 1,500 houses have been sold here which were laden with hidden mortgages.

When Mr. Shapiro, short and dapper and surprisingly young looking for one who has carried out such large building enterprises, was called as a witness, Senator John J. Blaine (Republican), of Wisconsin, asked him if he would sign a waiver of immunity.

The Wisconsin senator explained that the subcommittee desired that he do this in case some other governmental agency wanted to use his testimony against him later. If he did not sign, the senator further explained, he could not be prosecuted for any testimony he might give, although he might be prosecuted on a charge of perjury.

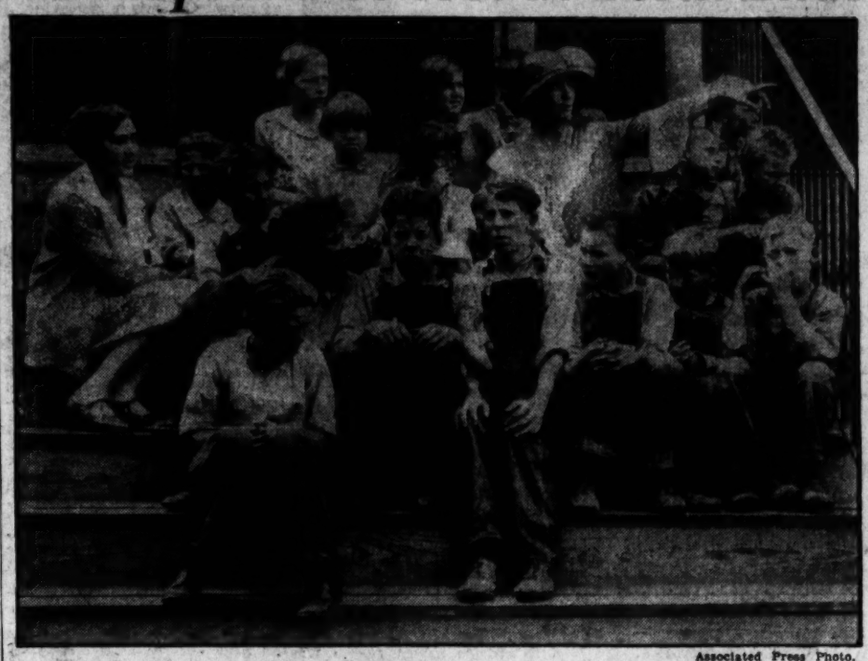

Mr. Shapiro went into a huddle with Alvin L. Newmeyer, his attorney, and then, turning to face the senators, said:

"On advice of my attorney, I decline to sign."

Senator Blaine then excused him.

WOMAN DETECTIVE BEATEN TO DEATH

Noted Thief-Taker Is Struck From Behind in Home With Blackjack.

POLICE SEEKING NEPHEW

Saugus, Mass., July 17 (A.P.).—Mrs. E. Edith (Thompson) Wight, who for 25 years had sought thieves in Boston department stores, was found beaten to death in the sun parlor of her home here today. A blackjack left on a table near the body gave police their only clew to the slayer.

A search was started tonight for Bernard Thompson, 22-year-old nephew of the woman. Police said that he was the last person seen with her, and that the two entered the house Tuesday. Thompson, a railroad worker, was carrying a suitcase.

Mrs. Wight received a divorce in Bridgeport, Conn., in 1904, and her husband is now living in New York. She resumed her maiden name of Edith Thompson and was known to hundreds of department store clerks in Boston. She had been employed recently by a chain store.

Dr. George Burgess Magrath, of Boston, an expert on violent deaths, said the woman had been struck twice on the head from behind with the blackjack. He said she had no opportunity to grapple with her assailant.

The police said that Bernard Thompson and his brother, Clayton, had lived with the woman for many years, but had moved out a week ago. Clayton took a room in Saugus and Commencement Will Be Held Today in Building Given by President.

(Associated Press.)

High up in the Virginia mountains Mrs. Herbert Hoover yesterday bade farewell for a season to the youngsters who have been acquiring their three R's at a school given them by the President and the First Lady.

Commencement exercises at the one-room schoolhouse on a hill above the Hoover Camp on the Rapidan will take place today, but Mrs. Hoover chose yesterday for an informal gathering with the mountain pupils.

She inspected their work and sitting on the steps of the little building with the youngsters grouped about her, she enjoyed a chat on the local topography, identifying the names of mountains on the horizon and discussing the activities with which the boys and girls will fill their summer days.

Some time this fall Miss Christine Vest, the Kentucky teacher whom the Hoovers obtained, again will open the schoolhouse for a little group which, but for the President's interest, might never had learned to read and write.

Robberies at Laundries Held Solved by Arrests

With identification of two colored men by their victims yesterday, Montgomery County police think they have solved robberies of several Chinese laundries in the last ten days. The men, James A. Wright, 28 years old, of Riggs street near Thirteenth street, and Charles R. Harrison, 22 years old, of Hollings court near Fourth street northwest, were arrested Monday.

They have allegedly confessed to robbing two of the Chinese, one of whom was stabbed in the hand and face during the holdup. The total sum they got was $145. The alleged bandits were arrested by Sergt. Earl Burdine, of the Montgomery County force, shortly after they are said to have assaulted and robbed Charlie Get, of Takoma Park, Md.

BUSINESS LEADERS SAY CRISIS IS OVER

Automobile Chamber Chiefs Voice Enthusiasm Over Outlook for Trade.

RADIO LEADER HOPEFUL

New York, July 17 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—A striking unanimity of opinion that the crisis has been passed in business depression and that the latter half of the year will see an acceleration of activity was expressed today by spokesmen for several of the Nation's largest industries, speaking independently in different parts of the country.

Members of the board of directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, in session today in South Bend, Ind., expressed enthusiasm over the business outlook for the next six months.

Alfred Reeves, general manager of the chamber, declared the depression appears to have reached its limit, and said he based this statement on reports of leading economists of the country. This fact, he said, with low inventories, easy money and reduced production during the first six months of the year, has produced a healthy condition in the automotive industry. The cooperation of dealers and manufacturers in carrying out a plan to junk old cars promises to add an additional market for the industry, he asserted.

In this city, speaking before he sailed for Europe, David Sarnoff, president of Radio Corporation of America, gave word that his company's surplus inventory has been disposed of and production is being speeded.

"Earnings for the first six months will not offer much encouragement. That is all passed now and it is confidently hoped that operations for the last half of the year will prove much more satisfactory. Our plant at Camden is again in operation at Caps City and, with the introduction of the season's new model machines, we look to a steady increase in demand," he said.

CAPTIVE WAIVES EXTRADITION IN BAKER MURDER

Holds Calm at Hearing; Another Arrest Near, Is Indication.

CAPITAL AND VIRGINIA OFFICERS IN CANADA

Arrive in Montreal and at Once Lay Plans to Come Back.

SUSPECT TO BE KEPT IN ARLINGTON COUNTY

Special Grand Jury Call to Be Issued Immediately, Gloth Declares.

Herman H. Barrere, the latest suspect in the Mary Baker murder mystery, probably will be lodged in the Arlington County Jail tonight following his return from Montreal, from which city he was to start back to Washington early today.

Appearing before Justice Dennis in the Montreal Superior Court yesterday afternoon, prior to the arrival of Washington and Virginia authorities, Barrere waived extradition and declared his willingness to return to Arlington County for trial.

Throughout the hearing and during his stay in jail he stoutly maintained his innocence of the crime. He was unperturbed, according to a special dispatch to The Post, and laughed and joked with police and court officials.

Officers Read Montreal

William Gloth, [illegible] prosecutor; Edward Kelly, chief of the Washington homicide squad; Sam Hardy, Department of Justice agent, and a group of Washington newspaper men reached Montreal early last night and made immediate arrangements for the return trip. The party is expected back in Washington early tonight.

Meanwhile, reports came from the authorities in Canada that another arrest will likely be made in the Baker case either before or immediately after Barrere is brought back to the Capital. This action is expected to depend upon what is learned from the itinerant painter.

Montreal police were reported as finding Barrere less talkative yesterday than he was Wednesday night following his arrest. He was cheerful enough, however, and could be heard whistling to himself in his cell. He wore a gray jacket and gray knickers, and his young woman companion, whom he picked up in Philadelphia, was similarly dressed.

Claims Girl as Wife.

While Barrere told police the girl was his wife, she asserted that she had met him in Philadelphia only two days before their arrest. He had proposed a trip together and she had consented.

The couple had been in Montreal only a little over 24 hours when they called at police headquarters to complain of a theft of $50. He said that he had given the money to a man in what he thought was a sporting establishment, but that the recipient of the money disappeared.

A special grand jury will be summoned in Arlington County upon the return of the prisoner, Mr. Gloth told newspaper men yesterday. The trial will probably follow in short order unless the suspicion against Barrere is directed elsewhere by a grilling of the suspect.

While the wife of the painter, who lives at Hume Springs, Va., said she would not determine what steps to take in defending her husband until after she had consulted his brother,

Star Gazing 'Investor' Held Guilty of Thefts

Woman Reputed to Have Obtained Tips From Milky Way Faces 160-Year Term for Swindling Nurses Out of $5,700.

A jury of seven women and five men in Criminal Division No. 1 yesterday found Miss Elzina Howells, 48, guilty on all 16 counts of an indictment charging the embezzlement of $5,700 from two nurses who had given her the money to invest. Justice Jesse C. Adkins withheld sentence pending a motion for a new trial. The verdict exposes Miss Howells to a possible aggregate sentence of 160 years in jail, the maximum penalty on each count being 10 years' imprisonment.

Taking the stand in her own defense, the defendant admitted receiving the money from Miss Irene Biggs and Miss Lillian Girard, nurses, but denied that she had promised to invest the funds. A promissory note given the nurses, she claimed, proved that the sum had been advanced as a loan.

She also admitted sending the nurses on a European trip with a check for $1,600, written at a time when she had only $18.20 in her checking account. She explained that arrangements made to cover the overdraft had fallen through.

Under cross-examination by counsel for the Government she admitted having served 14 months' imprisonment at Auburn, N. Y., in 1916, for larceny.

Prosecution witnesses testified that Miss Howells had urged them to finance her stock market activities on the claim that she received tips "from the stars."

In closing arguments, Assistant United States Attorneys William A. Gallagher and Charles B. Murray accused the defendant of deliberately attempting to maroon the nurses in Europe in order to escape prosecution.

Miss Howells was defended by Attorney Paul J. Sedgwick, of Washington, and Donald W. Smith, of the North Carolina bar.

Poisoned Man Treated By Fire Rescue Squad

Vernon Bennett, 33 years old, of G street near Ninth street southwest, yesterday attempted suicide by drinking poison, according to police of the Fourth Precinct.

The man was given first-aid treatment by the Fire Rescue Squad at his home, where the act took place. He was later removed to Casualty Hospital for further treatment, but was then allowed to return home. Police said the man gave no reason for his attempt.

Commons Seethes as Labor Member Flees With Mace

London, July 17 (A.P.).—A member of Parliament at today's session of the House of Commons ran off with the mace, almost sacred symbol of parliamentary authority, that rests on a table below the speaker's chair. The incident created a scene without precedent in the history of the mother of Parliaments since Cromwell declaimed: "Take away that bauble," and the mace was removed.

The miscreant was John Beckett, Laborite. His action, which he accompanied with the words, "it's a damned disgrace," was in protest against suspension of a colleague, Fenner Brockway, by almost unanimous vote on motion of Premier MacDonald.

Brave Child Housekeeper To Be Relieved From Task

Cleveland Parents Freed by Gallinger After Legation Row.

Stella Ochendoski, 13 years old, who has been bravely keeping house for her two younger brothers this week in Cleveland, Ohio, will be relieved of her duties today when her parents, John and Maggie Ochendoski, who have been held at Gallinger Hospital for the last several days, return home.

The parents made a futile and somewhat disastrous attempt to induce officials of the Polish Legation to assist them in a law suit and to give them financial aid Tuesday afternoon and were as a consequence taken to the hospital for mental observation following an encounter with Washington police.

They left Stella in charge of their house at 6527 Fullerton avenue with the two other children, Raymond, 6 her own brother, Edward L. Shelton, a policeman at the Second Precinct Station, told The Post that no lawyers would be employed by the family. He said he was thoroughly disgusted with his brother-in-law's actions.

Barrere's arrest in Montreal, while brought about by his own eagerness to report his loss of $50, probably would have been effected only a little while later by a Department of Justice agent, A. E. Farland, who was close on the fugitive's trail. Farland had been in Montreal several days investigating a report that Barrere was headed for the international boundary.

Several hours prior to the painter's call at the Montreal police headquarters, the Department of Justice agent had shown Capt. Gorman, of the Montreal detective force, a circular containing Barrere's picture, description, and a resume of his alleged crime. With this description fresh in his mind, Capt. Gorman recognized the fugitive almost immediately upon his entry into the station.

Wife Claims Alibi.

grilling, the Montreal authorities checked his signature and his tattoo marks, as pointed out in the circular, and finally obtained his admission that he was the man sought.

While Barrere has been woven into the Baker case by a strong chain of circumstantial evidence during the last few weeks, his wife and a friend claim to be able to establish a stanch alibi for him to show that he could not have been with Mary Baker at the time she is believed to have been attacked and slain.

One of the bits of evidence upon which authorities are basing much of their asumption that Barrere is the guilty man is that he had access to the fatal gun which belonged to Herbert M. Campbell, Arlington County real estate man, for whom the painter did some work.

Arrest Held "Frameup" By Wife of Prisoner

The arrest of Herman H. Barrere in Montreal, Canada, for the murder of Mary Baker looks like "a frameup" to his wife, who lives at Hume Spring, Va., she declared yesterday, upon being informed of her husband's capture.

Declaring that Barrere's admitted petty thefts were no proof of his connection with the Baker case, Mrs. Barrere said: "My husband does not resemble in the slightest the description of the man seen attacking the girl at Seventeenth and B streets. He had no gray suit at the time and never wore a cap. He is far from being stout."

"I don't believe he knew Miss Baker," she added, "and I can truthfully say that I never saw him with a gun in my life. I shall probably communicate with his brother, Leon, before determining what steps to take to protect him."

Plane Taking Body Of Graham West

Comrades Pilot Flag-Wrapped Flier Who Crashe in January Snow.

Cedar City, Utah, July 17 (A.P.).—Aboard a giant trimotored plane, piloted by men with whom he had flown the Los Angeles-Salt Lake air mail for two years, the body of Maurice Graham was taken West tonight to Los Angeles on its last flight. Wrapped in the flag he had served in the Army Air Service in France, the pilot's body was brought late today from the spot in the Kanarra Mountains, 17 miles south of here, where death overtook him six months ago after his plane had crashed in a blizzard.

The body was found yesterday by Maj. Richard McDonald, flying companion of Graham in the war, and five other men. McDonald brought the news here last night. Wrapped in the flag, the body was carried on horseback for 5 miles over rugged mountain country, then was placed in an automobile and brought here.

The funeral flight is the final scene in the tragedy which opened when Graham, battling a raging blizzard in the Kanarra Mountains, crashed on January 11. Death was believed to have been caused by exposure in the intense cold after the crash. Fully clothed, his body was found along a creek 6 miles from his plane.

Labor Post Urged For Baltimorean

Social Worker of That City Put Before Hoover by Mayor Broening.

(Associated Press.)

Mayor Broening, of Baltimore, yesterday urged President Hoover to appoint Maurice Bisgyer, Baltimore social worker as Assistant Secretary of Labor, should there be any vacancy in that department in the near future.

Broening said the President indicated no appointments would be made in the Labor Department until after the November elections. This statement caused considerable interest in connection with the retirement of Secretary Davis for which no date has been set, although the Cabinet member is the Republican nominee for Senate in Pennsylvania.

Newspaper men understood the mayor and the delegation with him had urged Bisgyer as a successor to Davis, but it developed this was incorrect. The mayor was accompanied by State Senator Harry O. Levin and Joseph A. Halprin, of Baltimore, and Rabbi Louis J. Scheefel and Isaac Cans, of the District of Columbia.

Three Men Seized In Long Rum Chase

Had Convoy Car to Guard Auto Carrying Liquor, Is Accusation.

Three men, captured after a lengthy chase Wednesday night, were held for grand jury action yesterday on charges of possessing and transporting seventeen cases of liquor. Testimony given at a hearing before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage, indicated that only one of the three was riding in the car containing the liquor, the other two following in a "convoy" car, but the commissioner held all three under bond of $1,500 each.

The men gave their names as Thomas B. Quaintrille, of N street, near North Capitol; Irving Rosenberg, of Kenyon street, near Sixth, and Alfred Cloud, of Warder street, near Irving.

Officers T. O. Montgomery and R. T. Joiner told of chasing them nearly 30 miles, sometimes across ditches and fields. The two cars were first sighted on the Crain highway, near the Bladensburg road, the officers said.

LABOR MAN CHARGES FAVORITISM TO REDS

Woll Tells Congressional Committee Enemies of Soviet Barred.

SABOTAGE IS DESCRIBED

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, charged today that the United States has favored agents of Soviet Russia.

Testifying before the congressional committee investigating communist activities, Mr. Woll said the Government had permitted Red emissaries and sympathizers to enter the United States, whereas avowed enemies of communism had been barred in some instances. He said he "supposed" the alleged favoritism was "under the guise of bettering trade relations."

Representative Carl Bachman, of West Virginia, brought the name of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, commercial representative of the Soviet Government, into the discussion.

Believes Amtorg Agents Favored.

"Do you think officials of the United States Government have favored the Amtorg agents against the white Russians?" Mr. Bachman asked. Mr. Woll replied that he did.

Expressing belief that Russian trade representatives here participated in communist propaganda, he said Soviet activities had become "more subtle and dangerous."

The American Federation of Labor, he said, had successfully coped with communism within its ranks, but was kept constantly alert by Soviet activities, which had become "more subtle and dangerous."

The Government, he suggested, should set up an agency to deal with all revolutionary activities, particularly those in the schools and among Negroes.

Inspector Describes Sabotage.

The committee heard Police Inspector John A. Lyons, of the New York Radical Bureau, describe strikes led by communists. He told of slayings and injuries to workmen and of sabotage he attributed to radicals.

William van Valkenbergh, detective, assigned to communist investigation, disclosed that both membership and activities of the communist party have increased since 1920. Justice Mitchell May, of the New York Supreme Court, discussed a decision of his in which he held an employer had a right to refuse to employ a communist.

Admitted to the United States.

"The Communists," Mr. Woll said, "are just as truly at war with the United States as if they wore allen uniforms and carried arms." He added that the Soviet government aimed to destroy all other governments and form them into a federation of nations to be ruled from Moscow.

Inroads Among Races.

Mr. Woll read a report from the Chicago office which said Communists were making great inroads among the Negroes. Interracial dances were given, and white girls could be seen dancing with Negroes, Japanese, Chinese and Mexicans, he said.

Asked by Representative Hall, of Mississippi, if he would favor a secret police force in the Justice Department, Mr. Woll said he would have to know what was meant by such an agency before he would commit himself. He said the Government's experience with espionage agencies in the past had not been satisfactory.

The committee plans to investigate a Communist camp at Wingdale, N. Y., and hear representatives of the Amtorg Trading Co. Tuesday. It will leave late Thursday for Detroit to hold hearings there.

When the roll was called, 62 senators answered to their names, two entering the chamber after the roll call.

Senator Johnson (Republican), California, blocked an effort to fix a time to vote on the London Naval Treaty.

Senator Watson (Republican), Indiana, circulated a petition seeking a cloture rule to cut short the debate on the treaty. More than 30 senators signed. It will automatically be voted on tomorrow.

Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, introduced a resolution calling upon the State Department to use its influence in the dispute between India and the British government.

NORRIS TO CONDUCT INDEPENDENT RACE

ADDRESSES TO BE GIVEN

Lincoln, Nebr., July 17 (A.P.).—Two Nebraskans named George W. Norris, one of them the senator from this State, are entitled to places on the Republican primary ballot for United States senator, Secretary of State Frank Marsh ruled today. Protest had been made by friends of Senator Norris against listing his competitor.

Mr. Marsh said the certified list of candidates which he sends to county clerks will carry the postoffice address of each candidate so that voters can distinguish between them.

The competing George W. Norris is a Broken Bow grocer who entered the race against Senator Norris, of McCook. Followers of the senator said the filing of the Broken Bow Norris was made too late.

Filing Held Good.

Mr. Marsh ruled that the filing was in the mails before the time limit expired and was good.

Attorney General C. A. Sorensen, a close friend of the senior senator, had announced that regardless of the decision Senator Norris would withdraw from the Republican race and campaign for reelection as an Independent to avoid confusion.

(Associated Press.)

Friends of Senator Norris, of Nebraska, believe he will run as an independent in the forthcoming election. However, Senator Norris is withholding any statement pending official notification of the decision by the Nebraska secretary of State, who has ruled that a second George W. Norris, a grocery clerk of Broken Bow, may enter his name as a candidate to the Republican senatorial nomination.

Senator Hears Decision.

While he had been informed of the decision to allow the two names George W. Norris to go on the ballot with the address of each, the senator indicated he did not think any authority existed for placing the addresses of candidates on the ballots.

"Of course," said Mr. Norris, "it would be a farce to have a primary with the ballot carrying two separate and identical names."

Considerable interest attaches here in the Norris race.

The Nebraskan campaigned in the 1928 election for the Democratic presidential nominee, Alfred E. Smith.

Wisconsin Avenue Plan Postponed by City Heads

Request that Maryland authorities charged with development of contiguous Maryland be given more time in which to study the Maryland approach to the District at Wisconsin avenue was granted yesterday when the District Commissioners postponed action on a proposed change in the District highway plan for Wisconsin avenue at the District line.

The Maryland authorities, in a letter to the Commissioners, pointed out that many citizens associations and civic organizations of Montgomery County have evidenced keen interest in the development of Wisconsin avenue at the District line. There has been a strong advocacy for developing a circle at the boundary into which various streets and roadway would lead.

HOOVER'S TRIP SEEN AS BLOW TO WALSH

Montana Senator in Hardest Fight of Any Democrat Up for Reelection.

STATE WILL BE TOURED

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Senate Progressives are running through their political manuals rather apprehensively in an effort to appraise the worth to Senator Walsh's Republican opponent of President Hoover's intended trip to Montana next month or early in September.

Definite announcement of the President's plans has sort of swatted them right in the face, so to speak. The trip had been talked about for some time, but its possible full import has just now become apparent with the realization of the stiff fight which Senator Walsh faces.

With the nomination Tuesday by the Montana Republicans of Justice Alfred L. Galen, of the State Supreme Court, it looks, indeed, as though Walsh faces the strongest fight of any of the Democrats and Progressives who are up for reelection. It is becoming apparent, too, that no stone is to be left unturned in the effort to defeat him.

Labor Rallies Ranks.

Walsh naturally has made some powerful enemies in his crusading career and gossip around the Capitol is that they are to augment the Republican fight as much as possible. Organized labor, at least, professes to see a dark cloud menacing their senator and are already rallying their forces for a finish fight.

Walsh's defeat would give a sharp sting to the Democratic-Progressive ranks, which would hardly be offset by the gains which they very reasonably expect to make. By the same token, the Republicans would get considerable kick out of it.

It is in such an intense atmosphere that the President intends to take a vacation in Montana. He has repeatedly disclaimed political motives and none but the most cynical attribute any to him. The man must have a vacation somewhere and Glacier National Park is a most attractive place.

But it would seem that unwittingly the President has selected the one State where his presence might do the most good.

The park trip originated with the National Park Service and the cynical progressives are beginning to wonder if those who conceived the idea must not know about more than parks.

Will Visit Cities.

Mr. Hoover's plans will carry him through virtually every city in the State. On the way out he will embrace the northern rim and then coming back he will take in the remainder of the cities. At no time will he make a political utterance or do anything for which he can be criticized.

But it is a safe bet that wherever he goes Justice Galen will be with him. When he comes out on the rear platform at the station stops, Justice Galen, unless he is wholly lacking in political sense, will come out with him.

There is a strong probability that the President will take part in the dedication of the Roosevelt Memorial Arch, or something like that which they intend to dedicate out in Montana. The justice will be right there with him then.

Since the beginning of political time politicians have reasoned and rightly so that such association with the President did a candidate immeasurable good. The Democrats like to say that standing beside the President in these days does a man harm instead of good, but they do not really believe it. There is not a one of them who would not like to appear on the rear platform with him at any time.

Progressives on Alert.

People look upon any President as a great man and by some quirk of their mentality they figure that the candidate standing at his side must also be great. The phrase "close to the President" has its value for candidates, lobbyists and anybody else. It is surprising how much attention the newspapermen traveling with the President receive, and they frequently need it.

These being facts the value of the President's trip to Justice Galen is not to be discounted. It has caused the progressives to perk up. They have sort of an uncomfortable feeling that one of their number is to be picked off in the forthcoming battle anyway. And some of them feel that maybe they have not been living exactly right.

One Injured as Troops Again Fire on Egypt Mob

Alexandria, Egypt, July 17 (A.P.).—Troops again fired on a crowd this evening, and one person was injured. After discharging several volleys the troops encamped for the night in Mahomed Ali Square.

The day had passed quietly until 7 p. m., when a mob rushed down the streets cheering for Nahas Pasha and shouting "Down with Sidky Pasha." The firing occurred at the entrance to the Arab quarter. The troops had no difficulty in dispersing the mob.

Marshall Field to Marry Noted Beauty of England

Grandson of Chicago Merchant, Who Will Have $300,000,000 When 40, Engaged to Mrs. Dudley Coats, Friend of British Royal Family.

London, July 17 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Marshall Field, grandson of the Chicago merchant prince, is engaged to Mrs. Dudley Coats, one of the prettiest and most popular women in the smartest English society and a friend of the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary, according to a report published here this afternoon, which adds that the wedding will take place here next month.

Mrs. Coats is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Brinton, who was better known as Mrs. "Willie" James, well-known Mayfair and Goodwood hostess who frequently entertained royalty both in town and at her country house.

The marriage of Mrs. Coats, then the beautiful brunette, Miss Aubrey James, to Capt. Dudley Coats, member of a well-known cotton family, at Brompton Oratory here, was one of the leading social events of 1922. She was known as the "pride of 500 presents," which included gifts from the royal family.

Coats, who was the second son of Sir Stuart and Lady Coats, died in August, 1927, in a nursing home at Edinburgh at the age of 29.

Mrs. Coats is a keen sportswoman and she and Field have been seen together recently at several fashionable race meets. Field is the nephew of Countess Beatty and inherited three-fifths of the $150,000,000 estate left by his grandfather 25 years ago. The death of his brother, Henry, since then has brought him most of the remaining two-fifths. It is said that his wealth will amount to at least $300,000,000 when he reaches the age of 40. He is now 35. He married some years ago, but it was stated at the end of last April that his wife had left for Reno to obtain a divorce on condition that she be allowed a settlement of $1,000,000 a year and the custody of their three children. The divorce, it is stated here, has been obtained.

SALARY BARED

EUGENE G. GRACE.

BETHLEHEM HEAD'S SALARY IS $12,000

Gets Bonus Now Unknown to Himself, Steel Merger Fight Reveals.

PUT ON WITNESS STAND

Youngstown, Ohio, July 17 (A.P.).—Struggling throughout the day to get into evidence a reputed salary bonus of $1,600,000 for Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel Corporation, attorneys for the Cyrus S. Eaton interests, contesting the merger of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. with Bethlehem, were able to learn only that Grace receives a regular salary of $12,000 annually, plus a bonus now unknown to himself.

Grace was called to the stand shortly after the opening of common pleas court today as a "hostile" witness for the plaintiffs. Until late this afternoon he sat with folded hands while counsel argued the propriety of discussing his salary.

It was a contention of the Eaton interests that he received more salary and bonus than he earned and that concealment of the amount from stockholders of the Youngstown company before they ratified the merger on April 8 this year constituted fraud.

1929 Profits Ruled Out.

The court held the stockholders were not entitled to know about the salary prior to the date when the merger would have been effective, so that any questions as to Grace's 1929 profits as president of Bethlehem were ruled out entirely.

The Eaton attorneys then made an effort to determine the basis of Bethlehem bonuses and learned they were set by Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board, and that under the by-laws they could not exceed 8 per cent of the consolidated net earnings after deducting all fixed charges and an amount equal to the annual dividends upon preferred stocks outstanding, but before deducting depreciation.

Grace testified Bethlehem has not always paid 8 per cent and never more than that.

Vague on Own Bonus.

Questioned about his own bonus arrangement since April 30, when the merger would have been effective if the present injunction suit had not been filed, Grace was able only to answer:

"The factor used to determine my bonus is 1.5 per cent."

"One and one-half per cent of what?" asked Day.

"I don't know," answered Grace.

Later he promised to find out how much his bonus has been for the past three months. He testified fourteen or fifteen executives shared the Bethlehem bonus.

Man, Discovering Fire, Sounds Burglar Alarm

When a fire broke out on the fifth floor of an office building at Eleventh and G streets northwest last night, Arthur Johnson, colored, became frightened and opened a window to cry for help.

A few minutes later two men from the Mutual Messenger Service, 1406 G street northwest, came in search of a burglar and turned in a fire alarm instead. Johnson had turned in a burglar alarm by opening the window.

Higher U. S. Costs Defended by Jones

Increased Expenditures of Government Held No Extravagance.

Denying that increased expenditures of the Federal Government are an indication of extravagance, Senator Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, chairman of the Senate appropriations committee, told a radio audience last night that a larger appropriation has been necessary to meet the needs of defense and care for the results of war.

Pointing out that the Government's expenditures have increased from $300,000,000 to $4,800,000,000 in the past 50 years, Senator Jones declared that this increase is a barometer of the growth, development and wealth of the country. Answering the criticisms that the cost of operating the office of the President has increased $91,480 over last year, Senator Jones said that this has been necessary to meet the growing problems of the Chief Executive.

He pointed out that the cost of running the President's office is less than that of any corresponding office in almost any other civilized nation. Senator Jones' address was on the National Radio Forum program over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

M'CORMICK FUNDS INQUIRY ADJOURNED

Senator Nye Awaits Calling of Mrs. Reinecke, Held "Key Witness."

LOOT CANDIDATE'S FILES

Chicago, July 17 (A.P.).—Indefinite adjournment of the investigation into Ruth Hanna McCormick's senatorial campaign was ordered by the Senate campaign funds committee tonight, pending the appearance of Mrs. Mabel Reinecke, member of the Cooke County Election Commission and former Internal Revenue collector, whom Senator Gerald P. Nye described today as the "key witness" in the inquiry.

Mrs. Reinecke, a supporter of Mrs. McCormick's candidacy for the Republican nomination for senator, is away on a vacation and Senator Nye, chairman of the committee, ordered her subpenaed. The senator indicated the recess would be for at least a month, since he had other official matters to attend to next week, and beginning the first week in August he said he would open the inquiry into the Pennsylvania senatorial primary campaign expenditures.

Mrs. Reinecke's husband, George W. Reinecke, was listed as the contributor of $2,500 to Mrs. McCormick's campaign. Mrs. Reinecke was identified by witnesses as recipient of a $2,500 donation to the campaign made by Col. R. R. McCormick, brother-in-law of the senatorial nominee.

Name "Dots Reports."

Senator Nye said Mrs. Reinecke's name "dotted the reports of the Senate's investigators" and ordered that she be subpenaed.

Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, Illinois State representative, who publicly termed Mrs. McCormick a "dictator" in Illinois Republican women's affairs a year ago, was called and asked about the senatorial campaign in Dupage County, her home county.

Mrs. O'Neill said she had reason to believe Mrs. McCormick spent considerable money in Dupage County and that she knew of a "dozen or so" women who left her organization to work for Mrs. McCormick after they told her they would be paid for working for the senatorial candidate.

Mrs. McCormick asked Senator Nye to have Mrs. O'Neill submit a list of the women she had mentioned in order to see if they were included in her regular report of expenses to the Senate.

Senator Nye told Mrs. O'Neill he would later request that she submit the names of the women she had mentioned.

Only one item of campaign expense not included in Mrs. McCormick's reports and statements to the committee was disclosed during the hearing. This was $7,207 spent by W. D. Alexander, a Bloomington, Ill., lumberman, who testified he conducted a campaign in McLean County on his "own behalf." Mrs. McCormick said this sum was not shown in her expenditures of $252,500 nor in the $67,214 spent by volunteer organizations because she had not known of it until this week.

Colonel's $10,000 Kept.

A contribution of $10,000 by Col. McCormick to Mrs. McCormick's primary race was made known by the colonel, but Mrs. McCormick explained she had not used the money and therefore had not reported it. She kept it for use in her fall campaign, she said.

Mrs. McCormick announced today that the office at her farm at Byron, Ill., had been broken into and a thorough search made of her correspondence file. In a statement to newspapermen she said:

"In order to enter the men had to step out on a window box in which geraniums are growing. The earth in this box was very moist and the raiders tracked mud over the floor of my private office in their search of my files. The raiders also broke a window pane in the office of my farm superintendent, Mr. H. W. Allyn, and unlocked the window. They made a less thorough search of Mr. Allyn's papers and correspondence.

"I have no clew to the perpetrators, but have employed detectives. The raiders were not in search of money or other loot because they did not break into the steel case in Mr. Allyn's office, contenting themselves with an examination of my correspondence.

Oriental $190 Out After Gypsy Visit

Restaurant Man Says That Money Was Missed After Two Told Fortune.

James Der's Oriential suavity gave way to Celestial consternation last night when he discovered—an hour too late—that a pair of Gypsy fortune tellers were not all they proclaimed themselves to be.

Things were moving with their customary dispatch in James' restaurant, out on H street near Fifteenth street northeast, yesterday when the door became darkened by the forms of the two visitors.

They bowed and James returned the salutations in his most ingratiating manner. They asked to tell his fortune and the obliging restaurant man agreed. One hour later $190 that had been in his pocket was missing.

One of the women had a mole on her chest, Der told police of the Ninth Precinct.

Many Firemen Invited To Labor Day Parade

Fire departments of nearby towns were invited yesterday to send a float to the annual Labor Day firemen's parade in Washington in a letter signed by Sergt. A. J. Bargagni, marshal of the parade. The letter calls attention of the value of community advertising before the crowd of 200,000 which is expected to attend.

President Hoover and the governors of the States of Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia, Delaware, Pennsylvania and New Jersey have been invited to attend this year's spectacle, the eighth to be held. Promoters hope to make it of national interest.

Childhood's Toys Become Means to Endurance Fame

Children of Nation Emulate Elders With Teeters, Bicycles and Tree Houses in Effort to Gain Notoriety; Sawed Limb Saves Boy.

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—Of course there used to be an occasional pie-eating contest and that sort of simple thing, but it was the airplanes that got the country really endurance conscious—and now see what's happened.

After seeing what a hub-bub in the public prints was caused by a few airplane endurance flights, grown-up people began sitting on flagpoles, dancing till their feet wore out, talking till everybody else's ears wore out, galloping back and forth in rocking chairs and sitting on roofs.

Then children got the fever, most of them since the refuelling endurance flights of Jackson and O'Brine and the Hunter brothers. Now every tree is a beanstalk for Jack to climb to endurance fame. Every bicycle a chariot to ride to glory. Even an implement of the playground has been brought into service by two little Marjorie Daws who set out for a "woman's" endurance record.

In Camden, N. J., thirteen boys are perched in trees in which they hope to stay for "weeks and weeks." All have ground crews who refuel the leafy larders of the contests and act as contact men with press and public.

Nick Getty, 14, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., unfortunately chose a neighbor's tree to do his sitting in and the neighbor started removal proceedings after Nick had been up almost 70 hours. Nick was saved from a forced landing by men who cut a limb from another tree, held it up for him to climb on to, and carried him triumphant to a new arboreal perch.

New Jersey is just full of bicycle riders as well as the sitters, half a dozen towns boasting their crews of endurance riders who keep the wheels turning 24 hours a day by pedalling in six-hour relays.

Out in Chicago the children are even more versatile. Not only are there bicycle riders and tree sitters, but two little girls mounted a see-saw and teetered away for seven hours before police interfered. Chicago has had one crackup in the tree-sitting business, a platform having collapsed under two sets of brothers, pouring one complete set and half the other set unharmed but crest fallen to the ground.

More than a score of boys in Kansas City climbed trees when 14-year-old Jack Richards set the fashion there, but Jack finally came down in deference to the pleas of the other boys' mothers.

In Fort Worth, Tex., Oscar Fox crashed today from his tree perch because he fell asleep and then fell out. He broke two ribs.

Joseph Donnelly, of Stamford, Conn., to prevent a similar accident, had himself handcuffed to somebody's tree today so he couldn't fall, but police unhandcuffed him and ruled that if he must sit in trees the trees should be in his own yard. There aren't any trees in Joe's yard.

One of the few adults left in the endurance racket besides the aviators is "Shipwreck" Kelly, who has been sitting on flagpoles in general for years and on one in Atlantic City in particular for the past 26 days.

Original Dramas Written by Arts Club Members Are Reviewed.

Four original one-act plays, written by members of the workshop round table of the Arts Club of Washington, were presented last night in the club garden before members of the drama organization.

The third play, "All Night to Talk," by Mrs. Miriam Hilton, was presented in a walking rehearsal. The fourth play, by Mrs. Edith Ogden Heidel, was a costume production under the direction of William F. Baker.

Woman Asks $15,000 In Furniture Removal

The William E. Miller Furniture Co., Seventh and E streets northwest, was sued yesterday for $15,000 in the District Supreme Court by Mary Vigderhouse, 1529 Upshur street northwest, who charges the firm with unnecessarily removing her furniture and thereby subjecting her to humiliation and embarrassment.

The petition claims that the removal was without justification, as shown by the fact that the plaintiff later won her case and the household goods, but only after she had been deprived of the furniture for 32 days.

Boy Bitten on Head by Dog.

Walter D. Schenck, 7 years old, of 1006 Flower avenue, Takoma Park, Md., was treated at Emergency Hospital yesterday after he was bitten by a dog. Several stitches were required to close the lacerations on the left side of his forehead. He was allowed to go home after his wounds were dressed.

Chamber to Urge Change in Zoning

Rescinding of Action on Connecticut Avenue Is Sought.

Recommendation that the zoning commission rescind its recent action making approaches to Connecticut avenue commercial was made by the committee on parks, playgrounds, highways and bridges of the Washington Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting yesterday at the Burlington Hotel.

The committee took this action on suggestion of Charles W. Eliot, city planner, so that the National Capital Park and Planning Commission may complete its plans for new approaches to the bridge. The committee also favored a circle or some other dignified plan of entrance to the National Capital at Wisconsin avenue and Military road, at the District Line.

Indorsement was given to the proposal of the Washington Council of Social Agencies for a survey of recreational facilities in the District of Columbia. The survey would be made with a view to working out a community plan of recreation. All these recommendations of the committee will be referred to the Board of Directors of the Chamber. Elwood Street, chairman of the committee, presided.

President of Howard U. Is Feted at Luncheon

Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of Howard University, who returned here from Port-au-Prince, Haiti, a few days ago, with the Hoover education commission headed by Dr. Robert Russa Moton, principal of Tuskegee Institute, was the guest yesterday at a university luncheon tendered to him by the various faculties of the institution in felicitation upon the success of his mission.

The luncheon was presided over by Dean Dwight O. W. Holmes, of the department of education, who served as acting president in Dr. Johnson's absence.

COAL WAGES PACT RETAINS OLD SCALE

New Anthracite Agreement Also Provides Modified Check-Off System.

CHANGE LATER ALLOWED

New York, July 17 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The anthracite joint subscale committee agreed in principle today upon the terms of a new wage contract to run five years and seven months from September 1 without change in existing wage rates, but with provision for adjusting wages each year on petition of either side.

The new agreement further calls for a modified form of the check-off under which the operators will assist in collecting not more than $1 a month in union dues, with the union free to collect such additional amounts as they may assess and collect without assistance.

In return for the concession of the check-off, as announced at the beginning of the negotiations, the miners have agreed to a rewording of the clause providing for the reopening of the wage scale, which meets the demand of the operators that it be made workable.

Committee Provided For.

The present contract calls for revision by a committee of two from each side which "shall" reach a decision and "may" call in additional persons to assist. It does not, however, fix any time limit in which agreement must be reached, nor definitely provide for the selection of the additional members of the committee.

This, it is understood, is rewritten and the operators' objection that it is unworkable is met by the elimination of much if not all of the ambiguity and vagueness.

Representatives of the two groups were busy tonight drafting the new contract which will be submitted to the miners' scale committee of 40 in the Hotel Pennsylvania tomorrow morning. Approval by that body is taken as a foregone conclusion.

Pact to Be Completed.

With this approval, John L. Lewis and his associates are expected to take the contract to the adjourned meeting of the subscale committee in the afternoon. There, save for ratification by the men in the mines and the formal affixing of signatures, the agreement, as drafted, will be completed by the approval of the representatives of the operators.

By the agreement reached today, the miners waive the demand for equal division of work and perennial demands for free compressed air, certain tools and safety appliances they are now compelled to pay for.

By making the contract expire on April 1, the date of all contracts up to 1922, the wage year and the sales year of the industry again coincide, and the possibility of a strike on the edge of winter through expiration of a contract is avoided.

CLOTURE RULE MAY BE INVOKED AGAINST NAVAL TREATY FOES

upon the treaty itself, Senator Johnson said the contention that the treaty provided for a limitation of armament was "fictitious."

"We demanded 23 eight-inch gun cruisers," he said, "and Mr. MacDonald said we couldn't have them and must take only 18. The only thing we did was to scrap our program and accept the British program."

Meanwhile, the State Department, in response to queries by newspapermen, issued a statement saying the Washington Treaty of 1922 was ratified within much less time than the London pact has required already.

"It is already 86 days since this treaty was signed in London," it said. "The Washington Naval Treaty only occupied 52 days between the date of signature and the consent to ratification by the Senate.

"This treaty was before the foreign relations committee for 53 days while the Washington Treaty was before the foreign relations committee only 17 days. To date this treaty has been debated before the Senate throughout 49½ hours of session. The Washington Treaty was debated for only 8 hours of session."

Johnson Is Adamant.

Senator Watson accused the opposition yesterday of "killing time." Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, an opponent of the pact, disputed this. Senator Watson replied that Wednesday one senator spoke "for the express purpose of killing time until another senator can return to the city." Senator Robinson did not challenge this.

Pointing out that debate was nearing the close of the second week, Senator Watson said if the agreement to limit discussion after next Tuesday were entered into it would still leave the opponents three full days for discussion in addition to the time they already have consumed, but Senator Johnson would not listen.

"I know of no other way to fight for my country except to die," shouted the Californian in reply to the threat of cloture. "This great majority here can do exactly as it pleases. I will protect what rights I have as best I can. Put on your cloture. The only time we use it is in some foreign adventure or misadventure. I make no agreement. I go on as best I can."

"Gag" Cry Feared.

Many treaty advocates have urged against the use of the cloture, anxious to avoid the cry of "gag" from the opposition. However, the Senate is plainly getting restless over the extended debate. Senator McKellar has spoken almost every day, using six hours during the last two days.

Senator Johnson pointed to the Pacific as the future "theater of world activities" and asserted the treaty carried the germ which would destroy United States defenses.

He lashed out at those who would call the treaty opponents "jingoists" and asked if men who spoke only for Great Britain or for Japan were to receive an ear.

He said the State Department has sent throughout the land speeches made in favor of the treaty in franked envelopes, while the speeches he had mailed out against the pact has been sent at his own expense.

Johnson submitted one of the reservations offered yesterday. He proposed to reserve right for the United States to build all eighteen 8-inch gun cruisers allowed under the treaty within the life of the pact. Under the agreement, three of the cruisers could not be completed until after the treaty expires. Some could be completed the day following expiration of the treaty.

Senator McKellar offered a new batch of reservations. He proposed that if any signatory nation violates the Kellogg peace pact, the naval treaty shall become inoperative. Another reservation would force any nation going to war in violation of the Kellogg pact to distribute $1,000,000,000 among the other nations. He also proposed that nations agree to limit the number of merchantmen which might be convertible into ships of war.

Senator Hale (Republican), Maine, the chairman of the naval committee, also notified the Senate he would propose a reservation stipulating that the American Navy reserve its previous policy of the right to build ships without regard to categories within the tonnage limitations.

BRAVE CHILD HOUSEKEEPER TO BE RELIEVED OF TASK

years old, and John, 9 years old. The girl was given only $11 to keep them all fed for a week. Frightened, Stella has kept the doors locked ever since her parents left.

Yesterday Stella sent a frantic plea through The Post asking her mother and father to return home as she was fearfully afraid to stay alone so long. A few hours later the couple were released from the hospital and on their way to Cleveland.

The Polish parents were released after Mrs. Ochendoski had written a letter to friends in Washington begging assistance.

"I came to the Polish Legation from Cleveland, Ohio," she wrote. "I asked them for help. Legation didn't give me any help. My husband got hurt in Cleveland. He has a damage suit in court for $50,000. I asked the Polish Legation for a lawyer. The legation had me arrested. The police came and took us.

"The police cut my hands and bruised me all over. At the time that we were arrested the Polish Legation had their faces in the windows and laughed. The Polish government from Europe sends plent of money here to help Polish people. Instead of this the Polish Legation kicks people out into the streets and they don't give people a place to sleep."

Officials of the Polish Legation denied the charges of the woman and declared that they had previously attempted to help the couple. After obtaining a lawyer to aid in the suit, Mr. Ochendoski failed to appear at the proper time for a hearing, they said. When he came to see them the second time he asked for enough money to enable him to move his family to Washington.

The Polish Legation statement asserted that an offer had been made to send the couple home but that they had refused. Last night when informed of the children's plight, they instructed the Polish consul at Detroit to send a man to Cleveland to take care of them.

At the time of the arrest the man and woman were said to have been picketing the legation for several days and had spent much time on the legation steps. When police were called by legation officials, they were compelled to use force to subdue the two. Mrs. Ochendoski is said to have bitten a policewoman and to have scratched the faces of several policemen.

CAPTAIN OF FAIRFAX IS ACCUSED IN CRASH

Federal Inquiry Results in Official Charges Against Master of Liner.

49 DIED IN DISASTER

(Associated Press.)

Federal investigation into the marine disaster of June 10 in Massachusetts Bay culminated yesterday in official charges against the seamanship of a ship captain involved and recommendations for changes in navigation rules designed to prevent a recurrence of the danger.

In the accident under consideration the steamer Fairfax collided with the tanker Pinthis and 49 lives were lost when the tanker's gasoline cargo caught fire.

Capt. Archie H. Brooks, master of the Fairfax, a coastwise liner operating between Baltimore and Boston, bore the brunt of the blame placed by Government inspectors who conducted the inquiry. He will have to defend himself before an official board. He was charged with reckless navigation, violation of pilot rules, unskillfulness and negligence.

D. N. Hoover, inspector general of the steamboat inspection service, in transmitting notice of the action to Secretary Lamont, recommended also that a conference of ship owners be called to demark more definitely passing lanes for shipping in coastwise waters.

He suggested further that a conference of owners and operators of tankers be called "with a view to working out a plan by which there may be an understanding that these vessels shall anchor in time of fog in waters where there will be no danger of collision with passenger ships."

There was no violation of legal rules in the transportation of gasoline by the Pinthis through the dense fog which clouded Massachusetts Bay on the date of the accident, the inspector general concluded, but there was "a question as to the moral right to do this thing" which should be taken up in consideration of possible chances in navigating practice.

The detailed specifications of the charges against Capt. Brooks asserted the reckless navigation was entailed in causing "his vessel to be navigated at a speed of about 10.77 knots per hour in the waters of Massachusetts Bay in a dense fog." The action was also defined as a violation of pilot rules.

He was charged with unskillfulness in failing "to make the proper maneuver on sighting the motor vessel Pinthis," and with negligence in "neglecting to have an efficient and diligent search made for possible survivors who might have been floating in the water" after the collision. The master and crew of the Pinthis, which sank after being rammed, were among the dead, as well as sixteen passengers and several of the crew of the Fairfax.

The trial board will assemble probably at Boston, and while it has no power to impose fines or like penalties, may revoke or suspend the license of the ship's officers if it deems the charges sustained.

GIVEN BLAME

CAPT. ARCHIE H. BROOKS, master of the steamship Fairfax, charged with reckless navigation in connection with the collision with the tanker Pinthis on July 10, which resulted in the loss of 49 lives.

CRISIS IN BUSINESS OVER, LEADERS SAY

A. G. Baumhogger, first vice president of the Montgomery Ward & Co., in Batavia, N. Y., today to inspect the firm's retail store, said general industrial business in the country is returning to a more prosperous level and that all signs indicate the low point of the depression has passed. Optimism is returning, he said, and prosperity depends solely on the determination of the people to produce it.

In Wilmington, Del., Lammot duPont, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., was quoted as having advised heads of departments and presidents of subsidiary companies that in his opinion fundamental conditions still seem sound, and that the foundation for returning prosperity seems more secure in that basic commodity prices have declined and interest rates are low.

He made this statement in response to inquiries as to the company's policy in respect to construction, plant rearrangement and major repairs.

"This conclusion," he said, "was based on the general feeling that fundamental conditions were sound and that it was only a question of months before business activity was resumed, and the very fact of our proceeding with construction and repair work would be an example. And the employment of labor would hasten rather than retard the return of prosperity."

PRIMARY NEGRO BAR BEFORE HIGH COURT

Petition Comes From Arkansas, Where Court Upheld Ban by Party.

FORMER RULING IS CITED

(Associated Press.)

A petition was filed in the Supreme Court yesterday asking the highest tribunal for a ruling as to whether or not political party organizations in the various States could lawfully prohibit Negroes from participating in their primaries.

The case comes from Arkansas. J. M. Robinson and other Negroes living in Little Rock, said they voted the Democratic ticket and were consistent supporters of the party platforms. They protested against being barred from the Democratic primaries in November, 1928, obtained a temporary injunction and voted before the State courts could hear the case on its merits.

Later, when the controversy was decided, the Arkansas Supreme Court set aside the temporary injunction and dismissed the proceedings, taking the position that the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments, under which the Negroes claimed they had the right to vote at Democratic primaries, referred only to what States were prohibited from doing in the way of restricting the voting rights of Negroes and did not apply to political organizations.

In March, 1927, the United States Supreme Court in a suit from El Paso, Tex., brought by L. A. Nixon, a Negro, held invalid a Texas statute prohibiting Negroes from voting in Democratic primaries.

The opinion was delivered by Justice Holmes. It declared the Texas law a direct and obvious infringement of the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution.

The Arkansas Supreme Court declared the Nixon decision did not prohibit a political organization from determining its own membership or from deciding who it would permit to vote at its primaries.

Pointing out the uniform success of the Democratic candidates in the Arkansas elections, the protestants claimed that being denied the right to vote in the primaries deprived them of their most important constitutional rights.

GARBER IS RENAMED AS G. O. P. NOMINEE

500 ARE AT CONVENTION

Special to The Washington Post.

Front Royal, Va., July 17.—The most largely attended Republican convention ever held in the Seventh District of Virginia today nominated Representative Jacob A. Garber, of Harrisonburg, for reelection in November.

Representative Garber, elected in the Hoover landslide of 1928, was the first Republican to be chosen by the Seventh District since the Civil War period. Today he was pledged the solid support of the Seventh District and the representative in turn urged united party action "in order that we may continue to build up our party in what formerly was a solid Democratic district."

More than 500 delegates and alternates from the ten counties and three cities were in attendance. The convention atmosphere was dominated by praise of Mr. Garber and predictions of success in the November election. Capt. John Paul, of Harrisonburg, western Virginia district attorney, placed Mr. Garber in nomination.

Mayor John W. Morrison, of Harrisonburg, was reelected Seventh District Republican chairman, and Frank Taliaferro, of Harrisonburg, was again chosen District secretary; H. B. McCormac, of Winchester, was the temporary chairman of the convention and Dr. G. H. Long, of Luray, the permanent chairman. The Republican principle of protective tariff was lauded by several speakers who declared that the present economic conditions would be worse than they are were it not for this policy.

A resolution "deprecated and deplored" the obstructionist activities in delaying the passage of the tariff bill which was charged to the Democratic national committee. "Had this tariff bill been passed months ago," said the resolution, "business conditions would now be benefitting from its effects."

REAL ESTATE QUIZ WITNESS DECLINES TO WAIVE IMMUNITY

The matter was so serious, he said, that the subcommittee would not want to let him testify under a cloak of immunity.

Loan Making Ceases.

The next witness was J. Wriley Jacobs, vice president of the B. F. Saul Co., mortgage firm, which for ten years or more had loaned to the Shapiro firm the money with which it acquired land and built houses. He readily agreed to sign a waiver of immunity.

In reply to questions by Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Republican), of Michigan, Mr. Jacobs said that B. F. Saul & Co had ceased making mortgage loans to the Shapiro firm.

It was felt, he said, that Shapiro & Co had "imposed" on B. F. Saul through the third or hidden mortgages.

The Saul executive said that his firm did not know of the existense of the third mortgages until last November when Julius Peyser, president of the Security & Commercial Savings Bank, called a meeting of the creditors of the Shapiro firm.

At this meeting, he said, two things were brought out: That the Shapiro firm was in financial difficulty and that it had used the unknown mortgages to raise money in the banks.

Other Meetings Held.

Later on, he said, he held three meetings with John Poole, president of the Federal American National Bank, and other interested persons and worked out a settlement to protect the purchasers of the houses.

It was developed that the hidden mortgages were paid off in several instances by the Federal American National Bank, but it was never made entirely clear to the senators just who, in the end, will lose the money. Mr. Jacobs said that nobody will lose, but this only served to make it more complicated for the inquisitors.

When the subcommittee recessed late yesterday no time was set for another meeting. Chairman Blaine, however, told those who had been subpenaed that they would be notified by telephone when they were needed.

Statements made by Mr. Jacobs were frequently challenged by Attorney Brinkman. When Mr. Jacobs said that he first learned of the financial difficulties of the Shapiro firm at the creditors' meeting called by Maj. Peyser last November, Attorney Brinkman produced two letters which he had written more than a year before that.

Warned Shapiro Firm.

In these letters Mr. Jacobs sharply reminded the Shapiro firm that it was behind in its interest payments on mortgages and warned that the mortgaged property would be sold at auction.

At that time, Mr. Jacobs explained, he thought that the Shapiro firm was simply "temporarily embarrassed."

When Mr. Jacobs said that his firm did not know when the Shapiro firm sold a house and was not particularly interested as to whether or not it did sell one, Attorney Brinkman produced a batch of letters which he said was clear evidence that the Saul firm did know of such transactions.

The home owners who testified were Mrs. Minnie W. Reed, 1734 Irving street; Mrs. William J. Slattery, 1822 Otis street northeast; Howard M. Carter, 420 Marietta place northwest; Joseph C. Engers, 422 Marietta place; Hugh L. Espey, 421 Marietta place; Horace W. Hullinger (Happy Walker), 419 Madison street northwest; Clarence M. Hughes, 3625 Eighteenth street northeast; Mrs. Mildred Haste, 3615 Eighteenth street northeast.

Stories of Witnesses.

All told substantially the same story: They bought their homes from the Shapiro firm thinking that they had to pay off two mortgages and then were notified by the B. F. Saul Co. that there was a third one on the property.

Most of them testified that, although they paid $10 for a certificate of title, this instrument was not turned over to them. If it had been turned over to them, Attorney Brinkman declared, they would then have known of the third trust. As it was, they said, all that they had was a contract of sale, and this did not show the existence of the additional mortgage.

Several of the home owners hired lawyers to protect their interests in the legal snarl that developed. Commenting on this, Senator Blaine declared that this was entirely unfair.

"It is a system," he said, "to hide, to cover up, and one that may at any time result in a tremendous fraud."

Senator Hamilton Kean (Republican), of New Jersey, pointed out that the Shapiro firm had charged $1 for a notary fee, when 50 cents is the legal fee.

MacDonald Goes Through Chicago

Attorney for Mooney Will Take Plane in Kansas City for Coast.

Chicago, July 17 (A.P.).—John MacDonald, the witness whose story helped send Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings to prison for life for the San Francisco preparedness day bombing of 1916, passed through Chicago tonight on his way to California where he says he will retract his previous testimony.

Accompanying Mr. MacDonald were his attorneys, Charles Ruzicka and Hilary W. Gans, of Baltimore; Frank P. Walsh, of New York, attorney for Mooney, and others. His attorneys would not allow MacDonald to discuss the case but said they would telegraph ahead to arrange a conference between the Governor of California and their client, who has admitted perjuring himself in his testimony fourteen years ago.

The party left for Kansas City, where Mr. Walsh will take a plane for California while Mr. MacDonald and the others continue by train.

BRADYS TAKEN BACK TO MARLBORO JAIL

Montgomery County Court Retains Jurisdiction Over Prisoners.

AWAIT TRIAL IN FALL

The Brady brothers are "home" again. They were returned yesterday to the county jail at Upper Marlboro by Sheriff Charles S. Early, there to await the fixing of a date by the Montgomery County courts when they are to be tried for the alleged perpetration of the New Year's Day bomb outrage at Seat Pleasant, Md., in which three persons were killed.

The brothers are Lawrence Leroy Brady, Washington automobile mechanic, and Herman Brady, whose wife was killed when a bomb, disguised as a Christmas package, exploded in the kitchen of the Hall home in Seat Pleasant.

Lawrence has been tried once but the jury failed to agree in Circuit Court at Rockville where the trial was removed when defense counsel contended that a fair trial could not be given at Upper Marlboro, so near the scene of the outrage. Herman elected to accept trial before judges. Both are expected to be placed on trial this fall.

In the meantime, the brothers have been languishing in the Rockville Jail, so far from home that their people had great difficulty in visiting them. The Montgomery courts decided to permit them to be removed to Upper Marlboro, stating explicitly in the order granting the permission that they were to remain under the jurisdiction of the Montgomery court.

Sheriff Early and his son, Charles S. Early, jr., brought the prisoners back by themselves. They had no trouble on the road. The Bradys were uncommunicative but expressed themselves glad to be near their homefolks. The brothers said they had been treated excellently at the Rockville jail but they missed the visits of their people.

Paris Police Seek Branch Bank Aid

$400,000 Is Missing When Officer of U. S. Firm in France Disappears.

Paris, July 17 (A.P.).—The French department of justice today announced it was seeking Lauriano Carlo de Villanueva, a high official of the Paris branch of the National City Bank of New York, in connection with losses estimated at 10,000,000 francs (about $400,000) suffered by Venezuelan customers of the bank.

Villanueva, son of a former Venezuelan charge d'affaires and until recently a commercial attache of the legation, is reported to have been missing since July 7. During his several years connection with the bank, officials said, he had been highly esteemed and trusted. Since January he has been one of those authorized to sign documents on behalf of the bank.

The bank asserts its accounts are in order, but a Senora Gomez, described as a Venezuelan citizen, this afternoon filed a legal complaint against Villanueva. Its details were not made public by the palace of justice.

Hayakawa Suite Robbed Of $22,000 in Jewelry

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—The luxurious apartment of Sessue Hayakawa, Japanese, who won fame on the screen, was robbed of jewelry worth $22,000 last night by skilled housebreakers, who opened a heavy oaken door with jimmies without attracting the attention of employes or tenants of the building.

The actor's wife, Tsuru Oaki, who was at the theater when the burglary occurred, told reporters today that in their search for a key to a closet in which the jewels were kept in a leather case, the thieves ransacked the apartment.

WILLIAM F. SCOTT

makes a statement about ESSO . . .

it will interest every Washington motorist

Thousands of Washingtonians know Bill Scott as the champion parachute jumper of the U. S. Navy . . . the man who took off into space at 15,200 feet in August, 1928 . . . one of the first men with nerve enough to let himself fall 1,200 feet without opening his parachute—in order to disprove the superstition that a man would lose consciousness when falling that far—and that fast.

But officially, Bill is not a stunt performer—that's only a side line. He is William F. Scott, U. S. N.—Aviation Chief Machinist's Mate at the U. S. Naval Air Station at Anacostia. Men at the flying field will tell you that he knows motors—airplane and automobile motors. Here's what he says about using ESSO in his own car:

"I don't get the knocks with ESSO that I get with all those other 'knockless' gasolines, and I get more power, quicker pick-up and less carbon."

Take the word of a man who knows motors—fill up today with ESSO. It's more powerful than any gasoline and costs no more by the mile. Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

BAND CONCERT PLANNED

Neighborhood House will present the second children's program at the Sylvan Theater this evening at 8 o'clock, under the joint auspices of the Community Center Department of the District of Columbia and the office of public buildings and public parks in the National Capital. The public has been invited to attend the performance. In case of hard rain preventing the performance tonight it will be given tomorrow at the same hour.

The entertainment will be divided in two parts, opening with a miniature minstrel show by the Boys Club of Neighborhood House directed by M. H. Burton, who will appear as the middle man in the show. Boys taking prominent parts in the show include Ralph Hoffmaster, John St. Clair, George Keese, William Reidy, Arthur Walton, Joseph Walter, Lester Cline, Fred Shwaner, John Shwaner, Joseph Reidy, Franklin Peters, James Massey and John Walter.

Operetta To Be Presented.

The second part of the program will be given by the Girls Club at Neighborhood House, under the personal direction of Mrs. J. P. S. Neligh. They will present a comic operetta, "The Shepherd," written by Mathilde Bilbro, which is based on one of Aesop's popular fables. Leading roles will be taken by Helen Schlorb as the shepherd; Margaret Hodgkins, as Father Aesop, and Marguerite Hayhoe as Mrs. Boniface.

Others taking part in the operetta are the Vilagers, by Lucile Hart, Margaret Koehler, Margaret Jasper, Erna Jasper, Grace Taylor, Mary Nickell, Ruth Kaldenback, Nancy Nickell, Katherine Helwig, Agnes Hennessy; the Milkmaids, by Mabel Beavers, Mary Carper, Katherine Twiford, Thelma Hodgkins, Eloise Reid, Alice Henessy, Helen Hutton, and the Wood Sprites, by Katherine Kart, Cora Nickell and Violet Hainsborough.

Execute Own Costumes.

Dances in "The Shepherd" have been directed by Miss Lena Barghausen, music by Miss Erba L. Birney, who has recenty joined the staff at Neighborhood House, and costumes were designed by Mrs. Neligh and executed by the boys and girls themselves.

The Community Center Department announces that the third program of the 1930 summer season at the Sylvan Theater will take place Wednesday evening, July 23, at 8 o'clock, when the United States Army Band and the Tchernikoff dancers of this city will appear in a joint program. Capt. William H. Stannard will conduct the orchestra in a series of concert numbers, and Miss Lisa Gardiner will appear in a number of solo dances, assisted by members of her group in ensemble numbers.

NEW "EAR" MAY WARN OF ICEBERGS

Scientist to Explore Lanes Throughout Summer With Instrument.

EXPECTS MELTING SOUND

Montreal, July 17 (A.P.).—A one-man scientific expedition will explore the iceberg lanes this summer with a new "ear" which promises to warn ships infallibly of bergs miles away in fog, storm or darkness.

This "ice ear" was discovered last summer and hushed up by the scientist who made it. With the ear he heard distinctly bergs 6 miles away.

It never failed, but its very perfection explained the secrecy. It seemed too good to be true.

So the discoverer is returning this summer to hunt for certain special bergs that will show whether the ear is really perfect.

Discovered by Professor.

This discoverer is Dr. Edward T. Barnes, professor of physics at McGill University, who has headed nine scientific expeditions to the ice lanes in as many summers.

It was at the end of the ninth one, last season, that Dr. Barnes lowered overboard a makeshift microphone for listening under water.

This one differed from the other supposedly better "mikes" already tried. The others were supersensitive instruments tuned to special sounds. This was made to catch all sounds—it was a doctor's heart stethoscope.

It picked up what the others had missed, the sound of ice cracking as it melted. These sounds were audible as dull booms, sometimes as rapid as the rattle of a snare drum, and never less than one every five or six seconds.

Berg's Sound Increases.

As the berg neared, the sound increased. It was like reading the hoof beats of an oncoming horse. Dr. Barnes said that even the direction could be noted.

But the stethoscope was tried on only a few bergs. This summer Dr. Barnes will look for those special bergs. They are usually dense ice and in exceedingly cold water. The question is whether they melt with audible popping.

"When man searches long enough," Dr. Barnes says, "he usually finds that nature somewhere has set a warning sign on her perils. It may be that this melting is the warning sign so long sought as a protection for shipping in the ice lanes."

Experiments are under way at Michigan State College to see how long seeds can lie dormant underground and still sprout when planted.

SMITH FIRM IS SUED BY BLIND PENSIONER

Former Government Worker Charges He Was Tricked in Security Deal.

WOULD RECOVER $4,300

Declaring that he had been tricked into exchanging good first mortgage bonds for practically worthless general mortgage securities, Joseph E. Sexton, blind pensioner of the Government, living at 121 Twelfth street southeast, yesterday filed suit against the F. H. Smith Co., in an effort to secure his life savings of $4,300.

The plaintiff, through Attorney Samuel M. Boyd, said that as he could not see he was unable to read the "general mortgage" written across the bonds which a salseman of the firm is said to have exchanged, on the assurance that they were "just as good" as the securities which he had originally purchased from the F. H. Smith Co.

Mrs. Sexton was in the hospital at the time of the transaction, according to the petition, and the plaintiff was persuaded to take the salesman's word by a check for $155.31, which he used to buy his wife a Christmas present.

The bonds that Mr. Sexton first owned included $1,000 on the Stanley Arms apartment; $2,300 on the Chatham apartment, and $1,000 on the Law and Finance Building in Pittsburgh, the petition asserts. He is said to have traded these securities for general mortgage bonds on the Fairfax apartment in Pittsburgh. The petition alleges that these securities "are practically worthless."

The suit filed in District Supreme Court names the Smith Co., G. Bryan Pitts, Samuel J. Henry, Daniel R. Crissenger and William Horn, a salesman of the company.

Mr. Sexton was employed as a machinist in the Navy Yard up until 1922, when failing eyesight brought his retirement on a pension of $60 a month.

WOMAN HIT BY CAR; HURTS ARE CRITICAL

Mrs. E. L. Cole Steps in Path of Auto; Both Legs, Ribs and Wrist Broken.

DRIVER IS NOT DETAINED

Mrs. E. L. Cole, 45 years old, of 569 Longfellow street northwest, was in a critical condition at Providence Hospital last night following an accident near Forestville, Md., yesterday afternoon. While walking across the Maryland Club Hill road, she is said to have become confused and to have attempted to turn back. In so doing she got in the path of an automobile operated by Ernest Perry, 30 years old, colored, of Forestville.

Friends who were with Mrs. Cole brought her to the Washington hospital in their car, which they had parked nearby while picking wild flowers. Hospital doctors found both her legs broken, her left wrist and hand, several ribs and her nose broken, and to have suffered internal injuries and a possible skull fracture.

Perry reported the accident to Justice of the Peace Thomas D. Griffith, at Forestville, but he was not held. The driver is an employe of the District of Columbia.

Dr. Joseph E. Gerdes, who treated Mrs. Cole, said her condition was very critical.

CREDIT CONFERENCE OPENS HERE TODAY

Contractors' Committee to Consider Irresponsible Methods in Industry.

WILL ORGANIZE BUREAUS

Intensification of the concerted national drives now being developed for the revival and stabilization of the construction industry is expected to result from the meeting of the cabinet of President A. E. Horst of the Associated General Contractors of America, which will open a two-day session here today.

Chief among the movements in which the association is participating in cooperation with other nationally organized trade groups are those of the Allied Building Construction Industries for the curtailment of loose credit practices, the program being devised by the United States Chamber of Commerce committee for the stabilization of the industry, and plans for curbing unfair competition from day labor.

Recently perfected details for each of these plans, as worked out by representative joint committees will be taken up by the association's executive cabinet, composed of leading general contractors from each branch of the industry, and it is expected that steps to lend momentum to the movement will be taken.

E. J. Harding, assistant general manager of the Associated General Contractors, today will submit the detailed promotional plans drawn up by him and fellow members of the special committee of the Allied Building Construction Industries for the organization of nationally affiliated local credit information bureaus in every large construction center in the country. Through the interchange of credit data by these cooperative agencies with the Bureau of Contract Information, Inc., of this city, it is planned to eliminate the harmful conditions arising from irresponsibility within the industry.

Col. George B. Walbridge, of Detroit, father of the local bureau plan; Frederick L. Cranford, of New York; Alan Jay Parrish, of Paris, Ill., and W. A. Bechtel, of San Francisco, are among the members of Mr. Horst's cabinet, who are expected to attend the meeting in addition to members of the Philadelphia Building Chapter of the association, headed by President E. M. Bassett, who have been especially invited to attend.

MACE CULPRIT

JOHN BECKETT.

COMMONS SEETHES IN MACE INCIDENT

Mr. Brockway had overstepped his bounds by trying to make a speech on India during question time.

Mr. Beckett did not get far with his trophy. An attendant tackled him as he reached the door of the house and returned the mace to the sergeant at arms, its official custodian, who, with the speaker, was the only man who remained unmoved in a chamber seething with excitement.

All eyes then were turned on the speaker to see what action he would take in this unheard-of emergency. He rose to the occasion, as the House always expects its speakers to do, gravely pronouncing the time-honored formula, "I name the honorable member for Peckham for disorderly conduct."

The suspension of Mr. Beckett was duly moved by Premier MacDonald and carried.

Mr. Beckett is the member, who recently married the actress Kyrle Bellew, over the historic blacksmith's anvil at Gretna Green.

On leaving the chamber the two suspended members walked into the palace yard, where they were escorted by a police inspector until they reached the gate marking the limits of the parliamentary precincts.

Suspension, under the rules of Parliament, will prevent the members from sitting in Commons again until next Thursday.

The mace that Mr. Beckett so blithely absconded with is the symbol of the authority of the speaker of the House, and is confided to him by the king himself.

In reality, it is only lent to the speaker, for the sovereign resumes possession of it when Parliament is prorogued. It is of silver-gilt and is 4 feet 10 inches long and weighs 14 pounds.

ANNAPOLIS STIRRED BY GIRLS' ESCAPADE

Two Midshipmen on Prison Ship After Women Eat at Academy Mess.

ALL AT TABLE ARRESTED

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., July 17. — Two members of the third class at the Naval Academy are confined to the prison ship, while their table mates are under technial arrest in their rooms in Banroft Hall as the result of an esapade in whih two girls, disguised in midshipmen's uniforms, recently ate at mess with the midshipmen.

While no offiial statement was forthoming from the aademy offiials, rumor in the town is spreading the following story:

Aboue two weeks ago the daughter of a commander, on duty at the reservation, was smuggled into the midshipmen's mess, in the garb of a yearling. She was discovered and later, at the investigation, denied that any midshipmen had aided her in her escapade. The case, because of her father's connection at the Academy, was dropped.

Not long after this two young women were visiting two youngsters, who are stationed here for the summer to study aviation. When the mess call was sounded the girls remarked that they, too, were hungry. A hasty search for equipment for the girls followed, according to the story, disseminated here. They marched in with the youngsters, sat down to eat and were practically through the meal when discovered by an attending officer.

The result was that the two youngsters have been sent to the prison ship, there to await their fate. The captain of the table, a two-striper, faces the possibility of no September leave and the loss of his stripes, while the whole table is under arrest for failure to report the episode.

The outcome of the case depends entirely on Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, superintendent of the academy.

An air mail service between Cherbourg and Cologne is expected to save 24 to 48 hours for German mail sent to the United States.

PEACE BY BATTLESHIPS.

That sterling pacifist, J. Ramsay MacDonald, has sent two battleships to "protect foreigners" in Egypt. Riots in Alexandria caused the death of fourteen natives and the wounding of many more. Official reports state that there was no antiforeign manifestation. An Italian died of heart failure during the excitement, and another foreigner was hit on the head. This is deemed to be sufficient warrant for dispatching two battleships, each carrying eight 15-inch guns, with which to emphasize Prime Minister MacDonald's desire for peace.

The riots represent the protest of the Egyptian people against the persistent effort of the British government to induce or constrain the Egyptian government to sign away the country's rights. Last year a treaty was drawn up between the British Labor government and the Egyptian prime minister, which was widely advertised by Prime Minister MacDonald as a concession to Egypt, as demonstrated by the agreement to withdraw British troops from all parts of Egypt except along the Suez Canal. The treaty, however, actually proposed to perpetuate the grip of Britain upon the Sudan, to the extinction of Egyptian rights, and would have compelled Egypt to pay the cost of British barracks at the canal; and Britain retained the right to send troops into Alexandria or Cairo whenever in its judgment foreign interests were in danger. The Egyptian people threw out of office the minister who had signed the treaty, and elected a parliament that unanimously rejected the treaty.

Since that time the British government has been pressing King Fuad and his ministers, proposing a treaty that is substantially the same as that which was rejected. The public opposition to the proposed surrender to Great Britain is shown by the riots in Alexandria. All the ministers suspected of a willingness to treat with Great Britain have been threatened with death.

It is supposed that the turmoil in India and the intrigues of Russian communists have stirred up the people of Egypt to bring about a crisis with Great Britain. The basic reason for the disturbances, however, is the wish to throw off British domination and to recover the uninterrupted flow of the Nile and Egypt's possession of the Sudan.

Of course, the Kellogg treaty does not apply to any war that may develop in Egypt. That region is exempted from the operation of the pact renouncing war. Britain's acceptance of the pact was accompanied by a reservation that makes a British war in that region a "defensive" war. For this reason it is unlikely that Secretary Stimson will address an admonition to Great Britain and Egypt, reminding them of their duty to preserve peace as signatories of the Kellogg pact, such as he sent to the Russian Soviet and China.

The two British battleships may be expected to promote peace in Egypt. Besides their 15-inch guns they carry a combined force of 2,000 men, who can land with artillery and machine guns, prepared to impress upon the natives the desire of Great Britain to carry on amicable negotiations looking to the continuance of British supremacy over a state which Britain in 1922 declared to be independent.

URUGUAY'S CENTENNIAL.

The people of Uruguay are today observing the hundredth anniversary of the foundation of their government. It is most fitting that the people of the United States should join in the tribute to one of the most advanced and progressive democracies in the New World.

Situated in a strategic position at the mouth of the River Plate, and commanding the approach and entrance to one of the great river systems of South America, it was inevitable that the territory of Uruguay should be coveted by larger and more powerful neighbors, as well as by the colonizing powers of Europe. It was only after a long and arduous struggle of more than twenty years that the Uruguayans were at last able to assert their independence and lay the foundations of their government.

In the century that has elapsed, Uruguay has developed into one of the most stable and prosperous states in the galaxy of western republics. Relatively small in area, and yet larger than three or four European countries combined, the compactness of the territory has contributed to the development of a closely knit and homogeneous nation. Today, the finances of the country are in a sound condition, with the bonds of the republic commanding a favorable market in the financial centers of the world. A network of railways covers the territory, and some years ago the government inaugurated a highway construction program which, within a few years, will give the country a fine system of improved roads. Telephone and aeroplane communication have been established with the United States and Europe, so that Montevideo is only a few minutes distant from Washington or New York by telephone, and only seven days by air mail. The government of Uruguay has always been on the most cordial terms with the United States, and in 1917 gave an admirable demonstration of the meaning of Pan-Americanism. Immediately after the declaration of war against Germany by the United States, Uruguay severed diplomatic relations with Germany, and the president of the republic declared that no American state at war with a foreign power would be treated as a belligerent.

The constitution of 1830 continued in force until 1918. In that year a new fundamental charter was framed, in many respects the most advanced instrument of its kind in the world.

The progress of Uruguay in the century that has elapsed offers a happy augury for the future, and is a concrete example of the possibilities of the principle of government by the people as founded and developed in this hemisphere.

THE SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL.

The new Tariff Commission and Federal Power Commission are destined to become extremely important agencies. The Tariff Commission will be influential in applying the protective tariff. The Power Commission will have jurisdiction over power sites, and may be empowered to regulate interstate power companies. These commissions were reorganized according to President Hoover's ideas. Because of the important functions they are to perform it is necessary that they be composed of men of extraordinary capabilities—men who will serve as a patriotic duty and not merely for the $12,000 salary attached to their office.

The President has found it difficult to obtain the consent of men of outstanding ability to accept nomination to these commissions. There is no dearth of candidates, for $12,000 a year salary plums are not usual in Government service, but men of the stature the President desires to appoint to the commissions hesitate to give their consent to the nomination. Well they might! The treatment which the Senate has accorded to nominees to important offices is enough to give pause to any self-respecting citizen.

When Gen. Jadwin's prospective nomination to the Power Commission was announced, the mudslinging immediately began. As a result, Gen. Jadwin asked that his nomination be not sent forward. Who can blame him? The pitiless verbal bludgeoning to which the Senate subjected Chief Justice Hughes and Judge Parker was fresh in his mind. Gen. Jadwin has served his country with great distinction. He is entitled to decent treatment, and yet it was obvious that he would have been subjected to scandalous criticism if he had been nominated to an office for which he is especially well qualified.

Any man who has ever owned a security other than a Government bond, or who has ever expressed an opinion on a controversial subject or who has won distinction, may expect opposition when nominated for a Government position of trust and responsibility. The President seeks "$100,000 a year men" for the tariff and power commissions. But where can a "$100,000 a year man" be found who has not at some time in his career owned securities other than Government bonds, or expressed an opinion on a controversial subject? Men of the caliber the President seeks will not, in addition to accepting large income cuts, voluntarily present themselves as targets for Senate mudslingers.

It will be difficult to obtain high-grade executives for Government positions so long as nominations are considered by the Senate in open session. The attacks of the "progressives" are made for political purposes. Reputations are mercilessly assailed in the hope of breaking down the administration.

The Senate should revert to the old system of closed executive sessions for the consideration of all nominations. It should not debase itself any longer by serving as a school for scandal. Unfit men can be rejected as easily in executive session as otherwise, and men of exceptional ability will no longer shrink from accepting Federal office.

CENSUS ACCURACY NECESSARY.

As the work of the census enumeration draws to a close a number of surprises have developed. Some States have gained much faster than was estimated and others are lagging further behind than was expected. When the enumerators are not quite so generous as the forecasters, cities and States are inclined to question the accuracy of the Government's count. Such complaints may or may not be without foundation, but under any circumstances the census enumerators ought to make certain that their final reports are as accurate as they may be made.

The Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce has petitioned Secretary Lamont for a recheck of the enumeration for that city. Mayor Mackey believes that many residents on the west side who are away from home a good deal of the time have not been counted. A survey made by the chamber of commerce in large industrial firms indicates that 8.2 per cent of their workmen were not included in the census figures. If these reports are true a re-check of questionable districts is in order.

The accuracy of the census ought to be placed beyond question. The figures are used in a thousand ways by business and industry and by the Government itself. The immediate purpose of taking the census is reapportionment of the House of Representatives. A slight mistake in one State may cost it a representative and a vote in the electoral college. It is not surprising that the States are apprehensive lest some of their citizens be left out of the count.

In view of the fact that the membership of the House will remain at 435, seats will be won and lost by small margins. A preliminary estimate gave California six additional seats, but now it appears that the State will be in a position to claim nine. Instead of losing one, as forecast, New York will gain one seat, and maybe two. Ohio may be cut down from three new seats to one. Illinois, Minnesota, Arkansas, Wisconsin and Rhode Island may be placed in the losing column. All of these possible changes will depend upon the diligence or carelessness of the census enumerators. The effects of inaccuracy are so far-reaching that the Department of Commerce ought to investigate wherever there is any indication of incomplete returns. Completion of the count in record time is not nearly so important as counting all the people.

CONTROL OF WEATHER.

"Everybody is always talking about the weather," Mark Twain once said, "but nobody ever does anything about it." This only goes to prove, however, that Mr. Twain is no longer modern. In recent years a great industry has sprung into being in response to the demand that something be done about the weather.

Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, summarized these achievements in a recent radio address. "Manufactured weather" has become well known to theater audiences and hospital patients. It has been introduced into factories and office buildings. The Capitol and White House no longer swelter on hot days. Indoor weather can now be regulated to taste, both as concerns temperature and humidity, at a small cost.

In addition to these comforts science has come to the aid of humanity with electric refrigeration, artificial manufacture of ice, "quick freezing" for the preservation of foods and "dry ice." Yet the general opinion of experimenters in the industry is that the conquest of heat has just begun. In a few years it is quite possible that cooling plants in homes will be almost as common as furnaces. Much of the discomfort of summer and much of the loss occasioned by excessive heat can be thus eliminated.

Man's conquest over out-of-door weather has not progressed so well. The best the meteorologist can do is to guess at the unpleasantries a day or so in advance. The recent heat wave in the West cost, directly and indirectly, hundreds of lives. So far as the physicial comfort of the farmer on the plains of Kansas or Nebraska is concerned, nothing has been accomplished. But a great deal of attention has been given to the so-called weather boxes—the North and South polar regions—in recent years, and it may be possible eventually to influence the weather to some extent, or at least to forecast its eccentricities.

It must be said that these possibilities hold no such promise as do the ice box and electric cooling plants. But it furnishes subject matter for speculation on a hot day. Who knows what the future may bring?

THE CURSE OF NOISE

From the Christian Science Monitor.

Noises become sounds under certain conditions. Sounds, properly coordinated, make music, grateful to the ear. Just where the line is that separates sound from noise, or that marks the beginning of musical territory, men have found it difficult precisely to state. Possibly light may be thrown on these problems by the campaigns now under way in several American cities to eliminate "unnecessary" noises, though that seems to present the additional question, When is a noise unnecessary?

Doubtless there will be agreement on some of the more disturbing sorts of noises. Few persons enjoy the sound of a motor with an open exhaust, although this particular noise is not listed, in dispatches announcing a new anti-noise ordinance in St. Louis, as among those forbidden. This ordinance is aimed especially at pneumatic hammers, steam shovels and steam hoists. Restraint of the exuberance of these devices probably will be welcomed by everybody except, perhaps, those who use them.

It will be a violation of the St. Louis regulation also "to beat or strike any pan, pail or other like article, sound any gong or play any whistle, or horn other than a musical instrument when used as part of a band, except to give necessary signals." Loud cries by vendors and the sounding of sirens, whistles and horns except on fire and police vehicles are also placed under the ban.

So far as "musical instruments used as part of a band" are concerned, it is to be hoped that St. Louis firemen who may be assigned to duty at concerts of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra will be instructed to permit members of the orchestra full freedom of noise-making within the hall. Otherwise the audience might be deprived, as another audience once was, of a part of the program. Beethoven's "Leonore" No. 3. Overture requires a trumpet call offstage. On a memorable occasion, when the first trumpeter of a famous orchestra went back to sound the call, he encountered a fireman, who told him that he must not play "while the concert was going on," and enforced his order, to the vast discomfiture of the conductor.

The radio, of course, has been the subject of much controversy between owners and their neighbors. But without entering into any discussion on this subject, one can question whether tin pans, bathtubs and dishpans are musical instruments. Certainly they are not so considered by that mayor of a New Jersey township who the other day was seeking legal redress because he had been serenaded with these instruments by citizens who were urging him to withdraw from his office.

No doubt the mayor would have taken similar action if drums had been employed. Yet the drum is an accepted member of the symphonic family. Indeed, Chinese gongs, wind machines, motor horns and even typewriters have been called for in the scores of reputable composers. Why, it may be asked, should not tinware be equally permissible?

SNAKE LEATHER.

The manufacture of leather from reptile skins, which was formerly thought a passing fad, shows no signs of abatement as a growing American industry, according to the Philadelphia Inquirer. Although domestic snakes are practically useless for the purpose, the United States is one of the leading countries in the development of the business. Last year we imported 3,500,000 pelts, enough to cover 150 acres, and this year the import business will surpass $3,000,000. Foreign countries, chiefly tropical, are offering concessions to native hunters in an effort to get rid of pests. On the other hand, Bengal has had to declare a closed season to protect lizards, and other Indian States are considering similar measures to save certain types of reptiles from extinction.

If the demand continues to expand, it may cause a dislocation in the commercial aspect of animal husbandry comparable to the effect cotton substitutes have had in the vegetable kingdom and synthetic resin products in the mineral kingdom.

JUST FOLKS

WHEN JANET IS AWAY.

When little Janet goes away
The house is very still,
Then I may read my book all day
And do just as I will,
And no one shouts upstairs at me
Excitedly, to run
The very marvelous thing to see
Her little hands have done.

Uninterrupted at my task
I sit the morning through,
None come into my room to ask
A favor I could do,
I'm not disturbed by shrieks of pain
Or happy shouts of glee,
I am a carefree man again
With none to trouble me.

I think at times when she is here
Beseeching me to play
And tugging boldly at my ear
I wish she'd go away.
Just now I have this task to do
And have no time to spare,
I wish the house were quiet, too,
Such noise I can not bear.

But, oh, when Janet goes away
The stillness troubles more!
I miss her laughter through the day,
Her tap upon my door.
The book I thought I'd like to read,
The silence never breaks,
I find to be content I need
The noise that Janet makes.

The More He Loves Peace, the Harder He Is to Stop When He Fights.
By ROBERT QUILLEN

In the gold fields of the West, where tramps got rich in a day, sedate and temperate men became as wild and as reckless as the toughest adventurers.

The prospect of great riches easily obtained destroyed their normal mental poise.

Their loves and their hates were fierce.

They lived in a constant state of excitement.

Working or playing, drinking or killing, they were immoderate men fiercely resentful of restraint.

To understand them is to know America.

When the invasion of the West began, this became a land of great opportunity—a storehouse of wealth to be exploited by the daring.

Everybody learned to think in terms of tomorrow—to dream of riches and power and high honors.

We became a nation of adventurers, with hair-trigger nerves—eager to be moving, quick to assume new risks, always hungry for excitement.

We learned to think in superlatives—to demand the biggest, the best, the fastest, the highest.

We developed "world champions" of innumerable kinds.

Our race, made a little mad by glittering opportunity and constantly fed on excitement, had become a race of extremists.

Thoreau was not a typical American, for he not only denied himself, but actually "dieted his senses"—that is, he purposely starved his taste for pleasant things in order to enjoy them more when he indulged himself.

The typical American denies himself nothing he can obtain and gets his thrill by excess.

He can not drink beer slowly as the German does, or sip wine like a Frenchman, for he drinks to get the "kick" and must have it quickly.

He can not enjoy a car unless he is speeding.

He is "crazy" about a thing, or he doesn't like it at all—which means he is disposed to be a crank and a follower of fads—a whole-hog-or-none fellow, who will have peace at any price or war to the hilt; who scorns surgeons or has all of his children's tonsils removed on general principles; who sneers at religion or goes proselyting for his neighbor's soul; who yearns to hang trust magnates one year and pawns the kitchen range to buy shares in Big Business the next.

Today he makes whoopee; turns his back on religion; is amused by the toughness of gangsters.

When he changes, as he will, he will go to the other extreme and chant sad hymns as he adjusts the noose to eliminate the racketeer.

Bad or good, he must go the limit to get his "kick."

THE ONCE OVER

COMPENSATION.

I.

If the game you are in seems a tough one
And you struggle in vain for success;
If your battle with life is a rough one
And the Gods overlook your address;
If each day brings a fresh aggravation
And each hole is a prelude to groans,
Just remember, there's this consolation—
You don't have to play Bobby Jones!

II.

If whenever you think skies are clearing
Something happens to prove it the bunk;
If at time when the outlook's more cheering
All your hopes are quite suddenly sunk;
If you never can seem to get going
And the fates act like ugly old crones,
Take a little relief in just knowing—
You haven't a date to play Jones!

III.

If the trade you are in isn't booming,
If you find competition too keen;
If you have to face each week assuming
That the pickings will be very lean;
If the struggle to win is depressing
And conducive to very loud moans,
Bear in mind this one thought less distressing—
You're never stacked up against Jones!

IV.

If you're out in a slump hunting orders
And you find no one willing to buy;
If the land seems a nation of hoarders
And the tradesmen are scary and shy;
If you think you are taking a beating
Feel relief to your innermost bones
That your job doesn't hinge on a meeting
With one Mr. Robert T. Jones!

V.

If your life seems a round of frustration
And adversity trails in your wake;
If you fight in a fierce desperation
And without ever getting a break;
If you think that grim failure is near you
And your pathway seems jagged with stones,
There's at least this one thought that should cheer you—
You don't have to play Bobby Jones!

CANDOR IN THE WEST.

"The city of Chicago is spending $1,500,000 a month on the Police Department and it is going to get $1,500 worth of service,' Acting Chief Alcock said."—The New York Times.

Well, that isn't hard to believe.

Following the accident in light air to the Weetamoe last week, the cup defenders, Enterprise and Whirlwind, were disabled in a 20-mile wind. Maybe, after all, the outdoor life is too tough for them.

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker at last has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, withheld for twelve years on a question of whether he deserved it. It was awarded to him finally perhaps, on the ground of distinguished patience.

The first television play was broadcast in London the other night. The audience found it difficult to understand, proving that the television production is no better than the stage performance.

Elmer Twitchell announces the incorporation of a company to give prompt and complete service to New York City magistrates and other public officials accused, indicted, suspended or otherwise embarrassed. "I sell the magistrates a sort of blanket service," explained Elmer today, "and under it they get a set of four form letters, including a letter of resignation. The service includes delivery."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Colleges Are the Best Missionary Field Now—Too Much Socialism.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: One of the most attractive features of your journal are the daily short articles of Robert Quillen. As continual dropping wears stone, so I believe that Mr. Quillen's articles by reiterating great truths for character building, in a few pithy sentences, are of inestimable value to your many readers.

Mr. Quillen says that a Yale publication confesses that 50 per cent of university students cheat in examinations. This is a reflection on the instructors as well as the system which requires examinations. Every instructor should have only as many students or scholars as he can reasonably supervise. The cramming for a week or more prior to an examination, the nervous tension of the days and hours before, and at the examination, are a serious detriment to mind and body, and add little of value to the student's knowledge of the subject. The temptations to cheat are strong with many whose moral training has been seriously neglected in the home and school. Petty pilfering is also far too common in educational institutions.

Moral training is the need of the hour—courage to do the honest thing always under all circumstances; to bear misfortune and disappointment; to have respect for the laws of schools and country; to "do unto others as ye would that they should do unto you." "He that ruleth his spirit is greater than he that taketh a city." These ancient rules should be inscribed in every classroom and confront the student at every turn.

Millions are poured into universities and colleges to equip them with costly plants and proficient instructors for every conceivable subject except the spiritual. Mrs. Henry Taft, of Cincinnati, has made the first donation to be devoted for instruction of the spiritual. The greatest missionary fields in the wide world are the colleges and universities. Seed sown among the young women and men for righteousness will bear fruit a hundredfold. Philanthropists and churches can find no more profitable field for God and country than in this much neglected field. The corner stone of every college and university founded in prerevolutionary days was, first, to educate and train men morally and spiritually. Their graduates, the Adamses, Madison, John Marshall, Thomas Jefferson, Alexander Hamilton and others are the invaluable contributions of Harvard, Princeton, Columbia and William and Mary to the founding of the best government for the general mass of humanity ever created by men. There was an utter absence of the socialistic atmosphere that is now prevalent in these institutions.

Motorists Pile Up in Front of Fire House and Prevent Quick Egress of Engines.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Some time ago it became advisable to place traffic lights near fire houses in order to prevent vehicles from coming to a stop directly in front of the former. This was only the case where the fire house was in the immediate vicinity of an intersection where traffic lights were in use, which often caused a line of machines to block the passage of the engines responding to alarms.

Recently I have noticed that the lights installed at Engine Company No. 24, located at New Hampshire and Georgia avenues northwest, are doing just the opposite of what was expected of them. Motorists proceeding south on Georgia avenue encounter these lights. Instead of stopping on the north side of the engine house when the light is red, however, the first car usually drives right up under the nose of the light and waits for it to change. Apparently the drivers ignore the light by the engine house altogether and follow that on the opposite side of the street. In a short time three or four more machines are lined up behind the leader, and the result is that, should an alarm be turned in, the firemen would have to wait until the exits were cleared before responding to it.

As a preventive of this existing condition may I suggest that a policeman be stationed here for possibly a week and explain to motorists who block the entrances of the fire house just why the lights were installed there and the importance of obeying them.

Hessian Fly to the Rescue—It Will Reduce Wheat Output if You Don't Look Out.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The bug division of the Department of Agriculture in a recent bulletin advises that the Hessian fly, the most destructive of all the insect pests ever imported, is due for another raid. If that bug, said to have been first introduced into America by the minions of King George III, gets started out in Senator Capper's State it will surely accomplish the thing desired by the Farm Board; namely, the reduction in the output of wheat which the inhabitants of the Grasshopper State insist upon raising, in spite of the fact that they can not get enough for their crops to pay the installments still due on the hundreds of thousands of automobiles which they have bought on the partial payment plan.

Primaries and Popular Election of Senators Two Big Mistakes.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Experience has demonstrated that the adoption of the primary system of nominating candidates for office, and the change in the Constitution requiring the election of United States senators by popular vote, are two colossal political mistakes. The public service has been lowered, and an orgy of money spending has resulted. It has reached the point that none but wealthy men can afford to run for Federal offices. Do away with the primary method and repeal the amendment to the Constitution, and we will have, once more, great men in office.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

U. S.-Franco New Museum Is Dedicated

Miss Anne Morgan Sees Ceremonies Held at Blerancourt.

As Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of public buildings and parks, whips into shape definite plans for beautifying of Washington, an American woman, across the sea, is harboring for future generations drawings and autographs of Maj. Charles Peter L'Enfant, whose vision still lives to make of Washington the superb city of the New World.

The woman is Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, who attended, a few days ago, ceremonies dedicating the new pavilion housing the Franco-American Museum, completed under her direction at the chateau at Blerancourt, France.

The town lies in the center of the World War region. Laon, Noyon and Soissons are but a stone's throw. In the heart of the region where Miss Morgan and Mrs. Anne Murray Dike created a civilian relief center during the great conflict, the former has founded a museum as a symbol of good feeling between the United States and France.

The ceremonies last Sunday, presided over by Premier Andre Tardieu, incorporated the French national museums with Blerancourt and attached it to the Versailles Museum.

The museum is peculiarly linked with American history, for the house itself is on the spot where in 1781 the Duc de Gesvres, whose cousin was the first to make his entry into the British entrenchment at Yorktown, ordered a great celebration for the victory of Washington, Rochambeau and De Grasse.

It has many objects relating to Benjamin Franklin, who, it will be recalled, got together a corps of artists to arouse interest in the American cause during the Revolutionary War. Miss Morgan has purchased and preserved the famous medal by Esperit Antoine Gibelin, "Libertas Americana," made in 1781 under Franklin's direction to herald the American independence.

Although Miss Morgan never has maintained a house in Washington, she is widely known here, where she was the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, the latter Miss Louisa Morgan. Electing to pass much of her time abroad, Miss Morgan is now with Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt at Marienbad, where they went the middle of the week for a few weeks before going on to Scotland to pass the month of August.

Former Consular Attache Vanishes

Disappears in Miami After Leaving Note to Father in Martinsburg.

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 17.—B. Meade Kitchen, former midshipman at the United States Naval Academy and only son of Harry C. Kitchen, assistant postmaster here, mysteriously disappeared from his room in a Miami (Fla.) hotel on the night of June 20, and has not been seen or heard from since, according to word received in Martinsburg today by the father and State officers.

Kitchen, who is 26 years of age, was connected with the United States consular service for a number of years and has spent much time abroad. Shortly before his disappearance he resigned a position as manager of a cotton mill in one of the Carolinas.

A letter, found in his effects at the hotel, advised his father that he was leaving Miami and would never be heard from again. A check-up of the lists of passengers on boats leaving Florida for Havana, where it was thought he might have gone, revealed nothing.

Tourist Camp Takes Visitors From Hotels

More visitors to the National Capital are stopping at the Washington Tourist Camp in Potomac Park, but fewer are going to the hotels, and sightseeing concerns are suffering a decline in business, it was revealed yesterday.

Reports from the tourist camp show that 6,199 more persons have been accommodated so far this year than in 1929. From January 1 up to the present date slightly more than 25,314 persons have been registered and 7,329 automobiles have stopped at the reservation. During the same period of time last year there were 19,115 persons and 5,390 cars. Larger hotels are maintaining an average standard of business, but fewer persons are registering at the smaller hotels, it was reported.

Stimson Given Authority To Keep Savoy as Helper

Continued employment of Edward A. Savoy, a special messenger in the State Department, for a period of one year after August 20 of this year was agreed to by the United States Civil Service Commission yesterday following recommendation by the Secretary of State.

The Civil Service Commission declined to approve Messenger Savoy's continuance in the service for a period of two years because such continuance can be granted only cases where employes would be advantageous to the public service, it was pointed out. Continuance of one year in this case has been granted so that the State Department may have an opportunity to train some one else in the duties of the position, it was explained.

The Civil Service Commission approved a further continuance of two years in the case of Dr. Leonard Stejneger, head curator of biology at the Smithsonian Institution as coming within the provision of the law that continuance can be granted "by reason of expert knowledge and special qualifications which would be advantageous to the public service."

BRITISH FIND FAULT WITH EUROPE UNION

20 NATIONS MAKE REPLY

London, July 17 (A.P.).—Far-reaching objections to Aristide Briand's scheme of a European Federal Union, often referred to as the United States of Europe, were advanced in the British reply which was made public tonight.

The British government took issue with the French scheme chiefly in connection with the methods propcsed by the French government for the realization of the Pan-European idea.

The reply states that if Great Britain understood the scheme correctly, it proposes to set up "new and independent international institutions." The British government is not convinced that this course is "either necessary or desirable."

Fear Chance of Confusion.

These new bodies, the reply states, "would in no way derive their authority from the covenant of the League of Nations or from part 13 of the Treaty of Versailles," and would in no way be organically connected with the League of Nations.

"Since the organs of the League have already begun work on virtually the whole of the program of practical action which the memorandum puts forward," the reply continues, "it is difficult to see how these new European institutions could operate without creating confusion and perhaps also a rivalry which, however little it might be intended or desired by the European governments, could hardly fail to diminish both the efficiency and the authority of the organs of the league."

The British government, moreover, according to its reply, thinks it possible an exclusive and independent European union of the kind proposed may emphasize or create tendencies to intercontinental rivalries. In this connection, it is stated, there are special considerations, of which his majesty's government must take account in the United Kingdom as a member of the British commonwealth of nations.

Twenty Governments Reply.

Paris, July 17 (A.P.).—Twenty European governments tonight had expressed to France their views on Foreign Minister Briand's proposal for a pan-European federation.

Of the 26 governments, asked in a questionnaire to discuss the feasibility of such a union, nearly every respondent had voiced general acceptance of the idea in principle, but had made a number of reservations. The twentieth reply to arrive was the British.

Despite the reservations expressed by most of the governments questioned, French official circles tonight considered that no obstacles to a closer European union had been revealed that could not be overcome at the conference table. In fact, it was asserted two of the three most serious reservations already had been discounted in Briand's memorandum.

These two reservations were to the effect that the proposed federation must not clash with the League of Nations, and it must not be inimical to the interests of other continents.

Third Major Problem.

A third reservation, namely, the German and Italian desire for a revision of the treaties which ended the World War, raised a problem, it was felt here, that must be solved, but that must not necessarily be a bar to a European union.

Another disturbing element was the idea expressed by Italy, Germany and several other nations that Russia and Turkey must be invited to join the proposed union. French opinion for the moment is inclined to be skeptical of any such arrangement. But again it was felt this is merely another problem that may be ironed out at Geneva.

Marine Fliers Killed In Nicaraguan Crash

Managua, Nicaragua, July 17 (A.P.).—Walter Lee Pounders, U. S. Marine gunner and pilot, and Chalmers Lewis Martin, U. S. Marine aerologist, were killed while making an aerological flight 10 miles south of Managua yesterday.

Pounders came from Colt, Ark., and and his next of kin was given as his brother, James S. Pounders. Martin came from Barlow, Ohio. His next of kin was given as his mother, Mrs. Sadie Martin. The cause of the accident was not known here.

A Marine relief party found that the machine had smashed on a hillside.

BLAST IN CALIFORNIA KILLS 12, HURTS TWO

21 Trapped by Natural Gas Explosion in Tunnel Fight Way Out.

OFFICERS BEGIN INQUIRY

Camp Mitchell, Calif., July 17 (A.P.).—Twelve men were killed and two were injured today in an explosion of natural gas in the east drift of the Mitchell ravine shaft, a unit of the San Francisco Hetch-Hetchy water project, 40 miles southeast of San Francisco.

Twenty-one others were trapped in the far end of the tunnel, but fought through gas fumes and foul air to the hoist and were rescued.

This was the second fatal gas explosion on the water system project within two months. The other killed seven and seriously injured one. Tunneling has extended 1,200 feet from the bottom of the 819-foot Mitchell ravine shaft. The tunnel is to connect with the Calaveras tunnel of the Spring Valley section of the project, where the explosion last month occurred.

Federal, State, municipal and county officials came here immediately for an investigation. Several hours passed before all bodies could be brought out, gas forcing back rescue workers. The concussion flattened 400 feet of the tunnel's ventilating line, which had to be repaired before blowers could rid the excavation of foul air.

The explosion occurred at 1:30 a. m. It missed Charles O'Malley, "top man" for the east drift crew, by three minutes. He explained the crew was timbering and he had left for the surface to get an iron bar.

"Just as I reached the surface there was a terrible explosion," he said. "The ground shook like an earthquake, and a moment later a great column of smoke shot out of the shaft."

Investigation disclosed timber in the east drift had been splintered and debris scattered the entire length of the tunnel. The twelve apparently were killed outright. There was no fire.

C. R. Rankin, engineer in charge, said the crew was working in a serpentine formation, the first of its kind encountered. He visited the workings at 5:30 p. m. yesterday, and said no trace of gas was discernible then.

The only thing like one gallon of AMOCO-- is another gallon of AMOCO

AMOCO-GAS is different. There is nothing else like it. Amoco-Gas is the one complete motor fuel.

It is the original special motor fuel.

It revolutionized the whole gasoline industry.

It brought into being a large number of other special motor fuels.

The exclusive composition of Amoco-Gas—never successfully imitated—is such that it does more than eliminate "knocks".

Special components increase the heat units in Amoco-Gas.

This means more mileage.

This means more power.

And these components result in many other advantages, such as snappy, efficient operation, better starting, minimum deposit nuisance and lower repair costs.

Amoco-Gas is made differently because of these added essentials. Amoco-Gas, so made, costs more to make.

It does much more. It is worth much more.

Add all of these advantages together—and you will see there is real, incontestable truth behind the statement that there is as much difference between Amoco-Gas and other premium motor fuels as there is between other premium motor fuels and regular gasoline.

Remember, it is not a few pennies less per gallon that matters—it is low cost per mile that counts.

Injunction Issued Against Strikers

Garfinckel Building Work Hindered, Court Is Told by Door Firm.

A temporary injunction preventing continuance of an ironworkers' strike at the Garfinckel Building, Fourteenth and F streets northwest, was signed by Justice Jennings Bailey in the District Supreme Court yesterday.

The injunction was against Local No. 5 of the Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers of America, and John H. Locker, its business agent. It was petitioned by the Metal Door & Trim Co., of LaPorte, Ind.

The plaintiff contended that the local had declared a strike and was interfering with construction work on the building because carpenters instead of ironworkers had been employed in building elevator inclosures.

The Indiana company was required to post bond of $1,000 to insure the defendants against loss as a result of the injunction.

Scheme Takes Man's Watch.

Because an engaging stranger offered to have the coat of arms of the United States engraved on his watch, Littleton Jackson, colored, of Virginia avenue near Sixth street southeast, is out the watch and $23 he gave the man to have the work done. Jackson met the man, he told police, outside the Capitol. After Jackson had agreed to have the work done, the man went into the building, leaving Jackson to wait. Jackson is still waiting.

Additional Buses Sought by Keech

Residents in Anacostia Say Transportation Service Is Inadequate.

Additional bus service for parts of Anacostia will be asked of the Public Utilities Commission, Richmond B. Keech, people's counsel, announced yesterday on completion of a personal tour of inspection of that section of the city.

Mr. Keech's inspection was prompted by requests of residents of the neighborhood for better service. Many complained that the street car companies now provided no transportation service for a large section.

New bus service connecting with the Washington Railway & Electric Co. street car line on Nichols avenue and with the Capital Traction street car line on Pennsylvania avenue will be asked in a formal brief, Mr. Keech said he would file with the commission as soon as it could be prepared.

Woman Pleads Cruelty In Asking for Divorce

Because her husband removed the family radio from the house to his office and "otherwise treated her cruelly," Mrs. Myrtle E. Selby, 915 K street southeast, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court for a limited divorce from Elmer E. Selby.

The plaintiff alleges that although her husband is the proprietor of a fuel business, he refuses to provide coal and wood necessary to keep their home warm. He also stays out late, she charges, and refuses to take their two children automobile riding. Attorney Robert E. Lynch filed the petition.

Odd Fellows Outing Today.

WORK ON BRIDGE

CONTRACT BRIDGE.

In these days so much antagonism has developed against what is known as "Ace showing" that the sentiment has the tendency to swing too far, and there are some who decline to use this convention even in cases in which the objections urged against it have no weight. Ace-showing or (what is often just as important) the showing of a King and Queen of the same suit, is utterly unobjectionable when the initial bid has been three No Trumps and the partner of the No Trumper has a count of 9, included in which is either a minor Ace or a minor King and Queen of the same suit. In such case the bidding of four of the minor gives more definite information than the bidding of four No Trumps. The two bids equally invite the slam, and show a minimum count of 9; but the former indicates the spot at which 4 or 5 of that count is located.

Take the following hand:

South, with a count of 25, would bid three No Trumps; North would bid four Diamonds as a slam suggestion. This would show South the King and Queen of Diamonds and of course would make a small slam bid by him a cinch. At first thought the Grand Slam bid would seem to be tempting upon the chance that North, who must have a count of at least 4 in addition to the King and Queen of Diamonds, has the Ace of Clubs; but it would be a bad bid for two reasons: (a) although North has shown a count of 5 in Diamonds and must have 4 elsewhere, the 4 may consist of one major Queen and two major Jacks, or the two major Queens (as happened to be the case); (b) if North had held an Ace in one minor and a King-Queen in the other, he would have bid the lower first; consequently North's bid of four Diamonds denied the Ace of Clubs.

Paris, July 17.

FEEL in the mood today to rave about cigarettes. If you don't want to you don't have to read this!

Tricky, those advertisements telling you to grab a cigarette instead of a bonbon—they almost convince you. Ye gods, and I am cert-ain-ly no Puritan! But I still don't like to see women smoke, and still bet anything that women don't really like to smoke, themselves.

And they do it so poorly! Don't forget, fashion, or good taste, or whatever it is, allows us to smoke cigarettes, but it or she does not permit us to be awkward about it . . . as ninety-nine hundred out of a thousand women are.

Seldom do you see a man, even, talking with a cigarette in his mouth, but how often a woman! Seldom does a man blow smoke through his nostrils, many women do. A gentleman never has nicotine-stained fingers, no matter how much he smokes, and an otherwise lovely lady often has. Men know how to carry cigarette cases, lighters, holders and the other elegancies of cigarette smoking, whereas many women have not yet learned the art of the matter.

And if I were a man I wouldn't like to kiss a woman who smokes; I would tell every woman I see that her nicotine-stained fingers were just plain dirty; and I would poke fun at every awkward gesture that women indulge in, in and about the business of smoking.

Then maybe they who still wished to smoke would learn how to do it gracefully!

Do gentlemen prefer you? If you are either of the blonde types or the "redhead" or white-haired type, and you need to know about colors . . . the ones to wear and those to avoid, then send your stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post right away quick before you buy another single thing, and get the leaflet about colors.

* * * *

How'd you like a Drecoll-Beer ensemble like the one I sketched for you today? All gray-blue jersey trimmed with darker and lighter blue crepe de chine is the dress, and matching the gray-blue of the dress is the tweed in the coat . . . not to mention the flat fur collar that folds into itself in an odd way that makes it stand up straight. Yes?

Home Decoration notes are yours for the asking and the stamped self-addressed envelope which you send to the Dare Department of The Washington Post. It may be that you missed reading the Dah-ray Collum, when I gave you some of these helpful hints some time ago, and it won't be amiss now to do a bit of cleaning and brightening up of your house in preparation of long dull winter days. This leaflet is a mixture of several leaflets, all having something to do with painting or decorating your house or apartment.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

THE JAPANESE ACTINIDAS VINE.

THE most unrestful feature of any new garden is its total lack of shade. As it takes years, not months, to establish trees, every owner of a new garden should plant at least one or two vines the first season. They will link the four corners of your garden together a most delightful way, and while adding to its beauty will at the same time add materially to its comfort.

There are many things to be considered when choosing a vine. If you want a vine to ramble over a pergola you will probably choose a wisteria. Or if you want to hide a harsh angle of your house, you may plant an old-fashioned trumpet vine. For tree draping there is nothing better than the Virginia creeper. When you stop to really consider the subject of vines you will find that there are almost as many uses for suitable climbers as there are varieties from which to choose.

In any new garden the first place you plant a vine is usually about the porch. Here it may be needed to assure privacy or to make the place more livable during the warm part of the day. Of all the many vines which are used for this purpose none will afford a more perfect screen in one short season than the actinidia, commonly known as the silver vine.

This vine is not as well known as growers feel it should be. It comes to us from the Flowery Kingdom, and like so many Japanese plants is very hardy. It is a strong-growing, vigorous climber with dark green, shining foliage and interesting greenish white flowers with strange purple centers. These are followed by clusters of edible fruit which have a fig-like flavor.

To prove how complete a shade can be attained with an actinidia vine, let me quote from a letter a reader sent me a day or so ago.

"Among the shade-growing vines I can not say too much in favor of the actinidias, the vine that has a big green berry like a mammoth blueberry and is nearly as fine eating. One on the north side of my house (this point is worth considering, for all vines will not grow in a northern exposure) grows furiously and covers the entire north side of my piazza with a storm-proof screen. I have slept there with perfect comfort through many a wild storm in my Gloucester cot and never a spatter of rain beating through.

"Personally I am very fond of the fruit of this vine in its season. Just before the first frost it wrinkles a bit and is then ready. The friend who told me about the vine said the berries make a delicious preserve. I can not testify as to that, as they never get that far with me."

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"CANCER."

IF July 18 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., 3 p. m. to 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. to 9:15 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 1:30 p. m. and 6 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.

The signs for this date are rather foreboding, and strange occurrences are anticipated. A wedge may be driven between existing relationships, and many of the present conditions may be altered, for better or for worse. A heavy atmosphere will prevail during most of the day.

The child born on this July 18 will have an aggressive nature, and may become a small bully, if it is allowed to do so. It will always love to command, and will desire power. It will be a hard worker, and have a good brain.

You are, above all things, serene, and it takes considerable to penetrate your aura of indifference. You let the world boss you until the bossing becomes intolerable, and then you quietly and simply refuse to budge, and "gang" your own way, without further fuss on your part. You would rather humor people than upset them, and for this reason you usually get along with everybody. It is usually you who tries to keep step—not the other fellow.

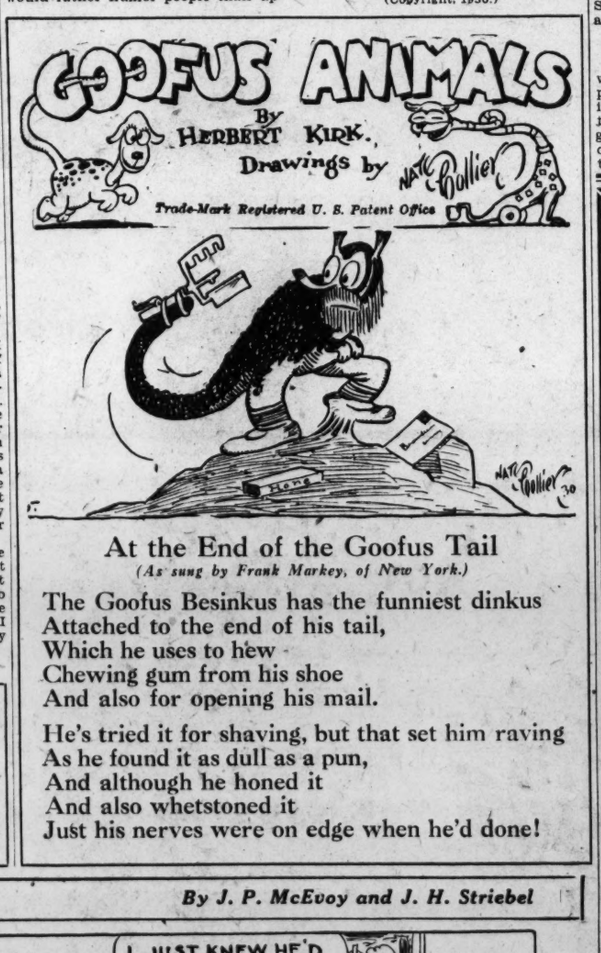

You have a very fiery little temper which is rarely ever seen, but even your toes can be stepped upon once too often. You are not an orderly person, although if you are a woman, you have what is known as "room sense." You can put a place "just right," but it is impossible for you to keep it so. You criticize others for things of which you yourself are guilty in the untidy line.

You have ambitions, but some one else will have to make them realities unless they can be purchased ready made.

At the End of the Goofus Tail

(As sung by Frank Markey, of New York.)

The Goofus Besinkus has the funniest dinkus
Attached to the end of his tail,
Which he uses to hew
Chewing gum from his shoe
And also for opening his mail.

He's tried it for shaving, but that set him raving
As he found it as dull as a pun,
And although he honed it
And also whetstoned it
Just his nerves were on edge when he'd done!

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HEAT STROKE OF HORSES.

DR. G. P. McNEILL has proved that acidosis is a factor in heat stroke, at least in the disorder in artillery horses. When a horse is overcome with the heat the customary method of treatment is to halt the team in a well shaded, cool place, to remove all harness, and throw cold water over the animal. If the horse is in a stable the doors should be opened in order to let in the breeze, and if a fan is available it should be turned on. To place a chunk of ice on the head and cloths wet with ice water along the backbone is customary.

Extensive blood examinations convinced McNeill that something should be done in addition. These examinations showed an excess of lactic acid in the body juices. The conclusion was that there was an acidosis in heat stroke. Treatment by injection of a solution of glucose and soda into a vein was given, in addition to the use of ice and cold water locally.

In the case of two artillery horses suffering from heat stroke this mixed treatment was rapidly curative. The horses were fit to work in a short time.

Sunstroke and heatstroke are comparatively rare now in people in this country. However, it is occasionally encountered. The customary treatment consists in putting the subject in a tub of ice water and applying ice to the head to bring the fever down. The baths are repeated until the temperature stays within bounds. This controls one symptom—the extraordinarily high fever. It is possible that men suffering from sunstroke may have acidosis as those of horses did, and it may be advisable to meet this symptom. Glucose and soda solution may be given by mouth or it may be used as an injection of one kind or another. Mild cases may need to go no further than to eat some sugar, ice cream, crackers, or cake.

However, not all cases of disturbed balance between acids and alkalis are cases of acidosis and in need of soda. In many cases the need is for chlorides, and this need is met by giving a weak salt solution, either as a drink or as an injection. Beef teas are really salt solutions plus a moderate amount of flavoring and stimulant.

DEMENTIA PRAECOX.

M. R. S. C. writes: I see you say dementia praecox can be cured. My niece has it. Kindly tell me where to take her to be cured.

REPLY.

You do not quote me correctly, because you omitted some qualifying phrases. Many cases of dementia praecox can learn to fit into home and business life to a satisfactory degree. In that sense, they are cured. Such cures are made in all sanitaria and hospitals for mental diseases.

SODA POP AND CHILDREN.

M. M. writes: My children are always asking me for money to buy pop drinks and beverages that come in bottles. I think these drinks contain carbonated gas and if so, is this gas good for them to drink in quantity or is it harmful for them? Is it better for them to drink two or three bottles of these drinks in hot weather instead of spending their money on chocolate bars, &c?

REPLY.

Your children will thrive better if they do not drink seasoned drinks nor eat sweet foods between meals. They should be kept on stable, wholesome foods and drinks, not highly seasoned nor greatly sweetened and taken at set times.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE.

A. E. W. writes: Can anything be done to cure a too low blood pressure in a middle-aged woman by means of diet or any other mean?

REPLY.

The diet advised is one rich in meats, oils, sour milks, vegetables, and fruits, and poor in breads, pastries, cereals, sweets and desserts. Some wear abdominal supports with advantage. Taking interest in competitive sports is a service.

PORTUGAL THWARTS PLAN OF PLOTTERS

Number Nabbed in Attempt to Upset Dictatorship, Government Says.

LISBON REMAINS QUIET

Lisbon, Portugal, July 17 (A.P.).—The Portuguese government let it be known today that a plot against the dictatorship of President Carmona has been discovered, and a number of citizens and soldiers arrested. Complete order prevails in Lisbon.

An official communique tonight stated that the movement was started by a "small minority," and that all garrisons had remained faithful.

"At ten minutes past 7 this evening," it reads, "the government learned that the enemies of the dictatorship were planning a coup d'etat to overthrow the dictatorship.

"Under its duty to preserve public order, which is essential to the work of national reconstruction, it has taken the necessary steps, arresting a number of soldiers and civilians involved in the plot.

"The police are in possession of evidence of the guilt of those arrested. The government assures the public that the movement was started by a small minority. All garrisons remained faithful to the principles of order and discipline."

Less than two weeks ago the government announced that a revolutionary plot under the leadership of Col. Joao Almeida, monarchist leader, had been nipped in the bud. Col. Almeida and several civilians were arrested. Several Portuguese political groups, including the Democrats, who came to power in the 1926 revolution, were implicated in the plot.

President Oscar Carmona, virtual dictator of Portugal, was elected in March, 1928. The present Portuguese cabinet, with Gen. Domingos de Oliveira as premier, was formed January 20, 1930, and is chiefly composed of clericals and moderate Republicans.

Florida Man Freed Of Murder Charge

Count of Slaying Second Dry Agent Dropped By Prosecution.

West Palm Beach, Fla., July 17 (A.P.).—George Moore, acquitted several months ago of killing R. K. Moncure, a prohibition officer, was freed today of a second degree murder charge growing out of the slaying of Franklin R. Patterson, another prohibition agent, during an attempted search of Moore's home last January. Judge A. C. Hartridge nolle prossed the charge against Moore for the killing of Patterson on a motion by County Solicitor W. E. Roebuck.

Moncure and Patterson were shot to death as they, together with two other prohibition agents, went to Moore's home early one evening with a search warrant that called for a "daytime" search.

At Moore's trial for the killing of Moncure, a jury brought in a verdict of acquittal after Judge Hartridge had held that the attempted search took place at night.

Man, Widow Are Slain; By Each Other, Belief

Easton, Pa., July 17 (A.P.).—Louis Million, 34, and Mrs. Mary Giaimo, 50, were found dead at Million's home here this afternoon from bullet wounds in the head. They are believed by police to have shot each other. Million, owner of a grocery store, and Mrs. Giaimo, a widow, were found in the former's bedroom.

According to police the two had been friendly for some time but recently had a dispute and separated. Million and the woman lived on adjoining properties and the bedrooms of the two places led to a tin roof. Authorities believe Mrs. Giaimo went to Million's room this morning and after a verbal altercation both brought revolvers into the argument. Two guns were found, one in the hand of Million and the other near Mrs. Giaimo's head. Both held exploded shells.

Michaelson Loses Primary Recount

Nomination in Seventh Illinois Congress District Goes to Moreland.

Chicago, July 17 (A.P.).—The board of election commissioners announced today that a recount of ballots showed Representative M. A. Michaelson, owner of the "leaky trunk" brought into Key West last year, had lost his bid for a sixth term in Congress from the Seventh Illinois District.

James C. Moreland, his opponent for the Republican nomination at the April primary, gained 613 votes in the recount and thus took the lead from Michaelson by 557 votes. The incumbent had been announced the winner by 56 votes in the original canvass.

Mr. Michaelson was elected to Congress in 1920 and had served continuously since. He was indicted in 1929 after liquor was found in his trunk at Key West, but was acquitted when a brother-in-law assumed the blame. The recounted ballots go to the canvassing board for recheck.

$150,000 Damages Asked of Doctors

Three Charged With Having Injured Plaintiffs in Using X-Rays.

Three physicians are made defendants in two damage suits totaling $150,000, filed in the District Supreme Court yesterday. Alleging negligence in the use of the X-ray, Elizabeth Green, of 2834 Newark street northwest, filed suit for $100,000 against Dr. William J. Mallory and Dr. John A. Reed, of 1720 Connecticut avenue.

The plaintiff charges that she was severely burned, and that her face and neck were permanently scarred by treatments received at the hands of the defendants.

Frank N. Wright, 1740 Church street northwest, filed suit for $50,000 against Dr. Charles B. Campbell, of the Farragut Apartments, alleging that he incurred painful burns in X-ray treatments for the removal of warts. Attorney W. Gwynn Gardiner represents both plaintiffs.

THE GIRL IN THE AIR - - -

BY JULIE ANNE MOORE

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Eight o'clock . . . And still no word from Tolbert and Dick.

Miss Sears sat close to Janet, an arm about her shoulders, offering what comfort she could . . . Hugh paced the floor anxiously, occasionally going out into the night to gaze hopefully at the starlit heavens, returning presently, the furrows on his brow noticeably deepened . . . Janet sat now dry-eyed, apparently gazing at a large air map hung on the wall behind the desk that she still thought of as Beiter's; but actually she saw nothing, for her eyes were filled with the grim specters of the fear that occupied her thoughts.

"You shouldn't be so sure that they have met with an accident, dear," Miss Sears was saying softly. "Mr. Tolbert may have decided to change his plans about coming home tonight, and——"

Janet interrupted. "But don't you understand, Miss Sears? They did start back . . . and they aren't here . . ."

"I know, but mightn't they have stopped at some field on the way? And even if——" She checked herself abruptly, but Janet looked at her expectantly . . . " Even if the plane that wrecked above Worcester is Mr. Tolbert's, it—I mean, it may be Dick in the hospital . . ."

Janet shut her eyes and groaned inwardly. If Miss Sears could only know that she was making this steadily worse. Obviously, the office had not been blind to her affair with Dick, for Miss Sears thought that it was for Dick that she was chiefly concerned. She couldn't want Dick killed. Of course, she couldn't, but if it had to be one of them . . .

She saw Hugh catch up a telephone beside him; then set it down roughly. "Can either of you fix this board so I can get the hangars?" he asked sharply.

Miss Sears hurried to the board, put up a plug and pulled a little lever on the lower part of the board. A white button turned suddenly red. "Pardon me, Mr. Temple, but some one's calling you."

Hugh picked up the nearest instrument. "Temple speaking . . . Oh, yes, Henry . . . What's that? . . . How long since? . . ."

The telephone went down to the desk with a bang. "Stay here until I come back!" Hugh cried and ran to the door.

Janet called after him, but the door slammed in her face. She faced Miss Sears, puzzled. "Now what, I wonder?"

"Oh, Janet . . . you're all nerves, child. It may be anything and it may be nothing at all. But don't worry until you've something to worry about. The call certainly hadn't anything to do with the Tolberts; it was young Frenda,"

"But I'll bet it was more trouble," Janet said pathetically. "There's been nothing at this horrid place, but trouble since the day I came here. I—I hate it!"

"I know," Miss Sears replied patiently. "You've been through a great deal for a girl your age; but it might have been worse, dear."

Janet resisted the impulse to cry out against this siege of philosophy. Of course Miss Sears could remain calm. She had nothing at stake. If both Tolbert and Dick had been killed, she was none the worse off. Hugh was hers, and she stood little chance to lose him either by violence or to another woman.

They both heard the motor of the machine driving up into the parking space behind the office, but neither commented upon it.

And then the door flew open and Henry Frenda dashed in.

"Where's Mr. Temple?" he demanded, his eyes wide. And then, seeing Janet, he jerked off his hat, and added: "You still here, Janet? I thought you'd gone home long ago."

"Henry," Janet asked gravely: "What's happened?"

"Gosh, didn't Mr. Temple tell you? I saw the bird they were looking for today. He was trying to get off with our car and I caught him at it——"

"When, Henry!"

"Just before I called Mr. Temple . . . I heard the starter turning over and ran out with my old shotgun and a flashlight . . . He must have heard me coming . . . You ought to have seen that fellow run!"

Miss Sears asked calmly: "Why didn't you shoot him?"

"Gee! I was scared, I guess. He ran out of the garage just as I went down the back steps. I had my flashlight on and I saw who it was. He had a pistol, too, and I thought he was going to take a shot at me. But he must have thought I was one of the detectives; he just kept running."

"I thought," Miss Sears remarked, "that the detectives were on guard at your house tonight."

"They are," Henry assured her; "but they were out front watching the road. They heard the starter, but they thought it was me. But they're after him now," he added with enthusiasm.

"Which direction did he run, Henry?" Miss Sears asked.

"Right straight toward the field. That's why I called Mr. Temple. I thought if they got out from this side, they'd probably hem him up."

Miss Sears strolled off toward the back of the office. If they couldn't catch him in broad daylight," she told him, "they'll never get him in the dark."

"Henry," Janet asked, "who's with your mother?"

"Nobody now, Janet. But she said she'd be all right. He wouldn't go back there."

"You don't know," Janet declared. "Mrs. Frenda's a nervous wreck as it is, Henry; she ought not to be left alone."

Henry picked up his hat reluctantly. "All right," he agreed; "I'll go back, but I wish I could help hunt for that bozo. . . . Will you phone me if they catch him?"

Janet went to the door with him. "Yes, I'll call you; but you stay at home whether they catch him or not. . . . Goodnight!"

The office had never seemed so big, so quiet before. Only the occasional muffled roar of an airplane motor told her that the life of the field was going on as usual.

She wondered how long it would be before the watchman came in on his rounds . . . when Hugh would come back. Only the knowledge of Miss Sears' presence in the building gave her the courage to wait. Once she thought she would go in and sit with Miss Sears; but she knew that would call for another dissertation on poise and self-control, and just now she wasn't in the mood for such drivel.

There was nothing to do but wait until Hugh came back and—Sears had gone. What had she heard? She could have sworn—and then the door flew open and Miss Sears ran out screaming, screaming, her hands at her throat . . . "Oh, my God, Janet! Get some one quick! . . . He's—he's in there . . .!"

Janet, almost frozen with fear, stumbled toward the outside door, jerked it open, and ran out into the darkness.

Somewhere she heard men's voices. With one desperate effort she screamed Hugh's name, and barely had the nearest hangar echoed her voice when she heard the report of a revolver in the administration building.

"Hugh! Hugh! . . . Hugh Temple!" She cried out with all her strength, running blindly toward the hangars.

And then they were all about her, the men from the hangars with sawed-off shotguns and flashlights, and Hugh was holding her, trying to understand what she was saying.

"He's killed her, Hugh! He's killed her! He's——" She pointed a shaking finger toward the office and saw the men dash off riotously. She pushed Hugh away from her and motioned for him to go with them.

Then, marvelling that she had strength to stand, she followed.

But when she entered the office, Janet saw Miss Sears standing in the center of the group of men, her face white, her hands pulling at a little handkerchief nervously. Hugh was pulling a chair up for her and one of the men was bringing a glass of water.

Janet gave a little cry and threw her arms about the frightened young woman. "I—I thought he'd . . . killed you," she sobbed; "and I went out and—and left you by yourself."

Miss Sears put a hand on the brown head resting on her breast and stroked it gently. "He didn't shoot me," she said with effort.

It was apparently the first sentence she had been able to utter, for the men gathered about the two girls quickly, their faces curiously intent.

Hugh said quietly: "He evidently shot himself, Janet. He's in Dick's office. . . ."

Janet asked weakly: "Is he . . . dead?"

Hugh nodded slowly. "Shot himself through the heart . . . Died instantly, I suppose. . . . Did you see him before he fired the shot, Miss Sears?"

Miss Sears closed her eyes as if to shut out the memory of it. "I was sitting at my desk," she told him presently. "Janet and Henry Frenda were in here . . . Two or three times I thought I heard a noise in the younger Mr. Tolbert's office. But I thought I was just nervous, and I went on with my work. Then—the door opened and—and there he stood . . ."

"Yes," said Hugh encouragingly. . . .

"Did he come after you?"

"I don't think so. . . . I pulled myself down behind Mr. Beiter's desk, hoping he'd think I'd gone out if he came in here. And then—then I heard the shot. I think I fainted after that."

A silence fell on the group. Some of the men drifted into the room where the dead bandit lay. Hugh called after them to be sure nothing was touched until the coroner came.

Then the outside door opened and Henry Frenda walked in—looking apologetically at Janet. "I'm sorry, Janet; but I'm going home in just a minute."

"Why, Henry," Janet scolded; "and I thought you were home with your mother. . . . Where have you been?"

"Watching the show from the outside," Henry admitted with an embarrassed grin. "I got out here just in time to see him crawl in the window."

"What!" Hugh cried. "You saw Three-Fingers when he got in?"

Henry nodded uncertainly, quite certain he was to be abused for not having given the alarm. "I didn't know whether to call anybody or not, Mr. Temple," he explained; "I was just about to get in my car when I happened to look up and saw his legs disappearing through the window. When he'd got in and pulled the window down I sneaked up to one of the windows on the other side and stayed there until just a minute ago."

"And," Hugh asked, greatly excited, "you were looking in when he shot himself?"

Henry stared at him, puzzled. . . . "When who shot himself?"

Hugh snapped irritably, "Well, who do you suppose, Henry; the man in Dick Tolbert's office, of course."

"But," Henry declared firmly, "he didn't shoot himself." His troubled gaze shifted from one face to another in the little group, coming to rest at last upon the drawn features of Miss Sears . . . "I thought you knew—hey! . . ."

Hugh Temple threw himself forward headlong at the young woman sitting before him . . . barely in time to catch the hand that had jerked a small automatic from her blouse.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

July 18, 1905.

William J. Glover, of Baltimore, and Carlisle D. Graham, of New York, successfully swam the lower rapids of Niagara Falls.

M. Witte, the senior peace plenipotentiary of Russia, gave his first interview to an Associated Press correspondent. He said the Russian Czar wishes for peace but believes the Japanese terms will be such that Russian people would not humiliate themselves by accepting them.

William F. Hubbard, an assistant in the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture, and a resident of 1122 Sixteenth street northwest, was drowned below Great Falls, when his canoe overturned and he attempted to swim ashore, but sank when he became exhausted before aid could reach him.

An investigation into certain municipal affairs of Philadelphia, Pa., was under way. Several prominent persons were expected to have criminal proceedings placed against them.

From a director's meeting of the Equitable Life Assurance Society it was learned that Thomas F. Ryan will sell back to the company the stock holdings of James H. Hyde, which he recently bought, for a price in excess of $2,500,000.

Today was the hottest day of the year so far, the Weather Bureau announced.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Newly Rich.

DEAR Miss McDonald. I would be very much obliged to you if you could help me in any way from the greatest difficulty that has as yet confronted me.

I am a bored young woman, 22 years of age, have had a college education at one of America's foremost and most select institutions, and come from a wealthy and very cultured family. In my set I am considered very popular as I am attractive and athletic.

I have had the great misfortune, however, of giving my heart to a man of whom, I know, my family would never approve. He is very attractive; in fact, he has what is commonly called "it," and an irresistible personality combined with good looks. However, he is very slightly educated, uses faulty English, and is a member of the "newly rich" crowd, of which my own family so strangely disapproves.

Please publish this in your column and tell me what I am to do.

DISTRESSED.

If you saw in this man anything beyond "it," and a recklessly assembled vocabulary, our advice might be different, but as it is we are more "agin" this match than your family. They object upon purely academic grounds. We object upon esthetic, biological and eugenic grounds.

Let us hasten to explain. We happen to know a man who might easily fit your description. Newly rich and uneducated, winning ways you know, telephone voice, &c. Now, judged on his conversational powers, he would be pretty awful on the radio. But when you consider not what he says, but what he talks about, you feel that, compared with pedigreed pups, he has a place all his own. His mother could hardly speak English, a plain, uncultured little peasant woman. Most self-made men would be good to such a mother, but would keep her safely in the background. But he? The second time we ever met him he said he loved blue, and got very red.

Then he told us that when he was a child his mother wore blue calico dresses, and her eyes and dress were just the same shade. "Mother's eyes are still as blue as they were then, even now that she wears black chiffon." His mother died last winter. He came to tell the sad news. He was the small boy, bereft. He said, "She looks like a stranger. Her eyes are closed. He took out of his pocket a queer old brooch of blue enamel. He said, "She wore this for dress up."

Do you get what makes the difference? A woman could take such a man to her heart, let him fill her heart and her soul, let him flood her world with light, and crown her life with glory—and it would not matter to her whether he spoke English or started a language of his own. For he, not the line of march, really matters. He will give his sons manhood, and his daughters probably will have blue eyes and temperament. He will worship his wife and want her to wear blue calico and pillow his head in her arms.

But study him well, for as a husband a man who had nothing but "it" and a few complications would make any woman wish that she had never been born.

throw following Porter's double, the latter going to third on this bad peg and scoring on Morgan's single. The star play of the game ended this rally. Hodapp laying down a sacrifice to Bluege. Seeing third uncovered, Morgan tried to carry on third and Spencer dashed to the sack just in time to take Shires' peg and make the killing.

Both pitchers tightened up at this stage of the game and the only member of either team to enjoy base-life thereafter was Sewell, who walked in the seventh and immediately became a victim of the Nats' third double-play of the game.

Fischer, Recruit Harler, Picked to Hurl Tomorrow

Cleveland, July 17.—Manager Walter Johnson plans to get a look at Pitcher Carl Fischer much sooner than he originally planned, for the young southpaw is slated to make his major league debut against the Cleveland Indians in Saturday's double-header, which concludes the Nats' series here.

Fischer, a high-priced purchase from the Newark Club, is said to have burning speed but not much of a curve or a change of pace. He says that Skipper Johnson need not worry about the rest of his repertoire.

"While I was working in Newark under Johnson," said Fischer, "I did not have to use anything but my fast one. That was two seasons ago, however, and since then I have been practicing both on a curve and a slow one and I think I can go in this company. Anyhow I'll be out there trying to prove it whether I do or not."

Johnson Has Confidence In Recruit.

Johnson, however, is not calling on Fischer simply because the latter has talked him into it. He has been watching the youngster work out during the past few days and believes that he has a good chance of coming through with victory, even though it is a known fact that the Cleveland Club is said to take kindly to southpaw slants.

Fred Marberry is scheduled to toil in the other half of the Saturday twin bill, with Adolph Liska due to get a chance to do a comeback in tomorrow's game. The young subway ball flinger has had trouble getting started this year and his work has been of the in-and-out variety, with poor performances being sandwiched in between an occasional brilliant one.

Coach Al Schacht took a trip to Youngstown, Ohio, this morning to visit "Bonesetter" Reese, a noted miracle man. Al's trick knee had been bothering him more than usual

IN THE WAKE OF THE GAME

Special to The Washington Post.

CLEVELAND, July 17.—After Myer had opened the game with a liner on which Dick Porter came in fast to make a good catch, Hudlin walked Rice on four successive balls. This did not help the Nats any, but a pass which Bluege begged in the second was later turned into a run.

Hodapp backed all the way to right field to make a nice overhead catch of Cronin's looper in the first.

Cronin let Hodapp's bounder skid through his legs in the home first but fast fielding and nice peg by Harris caught the runner when he tried to carry on to second on the miscue. Cronin was slightly spiked when making the out.

Pitcher "Sad Sam" Jones, noted for his fielding ability, gave the fans a sample of his work in the second when he raced over to first on Sewell's tap to Shires, taking the toss with one hand while traveling at full speed.

Fans here do not regard Art Shires very highly because it was his collision with Lou Fonseca that put the Tribe first-baseman out of commission for the season. Art had the better of the "kidding match" in the third, when he dropped a Texas

Athletics Take Big Early Lead Off Al Thomas.

Outhit by White Sox; Grove Halts Ninth-Inning Rally.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 17.—Following the standard practice of scoring such runners as managed to get on base, the Athletics continued to set a league-leading pace today by defeating the White Sox, 12 to 8, for their seventh straight victory.

Fourteen hits, six of them doubles and three triples, rattled off the bats of the Philadelphians and kept the White Sox outfielders backed up against the walls.

The Sox, although getting fifteen safeties to outhit the victors and staging a five run rally in the ninth inning, never got close enough after the early innings to be a threat. Jolley's home run to deep center field in the sixth inning, and doubles by Mulleavy, Barnes and Reynolds were the only ones to go for extra bases.

Mackmen Score Trio in First.

Tommy Thomas started on the mound for the Sox and after poor fielding and Foxx's single scored three runs for the Athletics in the first inning, he held the winners hitless for three innings and scoreless for four.

Triples by Haas and Miller, a double by Dykes and a single by Simmons gave the Athletics three more tallies in the sixth inning, and after doubles by Rommel, Cochrane and Foxx and another single by Simmons had given the Mackmen three additional runs in the seventh, Thomas yielded the hill to young Ed Walsh.

Miller doubled and Dykes singled to bring in two more runs before the inning ended. Hitless in the eighth, the winners brought Cochrane across the plate on two sacrifice flies after he had doubled to open the ninth.

Rommel Replaces Mahaffey.

Eddie Rommel replaced Mahaffey as the Athletic hurler to start the third inning, and Jolley's sixth home run was the first run which he yielded. He turned the Sox back scoreless in the seventh and eighth, but weakened to allow four runs after two were out in the ninth, Lefty

VANCE LOSES TO CUBS IN 13TH, 6-3

EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, N. Y., July 17 (A.P.).—Scratch infield hits by English and Cuyler off Dazzy Vance in the thirteenth inning paved the way for three runs and gave the Cubs a 6-to-3 victory over the Dodgers here today. Vance came into the game as a relief pitcher in the ninth inning with the score tied. He followed Phelps and Dudley to the mound.

Bud Teachout, who started for the Cubs, was knocked off the slab in the eighth when the Dodgers tied the score with a two-run rally. Guy Bush replaced Teachout and held the home team in check.

Blair started the Cubs' winning assault on Vance with a single. Scratch hits by English and Cuyler followed and Blair scored. Stephenson sent the last two runs home with a clean outfield single.

As a result of their defeat the Dodgers' lead over the Cubs was reduced to two games. The attendance was about 18,000.

BOBBY JONES TO PLAY IN CAPITAL

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 17.—Bobby Jones will play in a benefit match in Washington this fall to aid Bobby McWatt, who was the professional at the Baltimore Country Club until he was crippled in an automobile accident.

Walter R. McCallum, secretary of the Middle Atlantic Golf Assodiation, made this announcement today at the Maryland Country Club, where he is playing in the qualification rounds in the club's invitation golf tournament.

McWatt was injured two years ago and has been aided by his friends in keeping his family together. The physicians say that he will never be able to walk.

Jones, according to McCallum, will stop off in Washington on his way to the national amateur match in Philadelphia to play in the benefit. The amateur championship will be played the third week in September.

George Voigt, Washington amateur, will play with Jones against the two professionals, Leo Diegel, Professional Golfers Association champion, and Horton Smith.

McCallum said the friends of McWatt want to purchase a miniature golf course for the crippled professional, who went over the top seventeen times during the World War with a Scotch regiment.

Record for Chevy Chase Course Broken by Pro

The golf course record of the Chevy Chase Club was broken yesterday, when Ted Martin, 24-year-old professional of the Philadelphia Country Club, shot a 66, one better than the record established by Roland Mackenzie in 1928. Par for the course is 67. Martin shot a 33 on each nine holes.

In establishing the new mark, the Philadelphia pro went over par on but one hole, the eleventh, on which he took a five, two over par. Martin had three birdies on the outgoing nine—the third, fifth and sixth—and three on the incoming nine—the twelfth, fourteenth and fifteenth. Martin was accompanied by Bobby Burnett and Dr. F. W. Mackenzie.

CHAMPION IS FLOORED 3 TIMES BEFORE FINISHING RIGHT TO JAW GAINS NEW YORK YOUTH CROWN

Detail of First Round

(Associated Press.)

Singer, tanned a deep brown, was so eager he could hardly wait to get to the champion, while to Mandell this was an old story. Singer bounced sidewise from his corner, flicked out a left at the champion who was apparently unhampered by the weight and in splendid condition. A left hook dropped Mandell for a count of two. A right floored him for seven. Druggily he reeled under Singer's smashing attack and fell to the lower ropes. He came up at three. Singer nailed him again and with a volley to the head put the champion on the floor for the final count of ten.

Singer Overwhelms Title-Holder With Smashes to Chin.

Mandell Is Groggy After First Punch; Fails to Land Blow.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Special to The Washington Post.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, July 17.—A swaggering 21-year-old kid stalked and strutted on the historic old scaffold of the Garden Corporation's fighting at the Yankee Stadium this evening, beating Sammy Mandell unconscious in 1 minute and 46 seconds of the first round, for the lightweight championship of the world.

Al Singer, a New York boy of about three years' professional experience, won the title by a savage attack that spilled Mandell on the floor four times and finally left him sprawled flat on his back, his mouth agape, his eyes glazed and staring wide open into the blinding glow of the ring light.

Mandell did not land a blow. He went to his left as he emerged from his corner at the bell and Singer, who had gone to his left, broke off, this course and cut across the ring to attack him. Mandell pecked at him with his left. Singer offered a left lead to the body. They circled twice and then suddenly, after less than 30 seconds of fighting, Singer leaped in with a left hook that took Mandell on the chin and knocked him down. There was another flash of russet as Singer's right glove sailed over, catching Mandell on the jaw as he tottered to his first plunge and he was so badly hurt so early in the round that there was no chance for him to last until the bell.

Singer Whirls to Neutral Corner.

Singer whirled, confused and scrupulous about the technicalities of prize-fight law, measuring the distance to find the furthermost corner in accordance with the regulations.

Result Justifies Singer's Plan of Attack—Leonard

By BENNY LEONARD.
(Retired Lightweight Champion.)

NEW YORK, July 17 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Al Singer won the world's lightweight championship from Sammy Mandell here in the Yankee Stadium tonight because he fought the battle that he planned to fight, namely, he carried the battle right to the champion and kept tearing away, shooting his punches and forcing Mandell on the defensive.

Before this fight I said that Mandell would prove too brittle, too frail, for a rushing, aggressive young fighter with the punch like Al Singer. The result justifies my prediction.

While I was surprised at the speed with which Singer put through his plan, it seemed to me that ultimately Mandell would have to fall before Singer's blows.

Now Al Singer is a real honest to goodness champion and the dream of the Bronx youth is realized.

Before the fight Singer had made up his mind to crowd Mandell and he proceeded to do this as soon as the bell rang.

Mandell Tried To Box.

Mandell attempted to make it a boxing match, as Singer knew he would. Al watched for an opening and when he saw one he hustled right in and began throwing his punches. He threw them too fast and furious for Sammy to stand up under them. He caught Mandell with a short left hook and followed this with a right to the chin and that was the end of Mandell, for that punch then and there robbed him of his mental poise which was Sammy's big asset.

Each time Sammy went down, he looked worse and worse and the last time he was completely out.

Singer was overjoyed over his victory and he leaped about the ring like a kid with a new toy. Well, I'll say it's a toy and a mighty valuable bauble at that. I'm sure that the new champion will give those a chance who think they can take away his new toy. He will be a fighting champion, for he told me right after the fight that he would meet all comers.

I do not doubt that the effort of making weight robbed Mandell of much of his stamina, but as the fight was fought in the Stadium I believe Singer would have beaten Mandell even if Sammy had been a bit stronger.

Singer Meets Weight.

It is only natural that Mandell has slipped a bit but we must not detract from Singer's victory.

The kid looked like a real champion tonight. Mandell did not get over one single punch that had any effect. Singer is a real champion as far as the weight is concerned, for he entered the ring weighing 133½ pounds. He could have gone in a half pound lighter if necessary. Mandell weighed 134½.

All credit is to Singer. I hope he wears the crown for many years.

Alexander Repents; Taken Back by Dallas

Dallas, Tex., July 17 (A.P.).—Grover Cleveland Alexander, suspended by the Dallas Club two days ago for breaking training, will be given one more chance to redeem himself, Bob Tarleton, vice president of the club, announced today. The veteran pitcher worked out today and promised to be ready to pitch at Wichita Falls Sunday.

"He told me he would buckle down and do the right thing if I gave him another chance," Tarleton said. "I am taking him at his word."

Waivers were asked on Alexander and he was not claimed by any Texas club.

Cubs Lose Protest On Six o'Clock Law

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—President John A. Heydler, of the National League, today refused to allow Chicago's protest of the second game of the Cubs-Braves double-header played in Boston last Sunday.

The Braves won the game, 3 to 0, after the play had reverted back to the eighth inning to comply with the 6 o'clock Sunday baseball law in Boston.

U. S. AND ITALY OPEN DAVIS CUP ZONE FINAL TODAY

Lott Opposes Italian Ace In Paris

Draws de Monpurgo as Foe in Second Singles Match.

Allison to Face de Stefani; Doubles Pairs Unnamed.

PARIS, July 17 (A.P.). — Wilmer Allison, sensational young American conqueror of Henri Cochet at Wimbledon, will oppose Georgio de Stefani, of Italy, at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the opening match of the Interzone Davis Cup tennis final, and at 5 p. m. George Lott will meet the Italian ace, Baron Humbert de Morpurgo.

The pairings, determined today by drawing the names out of a hat, will be reversed for the concluding singles matches on Sunday. The doubles program was left in abeyance, and the teams to represent Italy and America in this phase of the competition on Saturday will not be named until tomorrow.

Italy's failure to designate its doubles representatives was reliably reported to be due to a feeling it might be best to play Baron de Morpurgo in singles only. The Italians have little hope of winning the doubles match and base their plans for capturing the series entirely on the possibility of De Morpurgo's winning two singles matches and De Stefani one.

Rest for Star Is Italy's Aim.

With Saturday in which to rest, the Italian strategists believe De Morpurgo would have a better chance to fulfill his part of this program. The same applies to De Stefani.

Accordingly, it is considered likely that Alberto del Bone and Placido Gaslini will play for Italy in the doubles against whichever team Capt. Fitz-Eugene Dixon, of the United States forces, elects to call upon. Both the Allison-Van Ryn and Lott-Doeg teams are considered superior to any doubles pairs in Europe.

This was further emphasized when Pierre Gillou, captain of the French team, hinted he might play Christian Boussous and Jacques Brugnon in doubles against the United States in the challenge round next week, saving Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra for singles.

American Victory Seen Certain.

Gillou gave the impression he has not the slightest doubt the United States will defeat Italy to qualify for the challenge round test and this view is shared by nine of ten of the tennis fans here.

In view of Italy's reluctance to name its Davis Cup doubles pair, Capt. Dixon decided he also would play a waiting game, taking advantage of the Davis Cup regulations which make it unnecessary to name the doubles players until tomorrow.

Cochet, the French ace, returned to Paris today after ten days' rest, looking in better physical condition than at any time since 1928.

—Arlington Park Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

BLUE LARKSPUR will be the favorite for the $35,000 Arlington Cup tomorrow, his lightning workout yesterday having increased the popularity of the Bradley horse. The absence of Gallant Fox from the race will also increase the backing for Blue Larkspur. Gallant Fox, now at Aqueduct, will be shipped to Saratoga in a few days. He will be met at Albany by a special engine to whirl him on the Spa without undergoing switching delay at that point.

FEATURE RACE — The Bouquet Purse for fillies features the Arlington Park card today. It is a mile race for 3-year-olds and up, with $1,800 added. LADY BROADCAST, withdrawn in a handicap a few days ago, will be favorite. She is a fast mare and probably will win, but HILARIA, which is coupled with CONCLAVE as the W. R. Coe entry, will give her a hard race. CONCLAVE is very speedy also but a bad actor at the post. MISS BESS is probably best of the others.

FIRST RACE—MASKED BALL is selected to win the first race for 2-year-old maiden fillies. The Greentree Stable is very strong with three fillies, the best of which probably is RAVE, which should be the contender. E. R. Bradley's BANAL GIRL ran well in New York but could never get home in front. She is dangerous in the race.

SECOND RACE—MAIDEN'S TRYST will have BLACK FLYER to beat in the second, which is at 6 furlongs. The first-named has much early speed and probably will get home first. HYPNOTISM looks best of the others, and if the track were muddy might have a chance.

THIRD RACE—The Bradley Stable is very strong in the third race, for 2-year-olds, having B'AR HUNTER, which won from a smart field at Belmont Park. This one looks like the best of the Bradley juveniles. LADDER may figure in the race, and won his last start. JOHN MILL will win a race before he leaves the West, but appears to be in deep water in this company.

FOURTH RACE—VOLTMETER is well placed in the fifth race, with JACK CRAIN the contender. CRYSTAL DOMINO may show. There will be strong competition in the race, outside of these three, especially from NYMPH KING, FRANCES MILWARD and MODERATION. VOLTMETER should beat these.

SIXTH RACE—There is little choice in the sixth race. SINON should have another chance, but he does not call for much. THE SHOW OFF and WOOD AXTON probably will figure in the race. They are all mere platers.

SEVENTH RACE—JACK HORGAN has a good chance to cop the seventh. UPSET LAD, if he was at his best on a fast track, might be regarded the contender. WOOD AXTON should be in the money.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—STONE MARTIN, $8.74, $4.72, $3.70; MODERN MAIDEN, $10.72, $7.20; ARIES, $4.00.

STONE MARTIN, kept close up on outside from start and making a strong challenge entering the stretch, took lead from GYPSIE CHIEF, drew away strongly in the run home and easily kept MODERN MAIDEN safe. MODERN MAIDEN was in close quarters most of the way, closed fast when clear in the stretch, outgaming ARIES in final strides. ARIES was shuffled back at the start and, after being outrun to the stretch, closed a good gap on outside and finished fast.

SECOND RACE—About One and one-half miles. Purse, $2,000; allowances. The Foxcatcher Hurdle. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 2:44½. Off at 2:51. ESME, always close up, raced on inside saving ground, came fast at the far turn and, getting through to the leaders entering the stretch, drew away into long lead, winning in a canter. MOLERITO was never far off the pace, improved his position gradually and made a strong bid in the stretch, but could not get to the winner and easily bested remainder. TENNESSEEAN got away very poorly, raced far back in early stages but gaining rapidly in final quarter, closed an immense gap and finished fast on the outside. THE ALDERMAN, shuffled back at start, also came from far out of it and closed a wide gap, but tired near the end.

FLAMING, away well from start, followed leaders closely to stretch, came fast on the outside, overtook JEANNE WACHS and OUTER HARBOR inside final furlong and drew out strongly. STOP GAP was forward contender and, closing gamely, held on well in the drive, outgaming JEANNE WACHS right at end.

PIGEON HOLE was gradually eased back off the pace in the first three-quarters but, coming fast in stretch, closed strongly and, getting through on inside, wore down JOCK and HOT TODDY, gradually getting up to win in final fifty yards. HOT TODDY came with a great rush after leaving back stretch, got through on inside of JOCK, heading latter entering the stretch, drew clear in run home, but when Watters let PIGEON HOLE through on inside, was caught napping and HOT TODDY could not withstand winner. JOCK set fast pace to nearing the stretch turn, but tired. COG AIR had early speed, but was done in stretch.

PRETTY POSE raced into command going to the first turn, made a good pace to the stretch, began tiring when QUIBBLER charged up on outside but, holding on well in long, hard final drive, just lasted to win in hair-line finish. QUIBBLER, far back in early stages while outrun, gained fast going to the far turn and, closing an immense gap, joined winner an eighth out and just missed wearing her down at the end. PIGEON HOLE SETS TRACK RECORD

Runs Mile at Fastest Time in Arlington Park Feature.

CHICAGO, July 17 (A.P.).—Still another track record went by the board today when Hal Price Headley's Pigeon Hole, the 5-year-old gelded son of Hollister out of Pigeon Pie, flashed under the wire the winner of the Hickory Purse, the featured number on the card at Arlington Park today. His time for the mile route was 1:36 flat, cutting one-fifth of a second from the record hung up by Equation five days ago. Hot Toddy, from K. E. Hitt's Stable, was next best, with E. B. McLean's Jock third.

The race was an allowance affair for 4-year-olds and upward, and was worth $1,310 to the winner. Pigeon Hole rewarded his backers at $18.52 for a $2 mutuel ticket.

Pigeon Hole was rated along not far off the pace for the first 6 furlongs, was given his head and responding gamely though the stretch, found an opening on the rail, wore down Jock and Hot Toddy in the final drive and was up to win by three-quarters of a length.

Hot Toddy outside of contention to the far turn came fast nearing the home turn, went into command, but when Pigeon Hole slipped through on the rail, Jockey Watters was caught off guard and Hot Toddy was unequal to the task and finished second by two lengths. Jock set the pace to the far turn and held on well after being headed by Hot Toddy to near the finish, where he tired, but lasted to take third money by two and a half lengths over Cog Air.

Bather Annexes Latonia Feature.

Latonia, Ky., July 17 (A.P.).—Bather, a good thing in the wagering, won the Erlanger Purse here this afternoon over the mile and a sixteenth route, which was fifth on the program. Thistle Star was second and Quiver got the show. The distance was covered in 1:47 3-5 and the winner rewarded his backers with $8.64 for each $2 ticket.

Jockey F. Chiavetta, who had the mount on the winner, was away well and led the field the entire trip to win by a half length, although Bather was tiring at the end and had to be shaken up to outstay Thistle Star's rush. Quiver was always close up to the leaders, but apparently was not good enough to overhaul them.

Hibala, Favorite, Wins at Empire.

Empire City Race Track, N. Y., July 17 (A.P.).—Mrs. R. T. Wilson's Hibala, ridden by the veteran jockey, Mack Garner, scored a length victory in a sensational finish in the Sprightful Stakes, feature here today. The colt was a hot favorite and his victory was due largely to Garner's energetic ride. Blind Lane, receding favorite, was second and the California Stable's General A. third. Sydka, the only other starter, was fourth at last.

The start was good and Blind Lane jumped away to the lead, but was never able to get very far away from the field. General A. hung to her closely, while Hibala was third, about two lengths back. Around the turn Sydka slipped through on the inside and made a bid, but almost at the same moment Garner sent Hibala up, driving the colt through between Sydka, on the rail, and Blind Lane, on the outside. Hibala took command and won by a length.

Blind Lane beat General A. half a length for the place. The race was worth $3,845.

TEN D. C. GOLFERS IN TITLE FLIGHT IN MARYLAND

Knapp's Card Of 70 Wins Medal

Sasscer and Burnett Falter With Chance to Gain Honor.

Match Play to Start Today; D. C. Men in All 16's.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

MARYLAND COUNTRY CLUB, Baltimore, Md., July 17.—The low medal round of 70 made yesterday in the first day of the qualification round of the annual invitation tournament of the Maryland Country Club by Alex H. Knapp, Maryland State amateur champion and runner-up in the recent Middle Atlantic championship, took the honors. Two contestants from Washington threatened him in the second round of qualification played today, however.

On the fourteenth tee, Leroy D. Sasscer, Indian Spring, needed only pars for the remaining holes to tie with 70, and Volney Burnett, Beaver Dam, was in the same enviable position on the fifteenth tee. Unfortunately, both faltered on the final holes and finished with 73.

None the less, the Washington golfers, more than 60 in number, came through with flying colors in the qualification rounds. In the first or championship flight no less than 10 out of the 16 qualifiers represented Washington clubs, even though no score over 76 qualified in this first sixteen.

10 Washingtonians In First Flight.

This roll of honor included Volney Burnett, Beaver Dam, 73; Leroy D. Sasscer, Indian Spring, 73; J. Monro Hunter, jr., Indian Spring, 74; Austin M. Porter, Columbia, 75; Roger Peacock, Argyle, 76; Lindsay Stott, Beaver Dam, 76; J. B. Murphy, Columbia, 76; Harry G. Pitt, Manor, 76; Thomas S. Pitt, Argyle, 76, and Albert R. Mackenzie, Columbia, 76; John P. Holzberg, Columbia, 77, lost out of the first sixteen by one stroke.

It was to have been expected that a goodly number of the Washington players contesting in a field which contained a large number of real golfers should have failed to qualify with 85 or better, which was the highest score to be eligible for match play, but in accordance with the generous custom of the Maryland Country Club, a sixth and seventh sixteens, known as the Washington or out-of-town special, was provided in order to give the players from the National Capital an opportunity to play throughout the two remaining days of the tournament. All through the regular five sixteens, however, there is a fine sprinkling of Washington players.

The pairings for the first sixteen tomorrow are as follows:

Alex H. Knapp, 70 (Baltimore C. C.), vs. Roger Peacock, 76 (Argyle); J. Monro Hunter, 74 (Indian Spring), vs. Volney Burnett, 73 (Beaver Dam); Albert R. Pitt, 76 (Manor); Austin M. Porter, 75 (Columbia), vs. Lindsay Stott, 76 (Beaver Dam); H. E. Whitaker, 73 (Maryland C. C.), vs. W. J. English, 75 (Maryland C. C.); H. A. Yanks Pound 21 Hits To Rout Browns, 16-7

St. Louis, July 17 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—There is a big sign in Sportsman's Park here of something which "stops knocks." Phil Ball should get a lot of it for his ball club, for it's a cinch his pitchers can not. The Yanks collected 21 knocks, decorated by home runs by Lyn Lary and Harry Rice, in taking their second game of the series today, lengthening their winning streak to four games, the losing streak of the Browns to seven, and dropping the drooping losers into last place. The score was 16 to 7.

At the half way mark, believe it or not, the Browns had a three-run lead. They blasted George Pipgras, Yankee starting pitcher, loose in the fifth with a five-run rally and Lou McEvoy, newest of the Shawkey pitching staff, was hurried in. He steadied after a bad start and went four innings nicely, allowing only three hits and one run after the fifth.

5th in Row for French; 16 Braves Left on Base

Boston, July 17 (A.P.).—A 6-to-2 victory over the Boston Braves today gave Larry French, Pirate left-hander his fifth straight win of the season, Comorosky and Traynor backing Franch with heavy hitting, although George Sisler, of the Braves, shared the hitting honors for the day.

The Bostonians had 16 men left on bases. Every Pirate hit safely with the exception of Suhr and his sacrifice scored a run in the sixth.

League double in short left with Harris on first at the time.

Jones hit Morgan on the arm in the third, but, judging from the manner in which Spencer threw him out when he later tried to steal, the blow crippled him in the legs.

The Nationals' pitcher gave another exhibition of fancy fielding in the home fourth, when he raced over to first to complete a double play, taking Cronin's return throw after Shires had started the twin murder.

Johnson and Schacht, who swapped places in the coaching boxes in one of the Detroit games and saw the Nationals suddenly rally and win, tried out the plan again today, starting the fifth. When Myer led off with a single it looked as though this might have changed the Nationals' luck, but Rice then forced Myer and Cronin followed with a tap which was turned into a double play.

West had to show some of his well-known sprinting ability to come in close behind second for Hudlin's pop in round five.

Bluege's theft of second with two dead in the sixth figured prominently. It enabled him to score on Spencer's single, the run he brought home breaking a 2-all deadlock.

Some fine work by Catcher Spencer and Art Shires helped Jones out of his troubles in the alien sixth. With Morgan on first, Hodapp dropped a sacrifice toward third. Bluege, coming in for the play, could not get back to third and Morgan dashed for the uncovered base. Spencer also dashed there and took Shires' perfect peg to nail the runner on a close play.

Goldman made a nice play when he retired Rice in the seventh. He took the bounder just as it started to take a bad hop past him.

Jones issued his first pass of the game when he walked Sewell starting the eighth and he was credited with his first strikeout when he fanned Goldman ending it. Between these events the Nationals turned in their third double play of the day.

Bluege went over in front of Cronin to make a pretty one-handed stop of Jamieson's high bounder in the eighth.

Reds Outslug Phillies Despite 8-Run Inning

Philadelphia, July 17 (A.P.).—The Cincinnati Reds defeated the Phillies today, 14 to 9, in a dizzy contest. The Reds piled up a 14 to 0 lead, but the Phillies got busy in the eighth and knocked Rixey off the mound, scoring eight runs. They add ' another counter in the ninth.

O'Doul and Klein kept up their terrific hitting streak, the former w' three hits and the 'atter with four. O'Doul and Meusel hit home r this season. Whether or not a cure was effected remains to be seen, but that it did no harm is indicated by the fact that Schacht did not need crutches while coaching behind third today.

The substitution of Art Shires at first today in place of Joe Judge was not decided upon by Manager Johnson until just before today's game. It is not to be permanent unless "The Great One" hits and fields at such a clip that it would be foolish to make a change.

"Using Shires is just part of the plan I had in mind when I got him," said Johnson after today's game. "All players get in a slump at times during a season and a rest frequently does them good. Joe is in one right now, while Shires has been hitting well when I have sent him to the plate as a pinch-hitter. Art is a good fielder—although not quite in Judge's class—and using him now might strengthen us at this time.

"What I'm getting at," the Nat leader concluded, "is that I may be able to so juggle this pair that I can always get some good hitting from my first baseman by yanking one when he slumps and using the other. Things may not work out this way, but the scheme is worth trying, I think."

Before today's game, Manager Roger Peckinpaugh, of the Tribe, was presented with a set of golf clubs by the Al Sirat Grotto, of which both he and Nick Altrock are members.

Joe Engel left here this morning on a scouting trip. It is understood that he is headed South and will "cover" most of the minor leagues in this section.

Giants Whip Cards, 12-9, To Hold Fourth Place

New York, July 17.—Threatened with a drop into fourth place, the Giants rose and smote the St. Louis pitching today for fifteen solid hits and a 12-to-9 victory to make their position safe for a while.

The Cardinals also did some heavy hitting, getting 20 blows off four New York pitchers, but they were not so effective. St. Louis barely missed equaling the National League record for having men left on bases. They had seventeen runners stranded.

Clarence Mitchell, who started for the Giants, got credit for the victory over his former mates although Heving, Fitzsimmons and finally Hubbell were called upon for duty as the Cardinals rallied late in the game and scored four runs in the ninth.

SINGER WINS MANDELL'S CROWN

Knocks Out Champ in First Round by Rights to Jaw.

but in his elation he was a bad judge of distance and backed his shoulders into the angle of the ropes in a corner only a stride from where Mandell was rolling himself to his haunches.

At the count of two Mandell was up, stunned, wobbly and with a desperate expression on his weary features. Singer, kneading his gloves and baring his teeth in a sinister grin, let himself fly at the beaten champion again and slugged him down with both gloves, entirely on the jaw. Mandell had no defense. His arms were only half raised and he had no strength, but only courage to keep him up.

It was no particular punch that sent him down the next time after he had lurched across the ring, shocked and jolted by a general attack. He stood up as long as his legs would hold him, and finally a volley of free-flung blows from both hands dumped him again.

Mandell Down for Count of Seven.

In Mandell's corner, the white, frightened face of Eddie Kane, his manager, showed above the platform. Mandell sagged along the ropes and went to his hands and knees on his own side of the ring this time for a count of seven and when he came up, Singer, with nothing to fear now, was grinning and waving his gloves in preparatory gestures.

Mandell now held his feet against a terrific beating. His head rocked, his lips slobbered and the red gloves whipped in furiously, all to his jaw with the exception of one long left hook to the pit of the body that brought his tired arms down and exposed him to another left hook which spilled him for another instant. Still he came up and there was something of the neighborhood bully in Singer's face as he went back to his slugging. The referee, Arthur Donovan, might have stopped the fight at any time after the second knockdown if this had not been a bout for a championship and if the town gamblers had not been offering odds of three to one on Singer during the afternoon.

Cruel Elation in Winner's Face.

The bout was under suspicion, however, and Donovan, when he had finished repeating the knockdown timer's count to Mandell's dazed intelligence, stood back and gave a game little fighter the privilege of going to his defeat fighting. Never has your correspondent seen such cruel elation in the face of a prize fighter beating a helpless victim as Singer wore when he went out for his kill after Mandell arose the last time.

There was none of that humane concern that fighters usually show in such circumstances when they glance at the referee with an unspoken, "Do you want me to kill him?" and he was unlike the insensate Dempsey, used to keep on punching, oblivious and wild until his man lay stretched at his feet when he seemed to be released from some madness. This Singer was enjoying the slaughter of a sportsman and now he was slugging him again.

Mandell made one desperate call on his strength and tried a right hand to the body, but the punch was weak and Singer came on, drumming him on the head and chin with both fists. This was a prolonged assault and Mandell lurched across the ring to lean against the ropes. Singer's punches were body-bag smashes, of the kind that hopeless hams throw against the swinging canvas sack in the gymnasiums to induce a delusion of power and conquest. He wasn't aiming, but merely throwing until Mandell lay spent on the ropes, too far gone to raise a hand, but still too game to accept an excuse.

Mandell Goes Down With Bang.

Finally, Singer steadied for an instant, sighted down his left arm like a hunter squinting down the barrel of a gun and shot across a right-hand smash to the chin. Mandell spun like a penny and went down with a bang on his back. His head hit hard on the wadded boards of the ring floor, his arms flung out and his toes pointed at the sky. Singer picked a distant corner and went to it dancing as Donovan picked up the knockdown timer's count and barked it in Mandell's ear.

In Sammy's corner, Kane, Doc Bagley and Old Barney Furey, the Negro trainer who handled Ad Wolgast and other champions before him, were crouching on the green wooden steps waiting for the cry of "ten and out." When it came it was Donovan, not Singer, who raised the touseled black head out of the brown resin and half raised the unconscious boy in his arms. Kane, Bagley and Furey went stumbling across the ring, colliding in their haste, lifted Mandell to his corner and emptied a water bottle over his head.

Singer Forgets Ring Manners.

Singer, in the meantime, was bouncing about the ring in self-congratulation. He looked out over the press rows and waved to a friend who was up on a chair, alert to run with a new champion. Some one reminded him of his ring manners and he started for Mandell's corner to enact the perfunctory show of sportsmanship traditional between the victor and the fallen, but some one then called him to the radio and he turned away to issue his first speech from the throne. He danced along the ropes to his own corner and let fly a playful punch at Hymie Caplin, his manager, a brother of the late "Kid" Dropper, one of historic gangsters of the town. Caplin let fly a playful punch back and they embraced in the corner.

Mandell recovered in a few minutes and when he left the ring, still hurt and unsteady from a heroic stand, there were cries of "boo" from out of the darkness in the stadium. Sammy drew his black silk bathrobe close about him, picked his way down the steps, dejected and with tears running down his cheeks, and was enfolded by the crowd now milling in the aisles.

The fight, as fought, seemed quite sincere, and if there were any arrangements as to the outcome it was not necessary to invoke them. Mandell was badly beaten, and Singer fought a commanding fight from the first left hook that put Sammy down.

Mandell was still foggy 20 minutes after he left the ring, but he said he might go on fighting for a while as a welterweight.

Mandell Boiled Down To Weight.

To all who watched Sammy in his training it looked as though he had lost much vitality reducing himself to the weight for his class, 135 pounds at 2 o'clock. He had boiled and sweltered in his dressing room at Gus Wilson's camp for hours, wrapped in woolly blankets on hot summer afternoons, and his complexion was chalky and his eyes shadowy. In the morning, after one experimental visit to the scales, he went twice around the half-mile track in the Yankee Stadium. He might have done this to remove the last few ounces of weight, but he insisted that this road work was merely his customary morning walk and maintained that the weight had been no problem at all.

So he burned his alibi before he entered the ring, but it was apparent that he was no longer the strong, agile young man he was two years ago.

The prize fight was a commercial disappointment to the Garden firm. The attendance appeared not to exceed 25,000 and the gate receipts were estimated variously between $150,000 and $200,000, of which Mandell was supposed to receive 37½ per cent and Singer 12½ per cent.

Baker Wins Over Page In Winchester Tennis

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., July 17.—W. A. ("Sandy") Baker, veteran of the baseball lots and tennis courts, won from Nelson Page in finals of the invitation tennis tournament played on the Winchester Golf Club courts yesterday afternoon. Three of the five sets were played the day before and left Page leading, 2 to 1, but when play was resumed Baker came back to take two straight sets and win, 6—3, 0—6, 3—6, 6—2, 6—3.

"Sandy" had his shots working, which told most of the tale. Page lost not a few points by premature attempts to gain the net against a player whose accuracy makes such attempts just a point gone. With a championship tournament scheduled for next month, it is probable the two veterans, also first cousins, will tie up in finals again, for they seem to have an edge on the other players.

Public Parks Pairings To Be Listed Tomorrow

Pairings for the public parks championship tennis tournament will be announced tomorrow morning in The Post. Entries closed last night. Play will commence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rock Creek, Monument and Potomac Park courts being designated for first-round matches.

TO PLAY ONE GAME.

The Georgetown and National Capital Insect Nines will play but one game Sunday instead of two as originally scheduled. These teams tied for the section B title of the Capital City League and are to engage in a three-game series to determine which shall engage the section A champions.

D. G. S. NINE DRILLS.

District Grocery Store Nine will practice on No. 2 diamond at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. The team will play Capitol Heights on Sunday at 3 p. m. in the Maryland A. C. Park.

Navy Grid Attraction Shifted to Baltimore

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., July 17.—Annapolis today lost what had been expected to prove its biggest home football game. Lieut. Comdr. Frederick G. Reinecke, director of football, announced, following a telephone conversation with athletic officials of Southern Methodist University, that it had been agreed to shift the game between the Texans and Middies to the Baltimore City Municipal Stadium.

"The move was necessary because we do not have the facilities here to handle the crowds anticipated. Southern Methodist has already chartered six trains from Dallas, Tex., and six from New York City, thus they will have a huge delegation which alone would take half of the field here," Reinecke said.

Burroughs Increases Tennis League Lead

Adams' Yacht, Yankee, Wins Cup Race Test

Newport, R. I., July 17 (A.P.).—Yankee, Boston-built yacht, defeated Weetamoe and Enterprise in a 30-mile race off here today. Skippered by Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy, the Yankee went into the lead before the turn and held it to the end. The race, one of a series to determine the defender of America's Cup, was run without Whirlwind, a fourth contender, withdrawn for changes to her rigging and sail.

Weetamoe, which had won five straight races in the present series, finished second, 3 minutes behind the winner. Enterprise trailed in third place, 5 minutes behind Yankee. It was the best race of the series, with a wind of 17 knots.

LEAGUE WILL DEFY DRAFT RULING

International Brands Majors' Ultimatum Break of Faith.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 17 (A.P.).—The International League will "go it alone" rather than submit to the universal draft ultimatum sent to it by the major leagues, its members decided at a special meeting here today.

By a unanimous vote the club owners of the league adopted a resolution which stated that "unless the major leagues show us more than they have in their communication the International League will go it alone."

The International members branded the ultimatum sent to them a few days ago as a direct violation of an agreement drawn up in 1921 by John A. Heydler, president of the National League, and Ban Johnson, head of the American League at that time. That agreement, they said, contained a clause which provided that it "shall remain in force as long as the Hon. Kenesaw M. Landis continues to hold the office of commissioner."

Under that agreement five leagues—the International, American Association, Pacific Coast, Three Eye and Western—were to be allowed to operate under a modified agreement which provided that only players having had previous major league experience could be drafted by the major leagues.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

ALEXANDRIA, July 17.—Director J. Prex Wilson, of the municipal playground system, today stated that the American Legion Juniors would play Charlottesville (Va.) Post Team, July 22, in the State championship series in Richmond. This is the opening encounter for the boys.

Funds are being solicited from Alexandrians to aid in paying the team's expenses to the Virginia capital city. If the Alexandria nine is victor in the series, the remainder of their expenses for national competition will be paid by the State organization.

Judge Donald Weems, of Winchester, Va., was elected president of the Tristate Golf Association at a recent meeting held in Martinsburg, W. Va. Thomas E. Sebrell, jr., Belle Haven Club, of Alexandria, was named vice president and Archie Campbell, of Martinsburg, secretary-treasurer.

The Winchester Golf and Country Club Team was recognized as the association champions and awarded a handsome trophy for tournament performances. It is expected several new clubs will enter the association for the 1932 season. Beaudric L. Howell, of Alexandria, is the retiring president.

Country clubs who are affiliated with the tristate body are Belle Haven, Alexandria; Winchester, Martinsburg and Purcellville.

The St. Mary's Celtics Baseball Team will oppose Martinsburg Hose Company No. 5 in Sunday's attraction at Baggaett's Stadium. This game begins at 3 o'clock.

Athletic Director Robert McDonald, of Potomac Yard, is making plans for a gigantic field in August. The 10-mile marathon race will be a feature. Two baseball games will be included in the program.

Competition in the Municipal Insect and Midget Baseball Leagues in Alexandria is very keen. The Red Robins gained a tighter hold on first place today in the Insect class when they defeated the Columbias, while in the Midget League the White Sox Nine continued as leaders, defeating the St. John's tossers, 8-7.

INDUSTRIAL STOCKS RISE; UTILITIES DIP

Amusements and Specialties Also Advance, but Gains Prove Slight.

MONEY CONTINUES EASY

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—The stock market fooled some of the experts today by going still higher. In many quarters a general technical reaction, based on the advances of the last ten days, had been expected; instead, the bulls were able to hold the balance of power, staging a late demonstration in the industrials.

Advances in that group, as well as in numerous specialties, were offset to a large extent by the easier tone of the utilities, and the market's price index showed a net gain of less than a point. The stronger stocks in the more favored sections rose 1 to 5 points, with scattering advances of larger extent, but most of the light and power company shares met mild pressure.

Prices were again irregular at the opening, and again they were moving higher by noon. The early afternoon dealings saw a period of uncertainty in which some of the leaders dipped about a point, but the last half hour brought strong support to the pool favorites, including the amusement shares.

Such issues as American Can, American Telephone, Eastman Kodak, Jones-Manville and Vanadium rose 3 to 5 net, while Loew's, Fox and Warner Brothers advanced a point or so. Wrigley was particularly strong, running up more than 5 points to a new high. Among the less active shares, Vulcan Detinning rallied 15. National Cash Register shot up 11 in what looked like a run in of the short interest.

Commodities Are Irregular.

Commodities were irregular, influenced almost entirely by the weather. Wheat fluctuated about a cent in both directions and closed half a cent lower on forecasts of lower temperatures in the Northwest. Corn moved more narrowly, easing on the day. Cotton advanced on reports of continued dry weather in the Western and Central belts, reacted slightly and then firmed, finishing 4 to 12 points higher.

Wall street derived a little encouragement from one or two optimistic statements by prominent industrial leaders. Most of the published earnings reports compared unfavorably with a year ago, while the Department of Labor's unemployment figures revealed a drop of 1.8 per cent in June. News from the oil industry continued favorable, for the agreement of the Texas operators to reduce output brings those fields in line with the restrictions adopted by California and Oklahoma flush pool producers.

Brokers loans advanced for the first time in six weeks. The gain of $40,000,000, following the $898,000,000 shrinkage from June 3 to last week, was in line with Wall street's estimates. Although the market advanced during the period covered by the report, the volume of trading has been small and some of the buying has been in the form of short covering.

Money continued easy, call loans holding at 2 per cent while rates on short term time accommodations were lowered a shade. The weekly Federal Reserve statement showed a decrease of $23,000,000 in the system's holdings of bills and securities and of $29,000,000 in discounts.

Business Still Unchanged.

In general, there was nothing in the business situation to indicate a change. The Annalist announced that according to its index, activity in June had declined to approximately the lowest level in six years, and that on the basis of the movement of commercial paper rates the expected upturn might come "almost any time in the last half of 1930 or the first quarter of 1931."

"In business itself," added the publication, "there are not many indications of an immediate upturn. Construction contracts showed marked improvement in June, but the gain was largely the result of exceptional items which may or may not recur. Otherwise present indications are that expectations of an upturn prior to September or October are likely to be disappointed."

A few of the pivotal industrial stocks moved very slowly. United States Steel touched a new high on the recovery but was up only ⅝ on the day. General Electric closed unchanged and General Motors was off an eighth. Consolidated Gas rose more than a point coincident with unconfirmed reports that its subsidiary, New York Edison, was planning a hookup with Niagara Hudson for an interchange of power.

Foreign exchanges were irregularly lower, featured by breaks in Brazil and Spain.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, July 17 A.P.).—Early advances on complaints of continued dry weather in Western and Central belt sections combined with fairly steady Liverpool cables were followed by partial reactions in cotton here today.

Offerings were comparatively light, however, and, after selling off from 12.94 to 12.87 compared with 12.77 at the close of 12.87 compared with 12.7 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed steady at net advances of 4 to 12 points.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 13 points in response to the steady cables and the failure of the weather reports to indicate any rain of consequence in the Western and Central belts. July contracts sold up to 13.01 and the new December to 13.10 on the initial demand, making net advances of about 8 points on July and of 14 to 17 points on the more active new crop positions. These prices attracted some realizing, while there may have been a little selling during the afternoon on reports of reactions from earliest advances in the wheat market.

July was relatively weak selling off to 12.80 under liquidation accompanied by reports that notices representing about 2,400 bales of cotton had been issued. Old October sold off from 13.20 to 13.06, while the new December declined to 12.98, which carried the market about 13 points net lower on July and within 2 or 3 points of yesterday's closing quotations on the new crop months. Closing prices were well up from the lowest on renewed covering.

Reports of further showers in the Eastern belt were commented upon by some traders as likely to promote boll weevil activity, but others considered the Eastern belt weather favorable for plant development. Dry weather in Central and Western sections was more generally emphasized by local brokers as the factor on the advance, although some traders thought they saw indications for some showers in the West within the next day or two.

Liverpool cables reported covering and trade buying in that market and said there was an improved inquiry for cotton cloths from China. Exports today, 11,179, making 6,762,975 so far this season. Port receipts, 1,367. United States port stocks, 1,593,205.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 17 (A.P.).—Enlarging receipts of wheat here and at other primary centers, together with greater skepticism shown as to crop damage reports, finally overburdened wheat prices today.

After an unusually numerous succession of advances and setbacks in quotations the market ruled lower in the late dealings despite an authoritative, unofficial summary suggesting that the spring wheat harvest in the four principal States would be 19,000,000 bushels less than the Government's July 1 forecast. Primary receipts of wheat in the United States today, including 309 cars at Chicago, totaled 3,886,000 bushels, against 2,386,000 bushels a week ago.

Closing quotations on wheat were uneasy, ¼-⅜c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to ⅝c down, oats ¼c off to ⅛c up, and provisions varying from 42c decline to 15c advance.

Today's receipts of wheat at the chief domestic terminals not only exceeded the total a week ago, but also outdid to a substantial extent the aggregate at the corresponding time last year. Reports of additional moisture today in the drought districts of Canada tended likewise to give an advantage to believers in lower prices. Considerable notice, too, was taken of dispatches saying the wheat crop outlook in the Red River Valley region of North Dakota and Minnesota is the best in years.

On the other hand, persistent reports of crop deterioration elsewhere in the American Northwest and in Canada failed to bring about sustained buying, and it was evident throughout the day that price bulges were failing to hold well, despite assertions that North American export business in the last few days has amounted to upward of 6,000,000 bushels.

One of the handicaps to friends of higher prices was a Washington report that the administration has determined upon practical abandonment of the stabilization feature of the agricultural marketing act, except in an emergency, and then only when the Farm Board is convinced that the emergency will be transient. Word that black rust has spread into Canada and, in some cases, is attacking the stems of wheat was received as the day drew to an end, but was without any pronounced market effect.

Corn weakened after a forecast was out pointing to likelihood of showers and cooler weather for much of the corn belt. Announcement that the Iowa corn crop prospect has been reduced 20,000,000 bushels since July 1 was a stimulus to early buying, but for at least the time being seemed to lose effect in the face of expected better weather and as a result of late downturns in wheat values. Oats were higher early, but reacted with other grain.

For the most part, provisions were firmer, responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

UNIFICATION OF NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY AND GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY

New York City, July 17, 1930.

To Holders of Stock and Certificates of Deposit for Stock of Northern Pacific Railway Company and Great Northern Railway Company:

On March 21st the Committee advised you of the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission finding the unification of the Northern Lines to be in the public interest, subject to compliance with four conditions summarized in that letter. At the same time you were advised of the effort of the Committee and the Executives of the Northern Lines to work out a modified plan consonant with the decision of the Commission and with the best interests of the stockholders and the public.

This effort was proceeding and the Committee felt that it was making progress when a joint resolution passed the United States Senate which, if concurred in by the House, would doubtless have prevented, until after March 4, 1931, any action by the Commission upon such modified plan. A proposed substitute resolution had not been acted on in the House when Congress adjourned, and the matter is still pending.

In the opinion of the Committee it was not in the interest of the stockholders to proceed with a modified plan while such legislation was under consideration, nor will it be in their interest to proceed until the definite attitude of Congress toward the matter at its next session shall have been ascertained.

Interim Right of Withdrawal. In view of the inevitable delay occasioned by this legislative situation, the Depositaries have been instructed to receive stock for deposit, or release stock upon application, without restriction and without expense to depositors. The period of unrestricted deposit and withdrawal will continue for at least three months, and thereafter until forty days after the Committee shall have given notice of its intention to proceed with a modified plan or to abandon further effort.

Recommendation of the Committee. Inasmuch as the stock certificates and deposit certificates will thus become for the first time fully interchangeable, and, as below stated, full opportunity to withdraw after presentation of a modified plan will in any event be accorded to depositing stockholders, it does not appear that the stockholders have anything to lose, and it would seem that they may have much to gain by leaving their stock on deposit for the present and thus authorizing their Committee to continue its efforts on their behalf. In the judgment of the Committee it would be to the advantage of the stockholders to proceed with the plan if the situation should be clarified within a reasonable time, and the Committee therefore recommends that all stockholders leave their stock on deposit until the Committee sends out a further communication, giving notice of its intention either to proceed with a modified plan or to abandon further effort.

Ultimate Right of Withdrawal. If later on sufficient stock shall, in the opinion of the Committee, remain on deposit to justify further effort and other conditions shall appear favorable for the consummation of the unification plan, modified as may be required, such plan will in due course, and as promptly as conditions permit, be presented to the Commission and to the stockholders, who will be given ample opportunity, on forty days' notice as provided in the Plan, to indicate their approval or disapproval of such modified plan and to withdraw their stock without charge if they disapprove.

For the Committee
Francis T. Ward,
Secretary.

BOND PRICES MOVE SLOWLY FORWARD

Rail Group Holds Steady as Several Foreign Issues Score Advances.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY OFF

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—The listed bond market had another quiet session today, traveling forward at a slow pace, with the movement in many instances hardly perceptible. Trading was dull and the reluctance of investors to augment their buying was ascribed in some quarters to the expectation that firmer money rates are in the offing although most bond men feel that easy credit conditions will prevail throughout the summer.

There were few recessions among the railroad group, which held firm, with substantial gains recorded by some of the most active issues. The sustained strength of equity issues on the big board influenced increased trading in stock privilege issues and closing prices were generally higher, particularly in railroad issues. A few foreign issues showed strength while the rest of the group remained quiet and steady.

Pennsylvania 4½s Rise.

Atchison 4½s (California-Arizona division) were active at a new 1930 high. New York Central 4s gained nearly a point to establish a year's peak price. Missouri Pacific issues and Pennsylvania 4½s and 4s were higher. Canadian National 5s, St. Paul 5s, and Southern Railway 6s eased, the latter losing 1½ points.

Rock Island convertible 4½s profited to the extent of ½ point under heavy accumulation and other rail bonds with stock privilege features held firm. Among other convertibles, the 1¼ rise of the American Telephone 4½s, was outstanding. International Telephone 4½s held steady.

European Issues Firm.

Western European governments were firm. Bonds of British dominions were active; Canadian 4½s reached a new high for the year and Australian 5s held firm. Several bonds of Belgium were accumulated. The new Austrian 7s sold at ¼ premium above the offering price of 95. Austrian 7s of 1958 made a similar advance. Brazilian issues were strong, regaining part of yesterday's losses. Mexican 4s rose 4¼ points. Serbian 7s reached a new 1930 peak. Lautaro and Anglo-Nitrate bonds were strong. United States Governments continued dull and moved irregularly downward.

New offerings expected tomorrow include $5,750,000 Chicago South Park Commissioners 4 per cent improvement bonds. Several utility bond issues are expected within a few days to raise more than $100,000,000. They include $17,000,000 Pacific Power & Light 5s, $40,000,000 Texas Power & Light Co. and $50,000,000 Pacific Gas & Electric Co. 4½s.

Your Re-Investment Yardstick . .

To Those Whose Investments Mature in July:

HOW will you measure the worth of a new security? By potential earnings, plus undeveloped holdings, plus estimated total market, minus consumer inertia, minus danger of mechanical development—all divided by 3.1416—or any other formula financial gamblers have evolved to help them guess at the value of speculative Wall Street Stocks . . .

Or will you measure your re-investment choice by the old, time-tested yard stick which has never failed any man—PROVEN SAFETY of interest and principal?

The 6% First Mortgage Notes on improved Washington property sold through the Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Company have never fluctuated a penny in value—they are always exactly at par. During 61 years of widely varying conditions they have always paid every investor a regular, unfailing return—each payment made exactly on the day it is due.

First Mortgages now pay the highest return of any safe investment, and now is the time for you to take advantage of it.

EDUCATIONAL WORK OF BANKS CHANGED

Courses Given by Institute Must Be Attended 75 Per Cent of Time.

ANOTHER ROOM PLANNED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Tuition to be charged for all courses in Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking's curriculum, by decision of the District of Columbia Bankers Association at its convention at Asheville, N. C., in June, will be payable in two installments, according to action taken last night by the chapter's educational committee. Half of the charge will be payable on enrollment and the other half by November 1 of the school year, which opens the latter part of September. Tuition charges recommended at the Asheville convention are $5 for all first-year courses, $10 for other standard and prestandard courses, prices of advanced courses remaining at $15.

The committee further decided that students must attend 75 per cent of all classes instead of 65. Failure to attain this means disqualification for graduation. Inability of students to attended classes because of illness or actual night work at banks where they are employed will be given consideration by the committee, however, and these excuses will be accepted. Allowance was also made in the schedule of classes so that students may miss five night's instruction during the term for other causes and yet attain their required attendance percentage.

While the addition of courses in public speaking, debating and trust functions were discussed, no definite action was taken. Plans for improvement of the chapter's headquarters in the Becker Building now call for rearrangement of class rooms, giving an extra room, installation of better lighting and probably electric fans.

Northeast Building Head.

James L. Sherwood was elected president of the Northeast Building Association for the fifteenth consecutive term at the annual meeting of the association last night. All other officers were reelected as follows: John L. Knopp, first vice president; Henry C. Althoff, second vice president; Schuyler S. Symons, secretary; Julian F. Belfield, assistant secretary; Frank M. Hatley, treasurer; James E. Payne, assistant treasurer, and William S. Torbert, counsel.

Directors reelected are L. L. Anderson, R. John Boehs, N. T. Chaconas, Allen E. Cowles, J. D. Donovan, W. J. Dow, A. L. Foster, Alfred Jeffery, J. A. Openshaw, John B. Bubino, James L. Sherwood, jr., Roy L. Swenson, N. J. Ward and Thomas P. Hickman. Officers of the association also serve on the board.

Widespread discussion as to whether chain stores actually undersell individually owned stores has led Prof. Malcolm D. Taylor, of the University of North Carolina, to conduct a survey in an effort to arrive at the truth.

The results of his study, published in the July number of the Harvard Business Review, shows that the prices of 60 well-known grocery items were more than 13 per cent cheaper in chain stores than in independent stores, 13.79 per cent to be precise.

The annual convention of the American Association of Personal Finance Companies will be held in this city September 24 to 26, the Mayflower Hotel being the official headquarters for the convention. W. Frank Persons, of this city, is executive vice president of the association, and Edgar F. Fowler, also of Washington, is secretary.

Curb Review

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—The more active curb stocks generally closed a point or so higher today, ending a session of narrow fluctuations. The relative lack of strength in the utility division was a feature of the day, for these issues have usually been leaders. Total sales were 512,700 shares.

American Gas & Electric closed up 4 points, but the more active utilities failed to make headway. Electric Bond & Share was off ⅜ at the finish, having sagged a full point earlier. Some of the gas stocks were firmer. Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line, Lone Star and American Utilities and General closed up a point or so.

Cities Service, which is primarily an oil, but also an important electric power and national gas stock, closed up ¾, giving a rather better account of itself than it has of late. Gulf Oil gained more than 2, but the petroleum group generally failed to make much response to the new agreement of Texan producers to cut production.

A few of the industrial specialties were in good demand. Great Lakes Dredging new rose about 4 points on announcement of the $1 annual dividend basis. Ford, Ltd., was a strong spot, rising more than 2 points. Among the comparatively inactive issues, Aluminum Co. rose 8 and Royal Typewriter nearly 10. Fox Theaters A was in fair demand, along with Fox Film on the big board.

In the investing holding and investment trust company shares, Goldman Sachs rallied more than 2 points, and Shenandoah gained a point. Transamerica closed fractionally higher. United Founders again lost a fraction. General Capital gained 5 points in a few sales.

Maryland Cucumber Crop Hurt by Prevailing Dry Weather.

The cucumber crop around Salisbury, Md., is showing the effect of prevailing dry weather, and shippers are expecting an early end of the season, according to reports yesterday from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Shipments on cucumbers are reported to be moderately heavy and prices nearly unchanged for stock of good quality. A large proportion of the output was reported to be below the best market grade because of the continued dry weather. Average returns to growers were reported to be nearly $1[?] a bushel.

Crop conditions were reported to be generally favorable in the States along the North Atlantic Coast, but dry weather is handicapping crops in the South and West, the report said. The potato season is expected to be similar to that of 1927, a period of moderate production and prices. Midseason onion shipments are increasing with daily totals of 100 to 150 cars. The sweet potato crop is showing a poor yield. Northern and Western tomato acreage in thirteen States shows an increase of one-sixth above last season and one-fifth more than the five-year average.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

PROPERTY ACQUIRED FOR LEE BOULEVARD

Two Short Strips Only Lacking in Right of Way for Arlington Road.

LEGION HOLDS CARNIVAL

ARLINGTON COUNTY, BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Dr. Samuel M. Johnson, president of the National Boulevard Association and active in the movement started more than four years ago to acquire rights of way for the 200-foot Lee boulevard across Arlington County from the Memorial Bridge, declared yesterday that there remains but about 400 feet of right of way between Fort Myer and the Glebe road and 1,400 feet across a farm near Fort Buffalo to be acquired prior to the State highway department asking bids for the highway's construction to Fort Buffalo. The State, it is understood, will start the boulevard with a 40-foot hard-surfaced roadway.

Dr. Johnson stated further that he has been able to acquire by direct purchase all of the land needed for right of way with the exception of property owned by five persons. This property, he states, will have to be acquired by condemnation proceedings.

With the progress now being made in securing deeds to property for right of way, which are being delivered to the State, Dr. Johnson says he feels confident that the State highway department will be in a position to ask for bids within 30 days.

The fifth annual carnival of Arlington Post, No. 139, American Legion, now in progress in the park grounds opposite the Clarendon Firemen's Hall, has been attracting large crowds. Many new attractions have been added but the dancing from 9 to 12 still is the leading feature each night.

There will be a special meeting tonight of "The Ball-for-Congress Club" in the Ballston Firehouse at 8 o'clock. According to Chairman J. Thomas Crack, the meeting has been called to perfect plans for getting out the vote of the day of the primary, Tuesday, August 5.

The Arlington County Monarch Club, at its meeting held yesterday, completed its plans for the baseball game to be played with the team from the Arlington Rotary Club the afternoon of July 24. The game will be played on the athletic field at the Washington-Lee High School, starting at 3 o'clock.

Much interest is being shown among members of both clubs and indications are that it will be one of the events of the year in Arlington County.

The Arlington County Creative Arts Club held its monthly meeting last night at the home of the president, Mrs. Dudley Harrison, Kirkwood road, Clarendon. Mrs. Harrison was assisted by her daughter, Miss Virginia Harrison. Among the new guests of the club were Mrs. Fielding Lewis, of Lyon Village, and her niece, Miss Alba Lewis, a teacher of expression at Gunston Hall, Va.

Concluding the reading of the minutes the president announced the following committee appointments: Executive committee, Mrs. Sade Catherine Coles, Mrs. Christine Ellis and Mrs. Clare Tisdale; membership, Mrs. Nat Hines, Mrs. William W. Wells and Mrs. Lamira Purdy; program, Mrs. Sade Catherine Coles, Mrs. Charles Harris and Mrs. Mary P. Snyder.

Mrs. Coles, chairman of the program committee, outlined her work to be presented in the near future, her subjects to be developed by different members. They are "Chinese Art and Its Influence on Modern Clothing," "Influence of Old Southern Melodies on Modern Composition," "Ancestral Homes in the Old Dominion" and "Ancient and Modern Poetry."

Concluding the business meeting an interesting program followed which included a humerous selection from Dicken's "Pickwick Papers," by Miss Alba Lewis; Mrs. J. A. McKnight read an original dialect sketch, "The Stuff Presidents Are Made Of," and a reading by Mrs. William W. Wells, entitled, "Pledge," by Edward J. Irvine.

It was voted that the club will, for it's August meeting, take a boat ride down the Potomac River.

Plans also were discussed for the holding of a progressive luncheon early in October.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department at its meeting held last night at the home of Mrs. J. E. Bamforth, completed its plans for its participation in the annual carnival to be given by the fire department the week of August 2.

Mrs. Margaret S. Tapp, president, was elected general chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements. Other committee chairmen are Mrs. J. E. Bamforth, cake booth; Mrs. Elinor Scheffel, lunch booth, assisted by Mrs. Emma S. Blackmer; Mrs. Marie Scheffel, grab bag booth, and Mrs. Margaret S. Tapp, popularity contest.

The Arlington County Zoning Appeal Board held its monthly meeting at the courthouse last night, finding nothing to come before it for its consideration, Chairman J. Hammond Brewer, jr., announced that the board will hold future meetings subject to the call of the chairman.

MIMIC WAR JUDGES TO STATE FINDINGS

Major and Colonel Today Will Voice Criticism of C. M. T. C. Activity.

INVADERS ARE REPELLED

A criticism of the mimic warfare that has been taking place at the Citizens Military Training Camp at Camp George G. Meade will be given today by Maj. Gen. Fred F. Sladen, commander of the Third Corps Area, and Col. A. S. Conklin, senior director of the "war." Officers of the Army War College have acted as judges in the war and will turn their findings over to the two officers.

Reports last night from the 30-mile battle front of the mimic war showed that the blue defending forces are shattering the invasion of the reds. The invaders have been centering their attack on Washington, Baltimore and the Pittsburgh industrial area. Those taking part in the war game include officers and men of the Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and District of Columbia reserve and National Guard units.

At Fort Myer, Va., the 300 C. M. T. C. cavalry students are making plans for a three-day program next week. On Monday, the third annual parents' day track and field meet will be held on the Polo Field. Approximately 100 medals and trophies will be distributed.

On Tuesday, the student cavalry squadron will present dismounted drill before the combined civic clubs of Washington. On Wednesday the 300 cavalry students will be reviewed by Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State. Secretary Stimson, a brigadier general in the field artillery reserve, will ride one of the crack chargers of the Third Cavalry, and will set a precedent, since it will be the first time in the history of the C. M. T. C. movement that a Cabinet officer has received a review while mounted.

Winchester Fair Buildings Burn

Firemen Are Hampered by Low Water Supply and Black Snake.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., July 17.—Buildings of the Shenandoah Valley Agricultural Society were seriously menaced on the Winchester Fair Grounds today by a fire which destroyed a long row of one-story horse stables and cattle pens, a livestock barn and another barn on the premises of John Harmer, nearby. Harmer's garage, two automobiles and smaller outbuildings also were leveled, and a double dwelling was damaged.

Firemen with half a dozen streams of water soon pumped a four-inch main dry and operations were at a standstill until city station pumps were keyed up to full speed. Meanwhile, the flames spread rapidly among the frame buildings and were encroaching on larger structures on the fair grounds when a fresh and more powerful supply of water was shot through the pipes.

The fire was fought under other difficulties. When a stable door was opened by hosemen a burst of flames sent them scattering for the moment. Entering another stable they were attacked by a large hissing blacksnake which coiled itself around a link of hose, and had to be clubbed off and killed. Samuel L. Larew, jr., had an ankle broken as he fell while jumping off a fire truck to make a plug connection. The loss was estimated at $10,000, partly insured. Fair officials said the fire would not interrupt arrangements for the annual fair August 26-29.

MIXED HERD LEADS IN FAIRFAX COUNTY

SCHOOL BIDS UP TODAY

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The report of the Fairfax County Dairy Herd Improvement Association, No. 2, for last month shows that 964 cows were tested. Of this number 84 were dry, 99 produced 40 or more pounds of butter fat, 35 produced 50 or more pounds of fat, and 14 were sold to the butcher.

The total production of the association was 608,876 pounds of milk and 24,519.06 pounds of butter fat, which makes an average production of 632.06 pounds of fat. Due to adverse weather conditions, fewer fresh cows and a short crop of hay, the production of the association is much less than it was for the same period last year.

The high herd honor was won by a mixed herd of 34 cows belonging to Jenkins & Wilson. This herd produced an average of 864 pounds of milk and 36.83 pounds of butter fat. A cow of this herd also won the highest individual record of the association with 1,229 pounds of milk and 70 pounds of butter fat. Seven other cows of this herd were listed as honor roll cows. This herd has made an exceptional showing during its first year by producing 9,182.2 pounds of milk and 363.87 pounds of butter fat per cow. One of these cows produced 12,282 pounds of milk and 519.1 pounds of butter fat, with a net profit above feed cost to the owner of $343.38.

The second highest herd average was made by a herd owned by C. T. Rice, of Oakton. The herd averaged 935.9 pounds of milk and 35.69 pounds of butter fat.

Standard Oil Wins Permit for Station

Charlottesville Forced to Allow Operation of Filling Plant.

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., July 17.—A permanent restraining order enjoining the City of Charlottesville from interfering with the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey in the building and operation of a filling station at Ninth and High streets, that city, was entered today in the Federal District Court here by Judge Henry C. McDowell.

The final decree, which grants the injunction was the result of the mandate and opinion of the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals, which reversed the district court here, Judge McDowell originally having denied the injunction. Records of the case show that the Standard Oil Co. purchased property at Ninth and High streets, Charlottesville, with provision that it could secure a permit for the station. The permit was granted by the city council. Complaint was made by citizens, and the council rescinded the permit after the company was about ready to equip the station.

The oil company recovered its costs in the proceeding against the City of Charlottesville.

FAIRFAX JAIL-BREAK BALKED BY SHERIFF

Sees Brick Fall From Wall Just in Time to Thwart Prisoner's Plan.

NOISE CONCEALED WORK

Leonard Frye, 20 years old, of Groveton, Va., is still in the Fairfax County Jail only because Sheriff Eppa P. Kirby has keen ears, and was suspicious when he heard his prisoners being unduly boisterous last night.

When the county officer heard sounds of revelry coming from the jail, he investigated. He wondered what might be about the jail, and went to the door to look out. So doing, he heard a brick fall and saw mortar fly from the outside of the wall. Carrying his investigation to the inside, he discovered that Frye had removed nearly enough bricks to permit escape. Five minutes more, said the sheriff, and an indeterminate number of prisoners would have fled. The break is near the spot where four prisoners escaped last month.

Frye was being held for the grand jury on a charge of housebreaking. It was said he had confessed to breaking into a filling station on the Richmond-Washington road four times in the last two years. It was also said he had just finished a term in the Alexandria Jail.

ALEXANDRIA STARTS EMPLOYMENT STUDY

Chamber of Commerce Mails 1,000 Questionnaires to Business Firms.

SEEK WORKERS' CENSUS

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 623.

Questionnaires were mailed yesterday by the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce to approximately 1,000 business firms throughout the city, seeking to learn the exact number of employes in every business in Alexandria. Dan S. Hollenga, business manager of the commerce chamber, said that with this information at hand he will be aided in "selling" Alexandria to outsiders.

In addition to data on the number and classes of employes, Mr. Hollenga also asks the amount of the total annual pay rolls, and the number of male and female employes, respectively. Information is particularly desired as to the number of factory workers, male and female, skilled and unskilled; janitors and other common labor, both white and colored, and the number of bookkeepers, clerks, stenographers and general office clerks, as well as any other classifications not specifically named.

In the letter, Mr. Hollenga asks that the questionnaire be filled out to enable him intelligently to answer questions about Alexandria, and to present properly the advantages of the city to prospective industries which might be induced to locate here.

Mr. Hollenga assumed the duties of business manager of the reorganized Chamber of Commerce July 1, and has his office in the George Mason Hotel, adjoining the office of the secretary of the chamber. He is now engaged in preliminary work looking to the advancement of the business interests of the city, and has already inaugurated plans which the directors of the trade body believe will bring results.

The work of remodeling the store building on the north side of King street, between Royal and Pitt streets, for use as a temporary postoffice during the construction of the new Federal Building here, is being rapidly pushed, and it is expected the building will be ready for occupancy next week. In addition to the local postoffice, the building will also house the offices of J. Sid Wiley, deputy collector of internal revenue, and James R. Mansfield, collector of customs. The postal offices will be located on the first and second floors, the second floor to be used for the carriers to sort their mail.

WASHINGTON MAN DENIED ANNULMENT

Aubrey E. Fry Says He Is Not Father of Child Born Since Marriage.

ADVANCES DURESS PLEA

Aubrey E. Fry, of Second street near A street northwest, was denied an annulment of his marriage to Lydia Millstead, of New Hampshire avenue, near Park road northwest, by a judge in the Cumberland, Md., Circuit Court yesterday. Fry claimed that he married the girl rather than undergo trial on charges of violating the Mann act. The couple was married at Clarendon, Va., on March 30, 1928, and one child has been born.

In his bill Fry denied the legitimacy of the child. The presiding magistrate, Judge Doub, found that there was contradictory evidence as to whether or not the couple had ever lived together.

Fry declared in his bill that he was introduced to Miss Millstead in November, 1927. At this time she lived on Irving street, near Fourteenth street northwest. One night they drove into Maryland in an automobile and later the girl made threats of prosecution, he said. After being arrested on the Federal charge he decided to marry her rather than stand trial and possible conviction.

The annulment was denied on the grounds that there was no show that he was constrained in any way. Judge Doub held that "where a man marries to escape arrest or imprisonment for abduction, he can not void the marriage on the grounds of duress."

The judge took the view that Fry's uncle and sister went with him when he was married, and that there is nothing in the testimony to show any fraud or misrepresentation, nor was there any "terror, abduction or duress."

Though Fry filed suit in Cumberland, and claimed to live there with his uncle, Lenwood Walker, his parents live in Washington, and he is said to spend much time with them. He is listed in the city directory as living here.
